DENEEN ARRAIGNS TREASON IN PARTY

Political Treachery Should Be Made Odious in Eyes of Nation, Declares the Governor.

HITS BROWNE ACTIVITY.

Assails Democrats for Minority Leader's Work in the Convention; Praises President Taft.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Treason in party politics suffered a severe arraignment at the hands of Gov. Charles S. Deneen tonight, when the state campaign was opened at a Republican massmeeting.

"Treason in the party should be made odious today in the eyes of the people of the nation," said the governor. "There is no doubt the decent people of the state have expressed and will continue to express their disgust with the last Illinois legislature. No state ever has been disgraced as ours has by that legislature. Never before in history did any state have a legislative body to which as much deserved stigma was attached as has been attached to ours.

"Party loyalty must be conserved in just the fashion that national resources should be conserved. The primary law should be swept off the face of the earth if it tends to disrupt and break up the party. The men you send to the legislature must be loyal to your party as a whole. There must be no repetition of conditions such as made the last legislature a stench in the nostrils of the entire state and drew unenviable attention from all over the nation.

Must Be Greater Publicity.

"The future of the Republican party in this state must see more and more caucuses and greater publicity with reference to the deliberations of the public servants you seek to elect. Nobody ever has learned the motive that prompted the organization of the bipartisan crowd that made the last legislature a thing of which we all were ashamed.

"The Republicans who entered that alliance we have thrown over. If the party is to go forward to still greater achievement there must be no more bipartisan combines, no more bathroom conferences, and no more jackpotting."

Assails Browne Activity.

Gov. Deneen attacked the Democratic national and state organizations, the former for its stand on the tariff and the latter for its attitude regarding Lee O'Neil Browne at the East St. Louis convention. He devoted more than half of his speech to a review of the facts, which he traced back to the last Democratic tariff. He advocated the adoption of the entire state Republican platform and declared that it was drawn with the one object of bringing the government closer to the people.

"It is unfortunate for the Democratic party in this state," said Gov. Deneen, referring to Browne, "that it was unable in its convention at East St. Louis to separate itself from the influences which had controlled its policies in the last general assembly.

"The people of this state witnessed with astonishment the activities of the minority leader of the last general assembly in the proceedings of that convention and were surprised at the influence he exercised in the shaping of the platform defining its party faith and outlining its party program.

Helped Draft the Platform.

"He was not only a member of the committee on resolutions but was one of the three members of the subcommittee which drafted its platform. The platform itself is such as could be expected in a platform framed under such circumstances. A party which in a great state convention could not muster sufficient courage to shake off such influences hardly could be expected to do better in the general assembly.

"This election is unusually important because of the unusual political conditions in this state. These conditions grew out of a bipartisan combination composed of sixty Democrats and twenty-four Republicans, gathered together and held together by means and methods which were not announced at the time of its organization and which have not been fully revealed since. The Republican party has taken a strong stand against such an organization of the general assembly. It has defined its attitude upon this subject and has disavowed responsibility for the conduct of the twenty-four Republicans who entered the bipartisan coalition.

State Program Outlined.

"The Republican state program has for its object the bringing of government closer to the people and the affording to the individual voter of a greater power over legislation and administration. It favors the following:

"The amendment of our direct primary law and the enactment of a new one if this should fail.

"The identification of registered voters.

"Means to prevent fraudulent voting or frauds in recording or counting votes.

"An amendment to the constitution abolishing the system of minority representation to prevent the manipulation of votes in favor of undesirable candidates.

"The election of United States senators direct by the people.

"The passage of a corrupt practices act.

"The amendment of the rules of the general assembly so that measures may be considered upon their merits.

"The initiative and referendum."

Praises Work of Taft.

In his discussion of national issues, the governor said:

"The principal issue in this campaign is the tariff. The Republican platform of 1908 pledged the party to an unusual number of progressive measures and an unusual number of these have been put into force and effect in the first eighteen months of President Taft's administration.

"In this campaign the Democrats are seeking to divert public attention from their national platform of two years ago and from the splendid record of work accomplished by the Taft administration during the first eighteen months of its service and to center attention upon a few schedules of a tariff measure involving many schedules and many thousands of articles."

Col. Ira C. Copley, Republican candidate for congress from the Eleventh congressional district, and Richard J. Barr, candidate for state senator from the Forty-first senatorial district, also spoke.

HOLDERS OBJECT TO BANK'S PAPER

Say They Cannot Cash Cosmopolitan's Certificates of Deposit, Even at a Heavy Discount.

TRADED FOR MOTOR CARS.

They Also Were Given in Realty Transactions by Nels T. Arvidson and L. M. Erb.

Sudden appearance in the last few months of a large number of certificates of deposit on the Cosmopolitan Bank of Chicago, 155 East Washington street, and the inability of holders of the paper to realize on it yesterday started an inquiry by several Chicagoans.

While officers of the Cosmopolitan, which is a private concern, unincorporated, operated by Milo F. Lewis and St. Lawrence Chandler, declared that the certificates were perfectly good and would be honored when they became due, other banks refused to accept the deposit certificates even as collateral, and attorneys were sought for advice by several holders of the paper.

It developed that the majority of the certificates were obtained in real estate transactions, in the purchase of automobiles, and in one instance in the purchase of works of art. Nels T. Arvidson, in whose favor a number of the certificates are made out, has placed several of them in circulation in real estate deals. L. M. Erb, who, like Arvidson, has been in the insurance business, also has used the certificates in the purchase of property.

Bankers Reject Them.

Despite the assurances of Messrs. Lewis and Chandler that the certificates will be redeemed with 4 per cent interest when they are due, which in most cases is Jan. 1 or July 1, 1911, the bankers have refused to cash the certificates even on a liberal discount basis. The certificates are made out for sums varying from $500 to $5,000.

Elmer J. Jordan of the real estate firm of Jordan & Son, 1704 West Sixty-third street, yesterday told of his experience with one of the certificates which is a parallel to others which have come to the attention of many Chicago bankers and attorneys in the last few weeks.

"I had an automobile to sell—a little runabout—and I advertised it for sale for $400," he said. "Thom Sherman, a Greek who owns a poolroom at Fifty-first street and Cottage Grove avenue and a grocery store at Fifty-first and Indiana avenue, came to me and said he had a purchaser for $500. I told him he could have $100 for making the sale. He took me to L. M. Erb. Erb said he would give me $300, and presented a certificate of deposit for that amount on the Cosmopolitan bank. I took it, supposing it was O. K., and gave Sherman $50 in cash and my note for $30 as his commission.

Refuse to Cash It.

"The deposit certificate showed that Charles Smith had $500 to his credit in the bank, and it was indorsed properly by Charles Smith on the back. I left the certificate in a safety deposit box for two weeks and then several weeks ago I wanted to realize on it. I went down to the Cosmopolitan bank and asked to open an account and to have the certificate deposited to my credit. The officers, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Chandler, refused, saying the certificate would be honored only when it became due, July 1, 1911.

"I had several talks with them. They refused to discount the certificate or make good on it in any way now and I was even told that it was a matter for them to determine whether or not I should ever be paid anything for the paper, as it was not negotiable and that it plainly said that the certificate was payable to Charles Smith himself. They said one time that Smith had protested against the payment of this certificate. I asked to see his letter of protest and was refused permission. They would not tell me even where Smith lived or who he is. I can't find Erb now either.

Serves Notice of Suit.

"My attorney has served notice on the bank that I will sue for the amount of the certificate, and I have placed it in his hands. I have been to several bankers, and they will not buy the certificate at any price. One banker told me seven persons had been in to see him with Cosmopolitan certificates."

Another man whose certificate deal has come to the attention of several banks is P. Economeu, a Greek who traded a restaurant at 1123 East Sixty-third street for a certificate. Erb and a man named Smith also appeared in this transaction. The place was sold to Smith by the Greek, and Smith then transferred the place to Erb. Economeu went to the bank to discount the certificate and could make no negotiations for its sale.

Used in Realty Transaction.

A deal whereby Arvidson disposed of $6,500 worth of the certificates in a single real estate transaction was described by Attorney D. M. Healy of the law firm of Caswell & Healy. Leon Tyblewski, a merchant client of the lawyer, still holds $3,500 worth of the whole amount paid him by Arvidson, and the remaining $3,000 worth of certificates have been offered for $500 by the second purchaser, without finding a taker.

"Mr. Tyblewski got the $6,500 in certificates for Peoria real estate," the attorney said. "My client had a store in Blue Island avenue, which he sold to W. B. McConnell, a mine promoter. The stock was taken to the Englewood Fair store, also owned by Mr. McConnell. Payments were not made regularly and a deal went through whereby my client took back his old stock and the rest of the store owned by McConnell. For the balance of the stock Mr. Tyblewski paid $3,000 with Cosmopolitan certificates.

"McConnell is in financial difficulties and an application has been made to place his business in the hands of a receiver. The case was up before Master in Chancery Browning today. It was shown that McConnell still has the three $1,100 certificates and cannot realize $500 on them. All the man needs to save himself from a receiver is $550."

Gets It for Nothing.

J. H. Goss is one man who possesses a $5,000 certificate which has cost him nothing. He got it on the last Saturday in August from Arvidson on a tentative sale of a warehouse at Sixty-third street and Monroe avenue.

A JOKE ON THE OLD GENTLEMAN.

"Uncle has quite a bad case of Teddyphobia. We'll play a little joke on him with this old newspaper."

"By the way, Uncle, I see by this paper that Roosevelt refuses to allow his name to go before the Presidential convention."

"Don't you believe it for a minute! He may say he won't run, but you mark my words—

"At the last minute he'll decide to accept the nomination in spite of his promise not to run. He can't fool me!"

"Why, I'd bet a million dollars to a cent that he runs!"

"You lose, Uncle. He didn't run."

SEIZE JEWELRY OF MRS. STEELE

New York Customs Officers Take Suspected Property from Chicago Woman.

WILL NOT PROSECUTE.

Mrs. Samuel B. Steele, wife of the president of the wholesale grocery firm of Steele-Wedeles company, lost several pieces of jewelry in New York yesterday when they were seized by customs officials.

Mrs. Steele, who arrived on the North German Lloyd liner George Washington, was forced, according to New York dispatches, to surrender about $2,000 worth of jewelry to Uncle Sam. She was traveling alone and brought several trunks containing dutiable gowns which she declared. She answered the questions of Acting Deputy Surveyor Peter J. Simmons in such a way as to make him suspect, and two inspectresses searched her. They found a large diamond studded barrette, a silver mesh bag with a diamond monogram, a gold coin purse, and a diamond bracelet.

Jewels Hidden for Safekeeping.

Mrs. Steele was sent over to the custom house to explain. She said she had concealed the jewelry about her for safe keeping. She asserted she had bought the diamond bracelet in Paris, at Tiffany's, several years ago, and believed duty had been paid on it once. She said the coin purse had been given to her by a friend in Paris, and she supposed gifts were not dutiable. Mrs. Steele admitted buying the barrette and the silver mesh bag with the diamond monogram in Paris this season.

The surveyor thought the articles should be seized, and they were. Mrs. Steele may get them back by paying the home value, which is the price she paid for them abroad with the duty added.

The authorities, however, announced there would be no prosecution and that the government would be content with the seizure.

Mr. Steele Is Unadvised.

Mr. Steele, at his residence, 3839 Michigan avenue, last night, could throw no light on the matter.

"I haven't heard one word from Mrs. Steele about the trouble," he said. "She left for Europe a short time ago to take her annual tour. She had only a small letter of credit, and drew only a part of that. She could not have possibly made any substantial purchase. If she did buy anything dutiable it will turn out to have cost a small sum. If she did not pay duty on any such article, I shall be among the first to insist that the government be protected. I think my views on matters of this kind are well known in this community, for my reputation will speak for itself."

Six Policemen Guard Pneumonia Patient's House from Passing Autos, Wagons, and Motorcycles.

Six policemen from the town hall station have been constantly on hand in shifts of eight hours each for three weeks to prevent automobiles, wagons, and motorcycles from passing in front of the residence of Mr. Frank Carpenter Ward, 666 Roscoe street. Mr. Ward yesterday showed signs of recovery from a critical case of pneumonia.

MUSICIAN REMARRIES WIFE HE WED THIRTY YEARS AGO.

Chicago Professor Surprises Friends by Mending Domestic Break That Separated Him from Mother of Children.

Prof. Thomas Moore, a Chicago music teacher, remarried in St. Louis yesterday Mrs. Lillie Murphy Moore, whom he first wedded thirty years ago. She is mother of his five children. They were divorced in Chicago in 1904. They left St. Louis at noon for a honeymoon tour of the east.

The music teacher surprised his friends in Chicago. He has been living for four years at the residence of Mrs. Mary Stringer, 3039 West Congress street, but no one there had heard of the wedding before told by a reporter.

In the early '80s, Prof. Moore, then a young musician of promise, won the love of Miss Murphy, daughter of a wealthy wagon manufacturer. They separated in the early '90s and Moore came to Chicago, where he has since resided. His wife continued to live in St. Louis.

It is said correspondence preceded the remarriage. The Rev. Father Henry C. Brongest, S. J., pastor of St. Francis Xaviers church, performed the ceremony.

DEMOCRATS CHAMPION WOMEN; PLEDGED TO ERASE WORD 'MAN'

Fifteenth Ward Partisans' Meeting Adopts Resolution and Candidate Promises to Make Her Election Judge

Bold play for the "female vote" was made last night by Democrats of the Fifteenth ward. The party ward club met at headquarters, 1218 West Division street. County Committeeman John P. Tansey was the champion of a larger sphere of activity for women.

He offered a resolution asserting that women should be eligible as judges and clerks of election. He pointed out that this could be accomplished by eliminating from the general election law the word "men" in the requirement that "they must be men of good understanding and capable." Many of the evils now attendant on elections and primaries, said Mr. Tansey, would be banished if the influence of the "gentler sex" were introduced officially into the polling places.

Chairman Joseph Strauss, Democratic nominee for the legislature, who was presiding, also advocated the resolution, which passed with a whoop of "ayes" and only scattering "nays."

MAYOR FURNISHES STAR KISS THAT SHE ON STAGE SANG FOR.

McCaskrin of Rock Island, Ill., Plays Leading Role at Burlesque and Three Thousand Cheer Him.

Moline, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—George W. McCaskrin, mayor of Rock Island, Ill., played the leading rôle at the Moline theater at the performance of "The Gay Morning Glories," a burlesque troupe, when he rose on invitation and kissed the star, Miss Mabel Mallumn, twice, before an audience of 3,000.

Miss Mallumn, while singing "Has Anybody Got a Kiss to Spare?" walked in the direction of the box in which McCaskrin was seated.

"Sure, right here," sang out his honor as he stood up and leaned out of the box.

The audience went wild and shouts of "You're alive!" and "Smack her again, Mack!" were heard throughout the house.

CITY BOY'S WAY IS A ROCKY ONE

At Least This Is What a Chicago University Professor Tells Audience.

'HE'S NOT BAD AT HEART.'

The city boy is up against a hard proposition, according to Prof. Allan Hoben of the University of Chicago, who lectured on "The Modern City and the Normal Boy" at the Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian church last night.

The lecture was the second of a series which Prof. Hoben is giving at the Fullerton avenue church on "The Boy Problem." The lectures are under the auspices of the University Lecture association, which is in coöperation with the University of Chicago.

In the city Johnny has no opportunity to carry in coal and wood, and so to take an active interest in the home, according to the speaker. He is forced into the streets where he becomes precocious and "smart," which is "the most unfortunate thing that can happen to any boy."

"Boy Livest Thing We Have."

"The boy is the livest thing we have," said Prof. Hoben. "The city is particularly mean to him, and drives him to various misdemeanors which are due to his environment, and not to his nature.

"The city resident has no real neighbors. The lack of them is the greatest loss he has. We have the moving mania and we like to move if we are going to a place where the only difference is in the combination couch in the parlor.

"It makes home less permanent. There is no old homestead with its steadying influences. And there are no neighbors, because it isn't worth the trouble of getting acquainted.

Not Like Days in Country.

"When we were boys in the country we could raid a neighbor's melon patch or apple tree without getting into the police courts, but it is different with the boy in the city. Every one is an aggrieved party against Johnny.

"The people upstairs scold and rave when Johnny disturbs an afternoon nap, and so he picks up companions in the next block."

Prof. Hoben spoke of the necessity for social substitutes where the natural rights of boys had been destroyed by urban civilization.

He mentioned the work of the social settlement, of the Young Men's Christian association, of the public school as a social center, and the contribution of the institutional church. He urged the adoption of organized play and physical training in the schools.

'LITERARY THIEF' UP 21 YEARS.

New York Burglar Who Left Notes in His Wake After Robberies Sentenced to Sing Sing.

New York, Oct. 10.—George Wright, "the literary burglar," was sentenced today to twenty-one years in Sing Sing. At nearly every house he robbed Wright left a note, commending the owners for the quality of the silver and jewelry he had taken, or abusing them when the plated ware he discovered was not worth carrying away.

UNIFIED TRACTION ASSURED; COUNCIL PASSES NEW ACT

Aldermen, by Vote of 44 to 19, Indorse Consolidated Company Ordinance.

IT'S FOES PUT TO ROUT.

Cullerton Leads Fight of Old Guard on Arnold's Estimates; Rehabilitation at Once.

OLD YERKES MUDDLE CLEARED.

Unified, efficient traction service for all of Chicago within a few months was assured by city council action last evening.

After two hours of desultory attacks from a few aldermen the Consolidated Traction ordinance was passed by a vote of 44 to 19, clearing the way for the absorption of the old Yerkes lines by the Chicago Railways company and the immediate rehabilitation of their equipment from tracks to power stations. This will mean long needed relief for the north and west sides of the city.

With the moderization of the Railways company the City Railway company, and the Calumet and South Chicago company, these relics of an ancient system were the only completely inefficient street car lines in the city.

Bringing the lines up to better standards will begin at once, and as much of it as is feasible will be done this fall.

All Predict Speedy Work.

"I know that the companies are ready to go ahead as fast as they can get the materials," said Walter L. Fisher, special traction counsel, after the ordinance had passed, "and the rehabilitation will be hurried by the supervising board as speedily as possible."

"The service will be improved at once," said Ald. Foreman, "and the whole city will have a modern, standardized street car system, second to none in the world, in a short time. My only regret is that the ordinance was not passed earlier. It should have been passed a month ago. Two hundred and fifteen new cars will be purchased at once, and as much of the first thirty miles of new track as can be put down during what's left of the construction weather will be laid."

"We are ready to go ahead at once," said Chief Engineer Arnold of the supervising board, "and our equipment and experience fits us to go ahead much more rapidly than when we started with the two big companies."

Effort to Block Action.

In spite of the benefits of the measure and the almost unanimous demand for its passage an effort to block action upon it was perpetrated in much the same manner as the Kensington and Eastern ordinance was assailed last year.

Although the final roll call showed the vote 44 to 19, not so many aldermen as the figures might seem to indicate participated actively in the display of obstructionist tactics. There were some amendments passed which received the approval of the entire council, but the general assault was led by Ald. E. F. Cullerton, Ald. Michael McInerny, Ald. Joseph T. Mahoney, and Ald. Dennis J. Egan.

Vote on the Ordinance.

The first actual test of the strength of the opposition came on a motion from Ald. Milton J. Foreman, chairman of the committee on local transportation and champion of the ordinance, to table a motion by McInerny that action by deferred one week. It was tabled by a vote of 45 to 18. Cullerton Opens Battle.

The fight was started before the ordinance was called up for passage by Ald. Foreman. Ald. Cullerton started it by presenting an order directing the transportation committee to have a revaluation of the consolidated properties made by R. W. Hunt & Co. or some other engineering firm.

The prologue set up that the valuations made by Bion J. Arnold and George Weston "appear to be greatly in excess of the true valuation of the property," and, deferring remarks until the ordinance came up in the regular way, he then attacked Chief Engineer Arnold with extreme bitterness.

He confined himself to that subject, and there was little brought out during the battle in the form of concrete allegations that the valuations were too high on specific pieces of property or articles of equipment.

Aims Fire at Arnold.

Cullerton's opening remarks followed up the charge made at a public hearing of the transportation committee last Friday that

Arnold's valuation of the property of the Detroit United railway company was cut in two by a committee appointed by the mayor of that city. He read some sentences from a technical journal in support of his assertion in his effort to show that Arnold in stating that he was not in the employment of the railway company when he made his valuations told an untruth.

"Now who's right, Mr. Arnold or Mr. Cullerton?" he demanded, and his speech was full of such expressions as "Who's wiggling now, Mr. Arnold?" in reference to Arnold's that he would "pin him down so he couldn't wiggle."

"Who's telling the truth?" he demanded. "Mr. Arnold, the Supreme court of the state of Wisconsin made you out an infamous liar in the case of Haynes and Claussen. He alone was running three corporations up there, and the Supreme court in reversing the decision of the lower court said that when he met with himself the three corporations were meeting.

"The worst bunko steerer in town plans nothing worse than he did when he tried to defraud those people of $46,670. The court decision showed that he is not a man to be trusted in a position such as he occupies here.

"It is not fit that we should rush this through tonight, for as you see, Mr. Arnold, in rooting around to find a cloak with which to hide yourself you have unmasked yourself."

Foreman Defends Arnold.

Chairman Foreman replied to him with a statement that Mr. Arnold needed no defense, and told briefly his history in Chicago traction matters and his connections as consulting engineer with New York, Pittsburg, and other cities.

"So far as Mr. Arnold's being paid by the company here," he said, referring to one of the points made by Cullerton, "that was done with the understanding that the city should pick the valuators. The company wanted one of its own men, Mr. Blanchard, on the commission, and that the committee refused to permit.

"It is not a question whether Mr. Arnold lost a lawsuit in Wisconsin. It is a question whether this valuation is fair, just, and equitable. That's all there is to it. This is the fairest ordinance the city council ever has had before it. For the first time the city has an opportunity to adopt the right principle of excluding all franchise values.

No Valuation Fixed.

"There is no valuation fixed by the ordinance. It simply says that in no event can the valuation, after all this property has been gone over and sorted out, exceed $4,000,000. Nearly $1,000,000 has been put into this property during 1908 and 1909. The original cost of construction alone—and without any consideration of the stocks or bonds issued—was $6,000,000. That amount of actual cash went into building these lines when they were first opened. In reality the company is getting only $3,000,000 for 128 miles of lines with all their equipment for operation. Is that excessive?"

He then pointed out the amounts allowed in the valuations of other companies in Chicago.

"But it is primarily a question of transportation," he resumed. "Ask the man who rides on the dinky little cross town cars of the Consolidated what he thinks of further delay. Ask him if we would be justified in further haggling for a small reduction.

"Through the existence of the ordinances of 1907 the city is given a bargain in this matter, and the people are entitled to immediate action upon it. Any further efforts to bring about delay should be frowned upon."

Shift in Battle Lines.

The battle lines changed when Ald. Donahoe submitted an amendment striking out a provision that the receivers of the Railways company may accept the ordinance for the corporation.

"This is fundamentally wrong," he declared. "It tends to destroy local self-government, for it means that the United States court will be running our street car lines."

The amendment was about to be passed without a roll call, but requests from Ald. Thomson, Merriam, Long, Emerson, and Danisch to be recorded in the negative led to a reconsideration. The argument against the amendment was that the receivership provision was necessary and an added safeguard for the city.

Ald. Clark voiced a demand from the residents of the Thirty-fifth ward for the passage of the ordinance and this provided a pretext for Ald. McInerny to suggest a delay of one week. He urged that the present conditions have existed for several years, that no construction work can be done before winter, and that a delay would cost the city nothing. He then put his suggestion in the form of a motion, with a provision that the law department be asked for an opinion on the receivership provision.

Demand Immediate Action.

Ald. Thomson and Dunn of the Twenty-fifth ward, which contains some of the most important Consolidated lines, protested.

"The people of the north side are crying to heaven for relief," declared Thomson, "not only for street car service but for paving and street improvements, all of which have been prevented along the Consolidated lines because of the lack of rehabilitation. This ordinance was drafted by exceedingly able legal hands, and I am sure if it passes as it is before us now there will be no legal complications. The necessity for the receivership will disappear and it will cease.

"While it may be true that the corporation might accept the ordinance as an entity, yet the corporation is in the hands of receivers, and I am not so sure it could go ahead and rehabilitate even if it accepted the ordinance. This receivership, incident upon litigation on Consolidated bonds, will be removed soon after the ordinance is accepted. I think it would weaken the ordinance to put it in. We want them to begin rehabilitation at once as well as to accept."

Ald. Dunn explained that this section had been discussed thoroughly with Walter L. Fisher, special traction counsel, and Howard W. Hayes, assistant corporation counsel, who drafted the ordinance so that no opinion from the law department was necessary. Chairman Foreman moved to table McInerny's motion and this was done by a vote of 45 to 18.

Ald. Mahoney entered the ring with a declaration that when he was identified with the street car employés' union, Attorney Fisher told him that they could not strike against the Consolidated, as it would be in contempt of the United States courts. He said that 16,000 street car men would watch how their aldermen voted on the measure.

Ald. Foreman then asked the tabling of Ald. Donahoe's amendment and that action was taken, the vote standing 43 to 20. He moved the passage of the ordinance, but before the motion could be put Ald. Egan, who had been reserving his fire until the last, obtained the floor. He began by stating that as a member of the local transportation committee he had no recollection of that committee's selection of Arnold and Weston as the valuation commission.

He Also Hits at Arnold.

"When we asked Mr. Arnold on Friday what the 5 per cent legal expenses was to be used for he wasn't able to tell us," was another of his points. "Perhaps there are other items he can't explain. They have put in a big item for paving and according to Mr. Arnold's own statements there are only a few of the cars that can be used for any length of time, while the figures show that the average price per car is about $1,165. I doubt if there is a car in the lot worth that much.

"They have put in the power plants at high prices and out at the California avenue station I found ten boilers that had been there for sixteen years. The life of a boiler, I am told, is only twenty years. The city boiler inspectors tell me that, but the depreciation on these is set down at only about 33 per cent.

"Just recently the committee on gas, oil, and electric light began looking into the figures prepared by some engineers and accountants on the telephone company, and when they found out that Young & Co. were being employed by the telephone company they held up their hands in horror. I don't see that Young & Co. are any worse than Arnold and Weston, and their bill for this valuation is to be paid by the company."

Wins Out on Final Lineup.

Ald. Foreman replied to Ald. Egan by reading from the minutes of the transportation committee a record showing that the selection of the valuators had been approved there; and he renewed his motion to pass the ordinance. The lineup that had backed the previous efforts to block it voted against it.

Among the amendments adopted before the passage were two of importance to the public. One was for a continuation of the exchange of transfers between the Oak Park elevated and the Fortieth avenue line, and the other was for the exchange of transfers between the Clybourn avenue, Center street, and Southport avenue lines. Others referred to extensions of existing lines to the city limits on Harrison, Sixteenth, and Twenty-second streets.

The largest gallery in the council room for a score of meetings greeted the passage of the ordinance with applause as the session adjourned.

It was composed of residents of the districts affected by the Consolidated lines, which are the last in the city to be taken into the range of modernized service.

Rules of Rehabilitation.

In the rehabilitation of the lines the general specifications of the Railways ordinance of 1907 will govern and the work will be done under the direction of the supervising board of engineers. Two hundred and fifteen cars must be acquired at once, and as much of thirty miles of track as is possible must be rebuilt this year. Of the old cars, 172 are allowed to remain in operation for periods up to two years.

Substations are to be constructed immediately and arrangements made for the necessary electrical power for transmission. Car house facilities are to be arranged also. The company is required to sweep and maintain the strip of street occupied by their tracks plus a foot on each side of the rails. The right of compelling twelve miles of extensions a year is distinctly set out as reserved, with the limitation that the extensions are not to be within half a mile of existing tracks.

Principal Streets Affected.

About 118 miles of street are covered by the ordinance, the principal ones being as follows:

Evanston avenue,	Devon avenue,
Clark street,	Lawrence avenue,
Montrose avenue,	North Robey street,
Lincoln avenue,	Milwaukee avenue,
Irving Park boulevard,	Elston avenue,
Belmont avenue,	Erie street,
Elm street,	Franklin street,
Kingsbury street,	Crosby street,
Clybourn place,	Fulton street,
Chicago avenue,	Grand avenue,
Fortieth avenue,	Forty-eighth avenue,
Ogden avenue,	Twenty-sixth street,
Twenty-sixth street,	Thirty-first street,
West Twelfth street,	West Madison street.
West Lake street,

The ordinance has been pending since Oct. 18, 1909, when a reorganization committee of security holders of the eight companies underlying the Consolidated asked the council that they be allowed to present a plan for reorganizing their properties.

"VETS" TELL OLD WAR STORIES.

Eight Survivors of "Ellsworth's Zouaves" Attend Banquet and Have Merry Time.

Eight gray haired veterans of the civil war, the remnant of an historic company of soldiers, met last night at the Wellington hotel to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the day that they enlisted in the federal army. They are the surviving members of "Ellsworth's Zouaves."

Following a banquet the veterans told stories and recalled incidents of the many campaigns through which they had been. "War time" songs were sung.

The commander of the zouaves during the war was Col. E. E. Ellsworth, the first officer killed. The names of the survivors are Col. H. D. Laflin, James A. Clybourn, George H. Fergus, Harrison Kelley, Ransone Kennicott, Frank E. Yates, Joseph C. Barclay, and James M. De Witt. Most of them live in Chicago.

BOND ISSUE WINS ONE STEP

Council Votes to Place Question on "Little Ballot."

AIMS AT THE UNDERTAKERS.

Citizen Asks License as Antidote for Unfair Profits.

Chicago's common council by a division of 50 to 13 last night passed to the city's voters at next month's elections the question of paying for the new city hall by issuing bonds for $3,500,000. The proposition will be printed on the "little ballot," and a majority of those voting thereon will decide.

There was no debate when Chairman Foell of the finance committee offered the favorable report and moved the passage of the ordinance. The $5,000,000 structure is practically completed. Under the statute enacted by the general assembly last year Chicago bond issues within certain limitations had been authorized, but with the added requirement that first they must be approved on a referendum at a general or special election. Should the popular majority next November be "no" then the construction bills for the city hall must be paid out of the corporate funds, which are said by city hall financiers to be insufficient in spite of the fact that City Treasurer Powell's last report showed he had on hand $16,000,000.

Those who voted against the bond issue were Ald. Dailey, Martin, Vavricek, Danisch, Brennan, Bauler, Haderlein, Twigg, McDermott, McInerney, Mahoney, Bergen, and Donahoe—all Democrats.

Would License Undertakers.

Exorbitant charges and profits by undertakers were noted in a communication from Walter Gundlach, 3748 Pine Grove avenue, as a reason why they should be licensed by the city and be compelled to conduct their business along reasonable lines. Mr. Gundlach presented his ideas in the form of a preamble to an ordinance, which provided for an annual fee of $100 for funeral directors.

"Unscrupulous undertakers," it was recited in one "whereas," have sold caskets, costing $40 to $50 at wholesale, for as high as $400, with proportionate charges for other services in connection with burials. Friends and relatives of decedents, he alleged, had been impoverished by the excessive charges. Moreover, he said that these tempting profits had brought into the business "irresponsible persons of no financial backing," whose incompetence "threatened a spread of contagious diseases."

The ordinance was referred to the license committee.

Warns House Owners.

House owners who have failed to observe the renumbering ordinance by placing the new numbers on their front doors or walls are to be checked up by the police with a view to prosecution. A resolution calling upon Chief Steward to collect the data was introduced by Ald. Hey and passed without opposition.

Through Mayor Busse there reached the council a letter from the United States engineering corps, warning the city that the time limit for removal of the Lake street bridge will expire Dec. 31 next. For each month thereafter, unless the bridge is taken out, the city will become liable to a $5,000 fine.

SAYS JUDGES SHOULD STAY IN POLITICS FOR PUBLIC GOOD

Cook County Candidates Hear Good Natured Criticisms of County Platform During Harmony Meeting.

Over 60 of the 85 Republican candidates for city, county, and state offices in Cook county joined in a love feast last night at the Hamilton club.

Judges Jesse Holdom, Lewis Rinaker, and John R. Newcomer commented on the plank in the county platform which deprecates the participation of judges in politics. Judge Charles S. Cutting disagreed with the platform.

"Politics, properly interpreted," he said, "means 'a care for the public interests,' and in this sense it is proper and highly advisable that a judge should take an active part in it. Parties are essential to the efficient working of our form of government, and much good can be done through them. We do not desert our party when we go on the bench."

R. R. McCormick, president of the sanitary board, said that in one instance the Republican party stands for the definite conservation of a vast natural resource, while the Democratic party stands for its neglect.

His reference was to the stand of the two platforms on water power between Lockport and Ottawa, which he said would save a million dollars a year to the taxpayers of Cook county, if properly utilized.

RECOUNT IN 13TH KIRBY AID; LEAD IS INCREASED 19 VOTES.

Half of Precincts in Thirty-third Ward Show Gain—United Societies to Name Choice for Judgeships.

Recount of the ballots cast at the Democratic primaries in the Thirteenth senatorial district for state senator was begun yesterday by the election board. The official returns gave James Kirby's plurality of eight votes over John Prystalski, the totals being 1,449 and 1,441 respectively. At the end of the day the ballots in half of the precincts in the Thirty-third ward had been recounted, increasing Kirby's lead to 19.

A meeting of the political action committee of the United Societies will be held this afternoon to consider the question of indorsing nominees for judgeships and to make other campaign plans.

Democratic candidates have been invited to meet the "harmony committee" this evening at Vogelsang's. The Republican state committee will meet at noon in Gov. Deneen's office in Springfield, as required by the primary law. Assignments for Republican speakers in the state campaign will be made today by C. J. Doyle.

The Democratic finance committee of seventy met at the Iroquois club, pledged "some money" for the county campaign, and appointed a subcommittee of twenty, which will meet again tomorrow. Beginning today, the Republican board of directors will hold daily meetings until election day.

FINALLY FILES HIS PETITION.

But John C. Cosgrove's Fight to Get on Congressional Ballot Is Not Helped—Plans a New Move.

After being buffeted from office to office John C. Cosgrove found some one yesterday who would accept his petition for nomination as an independent Republican candidate for congress in the Sixth district against Congressman William J. Moxley. This availed the candidate naught, however, for County Clerk Haas, although accepting the sheets of 1,840 names, refused to place Mr. Cosgrove's name on the ballot in the part of the congressional district outside the Chicago election district, for which the ballots are printed by the election commissioners.

Mr. Cosgrove then retained Attorney Myer S. Emrich, on whose advice and as preliminary to legal proceedings the candidate wrote Election Commissioners Judge, Bach, and Hudson, stating the facts and asking for a ruling.

He told how he had been informed at the election board's office that the petition should be filed with the secretary of state at Springfield, whither he went last Saturday. That official, however, informed him he should have filed with County Clerk Haas.

Accused of Attacking Girl.

Julius Portes was arrested last night, charged with having attacked Katherine Kamen, 10 years old. The girl's parents live at 1712 Larrabee street. They charge that the attack took place Sept. 29, when the girl was sent to a drug store at Sedgwick street and West North avenue, in which Portes is employed.

WANT FREE HOUSE HERE IS CHANCE

Work Easy, Rewards Great in The Tribune's $27,000 Subscription Contest.

PAPER BARGAIN AT CENT.

Your Friends Know It, So Get Early Start and Watch the Votes Roll In.

How long would it take you to save from your salary, wages, or the profits of your business enough money to buy a $5,000 house and lot, the latter selected by you and the former built to your order, and both free from mortgages, liens, or any other incumbrances?

Considering the inroads of the "high cost of living" on your pay envelope, could you do it in five years, in ten years?

Hard problems, aren't they?

But you needn't worry about them.

For THE TRIBUNE offers you the $5,000 house and lot, not at the price of five, or ten, or twenty years of scrimping and scraping and saving, but for two months' work beginning now and ending Dec. 10.

Freedom from Flat Life.

THE TRIBUNE offers you freedom from flat life, from uncongenial surroundings, from the inconvenience of the annual or biennial moving day.

You have it in you to capture one of the ten prizes offered by THE TRIBUNE for efficiency in obtaining subscriptions to the world's greatest newspaper and zeal in collecting vote coupons from your friends, but you must begin work now.

There are $27,000 worth of prizes ranging from $1,000 lots to the $5,000 house and lot, and thousands of people yesterday recognized the unprecedented character of the offer by filing their nominating coupons.

The public has not been slow to see the advantages of this contest over ones that have preceded it.

In the first place the work is so easy.

Offer Paper at a Bargain.

The work is chiefly that of obtaining subscriptions for THE TRIBUNE, the world's greatest newspaper, at a price just half that at which it reached its preëminent position. You can offer to your friends and others the biggest bargain in the city. You can offer them a paper of which they will not be ashamed. You know that you are giving full value, that no one can feel that he helped you as a "favor." You will know and your patron will know that you have done him the favor, that he will get his money's worth.

Then, as to the reward:

The contest is absolutely unique.

There is no collusion with real estate dealers in this contest. You do not get an alleged farm, which the neighbors call a swamp, nor a "homestead" that turns out to be an inaccessible tract to stump-strewn timber land.

Fake jewelry, shoddy furniture, ancient houses, unprofitable flat buildings do not figure in the list of prizes.

The prizes are lots which you yourself may select anywhere in Chicago or its suburbs, and houses which will be built by architect, building contractors, carpenters, etc., of your own choice.

All THE TRIBUNE does is pay the bills.

No Changes in the Rules.

The conduct of the contest will differ radically from those which have discredited such "circulation stimulants" in the past.

The closing day of the contest has been set in advance, Dec. 10, 1810, at midnight.

More important even than this, it will be adhered to. There will be no extension of time. You can plan your fight for the prizes now with the assurance that after you have the battle won the date for closing will not be shifted to allow some one else to slip ahead of you.

The standing of every contestant will be known only to himself. THE TRIBUNE will keep every detail on this subject an absolute secret until the last vote is cast. There will be no undesired publicity given to the number of votes you have piled up so that your nearer competitors may be stimulated to spurt past you.

The rules governing the contest have been laid down and they will never be modified in any form.

The advantages of an early start are obvious.

Get Them for the Asking.

Since THE TRIBUNE was reduced to one cent subscriptions have poured in unsolicited. You can get them for the asking, and every subscription of a year means 1,550 votes for you. You are being offered enormous prizes for selling the most salable article in Chicago today.

Isn't it worth while?

Then send in your nominating coupon, get a subscription book, and pitch in.

Room 510, Tribune building, is the nerve center of the big contest. There you will find the Contest Editor, anxious to help you with advice gained by long experience.

If you can't come in to the office write and the book will be mailed to you.

If you want to know anything else, don't wait to write; come to the office or telephone Central 100 and ask for Room 510.

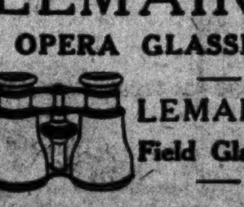

St. Louis Shoe Market

THE BROWN SHOE COMPANY REPORT BIG GAINS.

The great Washington Avenue Shoe Market in St. Louis is again heard from with a big gain in sales for the month of September. The Brown Shoe Company's shipments for September show a gain of $104,986.42 over the September shipments one year ago. Their gain for August was $182,955.09 and their gain for July was $113,432.85—making a TOTAL GAIN FOR THE THREE SUMMER MONTHS OF $401,374.36. A large percentage of this gain has been on their high-grade "WHITE HOUSE" Shoes—for men, for women—and "BUSTER BROWN BLUE RIBBON" Shoes—for boys, for girls—which are being advertised in many national mediums.

This company is very optimistic in their views of future business prospects.

LEAVES BABY TO ROUT THIEF

Brave Mother Shoots Twice and Probably Wounds Burglar.

THEN RETURNS TO CHILD.

Husband Finds Her Quieting Son Frightened by Shots.

Courage and presence of mind were displayed by Mrs. Katherine Johnson, 7101 Ingleside avenue, when she fired two shots at a burglar she found looting her house last night. The intruder stumbled when she fired the second shot as he was running through the open front door, and she believes she wounded him.

Carl Johnson, her husband, who is an engineer, had gone to a store and she thought he had returned when she heard a noise in the front room.

She moved noiselessly, and the burglar was not aware of her presence until she called:

"Is that you, Carl?"

Instead of replying, the man ran toward the door, carrying his plunder with him, and Mrs. Johnson pulled the trigger of a revolver. The first shot lodged in the wall, but when she fired the second shot the burglar threw up his hands with a cry and fell to the floor, dropping his bag. He hurriedly arose and ran out of the house, Mrs. Johnson following him, but she could find no trace of him after he reached the sidewalk.

When her husband returned a few moments later he found her sitting in a rocking chair calming her baby, which had been frightened by the shots. On learning what had occurred he notified the police of the Grand Crossing station.

3 SCHOOL HEADS CHANGED; MAKES NEW RECORD FOR DAY.

Principal Lane Resigns—Two Others Transferred—Bartholf Leaves Von Humboldt After Twenty-two Years.

Three changes in public school principals in one day established a record in the office of the superintendent of schools yesterday. Mack M. Lane, principal of the Wells school, resigned, William J. Bartholf, for twenty-two years principal of the Von Humboldt school, was transferred to the principalship of the Crane Technical High school, and Miss Mary J. Boughan, principal of the Franklin school, was assigned to succeed Mr. Bartholf.

Principal Bartholf achieved local fame by organizing a "city government" among the pupils of the Von Humboldt school. "Mayor" Sverre Stangby called a meeting of the council during the day and Mr. Bartholf presented a letter to each pupil expressing regret at leaving the school and bespeaking loyalty for his successor. Principal Lane resigned because of ill health and to engage in a different occupation.

PRAISE GIVEN TO TUTHILL BY BIG HUMANE CONGRESS.

Chicago Juvenile Court Judge Declared Pioneer in Work—Letter Says Prevention Is Best Crime Cure.

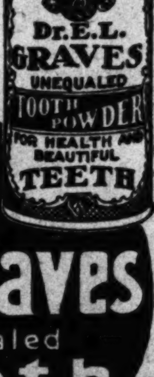

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—For the impetus he gave to the movement for adequate protection of children in this country Judge Richard S. Tuthill of Chicago was lauded today by the delegates to the international humane congress, which began a week's session. Judge Tuthill was referred to repeatedly as the first Juvenile court judge in the world.

Those Who Seek Slimness

Overfat men and women, mortified and humiliated by the publicity of conspicuous rolls and billows of fat, are gradually learning that through the discovery of an eminent physician the burden of overfatness is taken from them, leaving the figure attractively proportioned, the flesh firm, the skin smooth, and the general health vastly improved, without dieting, exercise, or resulting wrinkles of flabbiness. There is no equal and no substitute for the famous Marmola Prescription, but there is a new and more convenient form—a tablet form of this safe fat remover. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same harmless, effective ingredients as the original prescription that has enabled so many thousands of uncomfortable men and women to reduce their weight evenly and steadily at the rate of a pound or more a day. An exceptionally large case of these Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by all druggists at 75c or sent you direct by the Marmola Co., 189 Monroe Ave., Detroit, Mich., on receipt of price.

"RED BOOK" BACKS I. C. GRAFT CHARGE

H. C. Dolph Explains Special "Subsidy" Payments to Railroad Officials.

"GIFTS" TO BIHL SHOWN.

T. J. Kirby Admits That Ostermann Stock Was Held for Rawn in Former's Name.

The much talked of "little red book," containing the special accounts of the Ostermann Manufacturing company for the year 1908, including detailed records of the payment of $65,190 "graft money" to Illinois Central officials, proved the sensation of the car repair graft hearing yesterday before Judge Bruggemeyer.

Previous testimony of Henry C. Ostermann and other witnesses as to the payments in dividends, cash and checks, to railroad officials were substantiated by the records of the book, which was introduced during the testimony of Henry C. Dolph, former vice president of the Ostermann company.

Dolph arose from a sick bed to give his evidence against the defendants charged with conspiracy, F. B. Harriman, C. L. Ewing, and J. M. Taylor, and was so weak that at times his voice could scarcely be heard.

"Subsidy" Payments Shown.

Two per cent monthly dividends on the stock of the company, a $2,500 monthly "subsidy" paid to F. B. Harriman, and commissions ranging from $5 to $20 a car paid to Ira G. Rawn were the items under which the payments were recorded.

The amounts recorded in the red book were paid, according to the testimony, from a special bank account, on which checks could be drawn only by the joint signature of Ostermann and Dolph, which was maintained according to a resolution of the board of directors from February, 1908, to October, 1909. The red book had been kept in a vault in Dolph's office at West Pullman. It covered only the year 1908.

The total payments recorded in this special account were $171,616.61, of which $25,000 was Ostermann's salary and expense account, including four trips to New York which cost $4,000, and $7,200 in Christmas presents. Ostermann collected $416 a month as salary.

Contribution to Ald. Bihl.

A contribution of $300 on March 24, 1908, to the campaign fund of former Ald. Ernest Bihl of the Thirty-third ward and three separate payments of $100 each to Bihl on Jan. 14, June 15, and Aug. 4 were recorded among the items devoted to "sundries." Dolph explained that the separate payments "probably were for the campaign fund also" and that they represented no irregularities, although the alderman "had done some small favors for the concern," such as aiding in securing the passage of a tunnel ordinance.

"I don't know anything about any payments by the Ostermann company to me," said the former alderman in the evening. "I never solicited a dollar. I wrote them some insurance once or twice. I suppose the campaign committee called on them like any one else, but I never knew whether they collected anything. I never did any special favors for them any more than for any one else in the ward, but I did pass two or three little ordinances which were in the usual course of business and perfectly regular."

The "red book" was not admitted as evidence, although Mr. Dolph was allowed to refresh his memory by referring to it for details.

Records in the "Red Book."

As an illustration of the way the account was kept is the following excerpt:

ILLINOIS CENTRAL OFFICIALS.
February 18, 1908.
Cy. to J. E. Buker from Bck. 332:

Payment to—
I. G. Rawn, Jan. and Feb. 2% (stock dividends)	$ 300
F. B. Harriman	400
M. Harriman	20
S. P. Harriman	20
W. Renshaw	300
J. E. Buker	440
J. M. Taylor	1,000
	$2,480
F. B. Harriman et al subsidy	2,500

Pages 60 and 61 of the red book were headed "Illinois Central Officials," and contained a detailed record of the payments by months from Feb. 18 to Dec. 18, 1908.

The monthly "subsidies" to Harriman and the dividend payments, with occasional variations in amounts, presumably caused by some change in the number of shares, were repeated each month in the record. The dividend money invariably was recorded as having been given to Buker, then assistant superintendent of machinery, for the other officials and Harriman's son and daughter.

Rawn "Commissions" Revealed.

In the June account, dated June 23, in addition to $150 dividends I. G. Rawn was recorded as having been paid $1,250 commission on 125 cars at $10 a car. In July the record showed 450 cars at $10 and forty cars at $15, making a total of $5,250.

"Ostermann said that he had been told by Buker that it was necessary to increase Rawn's payments from $10 to $15 a car," said Dolph in explanation of this item.

An entry on Sept. 1 showed that Rawn had received $10,500 for 700 cars at $15 and on Oct. 8 he was recorded as having been paid $14,150 on account of 950 cars at $15 each. This amounted to $14,250, and an asterisk noted the discrepancy, but the $100 was not accounted for.

Another page included a list of the amounts of the monthly payments to the Illinois Central officials, including several lesser lights not mentioned in the main account for this purpose. "F. B. Harriman et al., monthly, $2,500," was the first entry, followed by a list of the names of Buker, Taylor, and Renshaw without amounts being named.

During 1908, Dolph testified, most of the items in the special account were records of the gift of stock to Illinois Central officials, as previously testified to by Ostermann.

How Shares Were Distributed.

These included 6,000 shares to Taylor, 1,500 to T. J. Kirby for Rawn, and 2,000 to Buker. Harriman had paid $1 a share for 2,200 shares, which had a par value of $5 each, Dolph said, and he himself had bought shares from many of the smaller stockholders a year later at $2 to $5 each. He had no personal knowledge of the gifts of the stock except what Ostermann had told him.

A report of the annual meeting of the stockholders showed the ratification of the 6 per cent dividend, but no mention was made of the 2 per cent monthly dividend.

"I objected to the 2 per cent dividend in a conversation with Taylor at one of the meetings," said Dolph. "We were making a mint of money, but had no assurance for the future, and were only repairing cars for the Illinois Central. The dividend was paid only to special parties. Ostermann said this had to be done. He reported to me that he had paid the dividend to Taylor, Harriman, Buker, Renshaw, and Rawn. I got two months' dividends and Ostermann got one or two."

Admits Holding Stock for Rawn.

Positive testimony as to Rawn's interest in the Ostermann company was given earlier in the day by T. J. Kirby, president of the Kirby Equipment company, of which Fred Renshaw, son of William Renshaw, is secretary.

"Three or four years ago Buker called me down to the Stratford hotel," he said, "and told me that he wanted me to do a little stunt for him, letting him use my name on some stock certificates in the Ostermann company for Mr. Rawn. He asked me to 'keep quiet about it, as the old man didn't want his own name used, because he was vice president of the road.' I signed my name to these certificates of stock, but I never saw them again."

POLICE AGAIN SEEK JOYCE

Falkenburg Case Figure Sought as West Side Burglar.

MISSING FROM HIS HAUNTS.

Man Who Nearly Released 1,000 Convicts in Limelight.

The Chicago police are again searching for Joseph Joyce, an ex-convict who recently gained notoriety as the man who came within an ace of liberating several hundred prisoners in the Joliet penitentiary by reason of a decision of the Supreme court regarding paroled convicts.

This time he is wanted by Capt. Patrick Harding of the Shakspeare avenue station on a charge of burglary.

A residence at Douglas boulevard and Maplewood avenue was entered Saturday night while the family was at the theater, and a boy who saw the thief leave the house told Capt. Harding that it was Joyce.

"The boy, who is a delivery clerk for a grocer, may be mistaken," said the captain, "but I am trying to get hold of Joyce to see if he can be identified. Joyce has disappeared from his usual haunts and I am satisfied he is the man we want for this job."

Furnished Spectacular Affair.

Joyce sprang into notoriety in March, 1909, when arrested for robbing the flat of Mrs. Maude Falkenburg, 144 Winthrop avenue. Joyce, who, it was said, was a distant relative of former Chief of Police George Shippy, was released by Lieut. Robert Schiau because the latter claimed Mrs. Falkenburg failed to identify him as the burglar. Later Mrs. Falkenburg accused Lieut. Schiau of neglect of duty in not holding Joyce for a hearing.

Shippy ordered Schiau to rearrest Joyce, but the latter had fled. He was captured later at Portland, Ore., and brought back.

Acquitted of Burglary.

Joyce was tried in Judge Brentano's court and was acquitted.

Joyce was a paroled convict from Joliet at the time of his arrest and, when discharged, was rearrested for the violation of his parole and was taken back to prison. Attorneys Thomas D. Knight and Frank R. Reid succeeded in procuring his release, the case being taken to the Supreme court. The finding of the court in Joyce's case nearly opened the doors of the Joliet penitentiary to many convicts who had been released and taken back for violation of their paroles.

PHONE CHECK ON FIERY SPOUSE

Egg Inspector Proposes to Mayor Automatic Police Warning When Domestic Trouble Impends.

An egg inspector, A. Fierstein, called at Mayor Busse's office yesterday to explain a new scheme for checking marital differences before they approach fatal consequences.

"I read in a Jewish paper," he said, "how married folk quarrel all the time, and I think if every house has an arrangement like a telephone so that they can hear at the police station when a husband is going after a butcher knife it will stop all troubles."

He was told to address a letter on the subject to the city electrician.

THEATER MAN WINS OWN CASE

Manager Hermann of Cort Admits Striking Complainant.

'NOT ON SEPT. 31, HOWEVER'

Detection of Error in Allegations Followed by Dismissal.

Acting as his own attorney, U. J. Hermann, manager of the Cort theater, won a victory yesterday in Judge Bruggemeyer's court in a case where he was charged with assaulting A. L. Baker, manager of the Columbia Yacht club.

In the "bill of particulars" read to the court by the plaintiff's lawyer, it was alleged that the assault occurred on Sept. 31.

After Mr. Baker had given his testimony Mr. Hermann, who is known as "Sport," addressed the court as follows:

"Your honor, I move that the case be dismissed. The attorney for the plaintiff charges that this alleged assault took place on Sept. 31. That would be impossible, as your honor well knows that there are only thirty days in September. You remember the old rhyme in your schoolbook:

"Thirty days hath September, April, June, and November.

"I ask that the case be dismissed."

Wants to Hear Defendant.

Judge Bruggemeyer told Mr. Hermann that the point was well taken, but he desired to hear the defendant's side of the story.

Mr. Hermann then took the witness chair.

"I had a bundle of laundry valued at $7 which I left at the Columbia Yacht club to be laundered," he said. "The manager, Mr. Baker, kept stalling me off for eight weeks about the bundle, and finally I told him somebody would have to settle for the loss of the laundry. He tried to make a door boy pay me for it, but as the boy was not to blame I refused to take any money from him.

"We had some words about my refusal to take the boy's $7 and Mr. Baker insinuated that I had never left a bundle of laundry at the clubhouse.

"It Was Good, Hard Poke."

"Your honor, I couldn't stand that and I poked him in the face. It was a good hard poke, but it didn't occur on the 31st of September, by jumping Jupiter."

At the request of the plaintiff's attorney a nonsuit was taken in the case.

Judge Bruggemeyer afterward said he would have dismissed this case against Hermann on the point raised by him as to Sept. 31.

MISSING ON EVE OF BIRTHDAY.

Walter B. Coles, Master Printer, Disappears Following Preparation for Celebration.

The police have been asked to search for Walter B. Coles, 45 years old, president of the Keefe Coles Printing company, 82 Sherman street. He disappeared last Friday after he had made arrangements to celebrate his forty-fifth birthday anniversary by giving a party to his friends. Mr. Coles, who lives at 1228 Pratt avenue, with his daughter, was last seen in Lomax's saloon, Harrison and Clark streets, and since then all trace of him has been lost.

EXPECT 25,000 IN PARADE

Italians Plan Monster Columbus Day Celebration.

CARAVELS TO SAIL AGAIN.

Jackson Park Spectacle Promises to Be Notable One.

Twenty-five thousand Chicagoans of Italian birth or parentage are to march in parade through Chicago streets tomorrow in honor of their great fellow countryman, Christopher Columbus.

This is the statement of those who have the Discovery day parade in charge, and they are confident that the actual figures will exceed their predictions. If they do it will be the largest parade of its kind in the history of Chicago.

Fifty bands have already been hired for the occasion, and six floats are being prepared to illustrate the chief events in the life of Christopher Columbus. The automobiles will number about 200.

Over 200 Italian societies have promised to be present as units. They will be marshaled in ten grand divisions. Chief among them will be the Italian Ladies' Charitable society, an organization with branches in all the Italian Catholic churches of the city, which expects to make a big showing.

At the armory speeches will be delivered in English by Corporation Counsel E. J. Brundage, representing the mayor, and Judge Theodore Brentano, and in Italian by Albert Gualano and Stephen Malato. Phillip Vitellaro will be marshal of the parade. M. Mastrogiovanni is chairman of the general committee of Italian-Americans which has the celebration in charge.

Equally spectacular, though less extensive, will be the celeb[illegible] of the discovery of the new world by [illegible] of Columbus in Jackson park.

SHOW STEWARDS COLLEGE COURSE

International Body Plans Schools to Teach Advanced Arts and Sciences.

UPLIFT FUTURE HOTELS.

Study How to Coddle Babies, Enthuse Traveling Salesmen, and Stop Germs.

Look out for the future hotel steward. He's going to be a "Rah! Rah! boy," with a college all his own.

Good stories for the jolly salesman; lullabies for the infant, and a bulwark between the hotel landlord and the chicanery of a commercial world.

No more red tape for the steward. He is seeking the uplift. Electricity in the kitchen and Aristotle in the lobby.

The International Stewards' association intends soon to erect its first imposing structure at a cost of $200,000. It will be 730 feet long and 420 feet wide. Its assembly hall will seat 600 students. It will be located at Indianapolis and will be managed by the association and the National Trade schools.

Soon after the main building has been erected the structure which will house the "kitchen" will be completed.

Kitchen Seat of Science.

This kitchen will be netted with bewildering arrays of electrical apparatus, gas fixtures, and steam appliances. Everything in the feeding and care of the transient or family, from the science of applied thermology, which is cooking, to infant nutrition, will be studied.

If the student emerges from this four year gamut without a "flunk," he will be given a degree. If he takes a post-graduate course he will be given another degree. When he is ready to meet the cold, cruel world that travels he may be known as the "C. C. and B. W., International Steward schools, valedictorian, of class of '15."

Much of the curriculum is already being assembled.

Course A proposes the study of the "art of food preparation, with the study of foods, elements of chemistry, applied thermology, ornamental cooking." Advanced food chemistry and bacteriology will teach the prospective expert to be alert for germs. The wriggles of the tubercle in milk will be told from the clumsier squirms of the maggots in meat.

No Kick on Bills.

Course E will reveal the science of correct clerking and accounting. The bills given the host at a banquet will be accompanied by certificates that will admit of no argument.

Course L will go into the mysteries of housekeeping, will instruct the student how to select and test materials, such as linen, woolens, carpets, as well as foodstuffs. Laundry work will come in under this head. Cleaning and renovating precedes a course in "system." Everything will be just so in the hotel of the future.

Post-graduate work will be provided in course M on the college catalogue. Trained nursing will include the science of applied dietetics. Analytical organic chemistry will solve the riddle of the perishable world previous studies have not touched.

The curriculum will wind up with proper toddling for the infant. The steward will also be taught how to force food down the throat of an obstreperous patron, if the occasion demands it.

The Chicago Stewards' association, a branch of the larger body, met at the Palmer house yesterday to discuss plans for operating and maintaining the school.

DOCTOR HURLED FROM AUTO WHICH DASHES ON SIDEWALK

Machine of Robert Dodds Collides with Car—Four Others Are Injured in Another Accident.

Dr. Robert Dodds, 774 Oakwood boulevard, was bruised last night when his machine was struck by an Indiana avenue car at Forty-third street and Vincennes avenue. The machine was thrown upon the sidewalk and several persons narrowly escaped being hit. The doctor was thrown from his seat.

Four persons riding in an electric runabout were slightly injured when the machine was struck by a Thirty-first street car at Michigan boulevard. The occupants were thrown to the pavement.

Those injured were Miss Julia Hamberg, 5000 Michigan avenue; Miss Clara Hochstader, Miss Ada Hochstader, and Henry Baum, 5213 Indiana avenue.

John Irwin, member of the firm of Irwin Bros., butchers, was bruised about the head when thrown from an auto truck which was struck by a [illegible] State street car.

PATTEN WEALTH TO CHARITY?

Will of Late Broker to Be Filed Today; Estate $2,500,000.

SECRET OF RETIREMENT.

Brother James Said to Have Quit for Sake of Relative's Health.

The will of the late George W. Patten will be filed for probate this morning, and it is understood that practically all of the estate will go to charity.

Attorney Joseph E. Paden, who drew the document, intended filing it yesterday, but at the last moment changed his mind. It is reported that Mr. Paden and the decedent's brother, James A. Patten, have been named as executors.

Mr. Paden refused to discuss the contents of the will, but the broker's former associates on the board of trade stated that nearly every dollar will go towards institutions and for purposes for which the testator frequently expressed preference. These same men are authority for an estimate of $2,500,000 placed on Mr. Patten's wealth.

Asked About Certain Charities.

Mr. Patten was a bachelor and his closest relatives were his brothers, James A. and Henry J. Patten. James Patten is believed to be wealthier than his brothers. George Patten referred to the financial circumstances of his brothers when discussing his own affairs shortly before his retirement from the brokerage firm. From intimate friends he inquired about the worthiness of different charities he had in mind.

Evanston Hospital May Benefit.

Just before George's death he gave $500,000 to the Evanston hospital, and it is not certain that the institution will not receive an additional amount through the distribution of the estate.

ABDUCTOR SCORED BY COURT; PLEA BRINGS NO CLEMENCY.

Former Young Chicagoan Sentenced in New York Told by Judge Past Is Bad and Influence Over Girls Strong.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Judge Dike in the criminal part of the Kings County court of New York, sentenced Harold L. Decker, 20 years old, son of Theodore A. Decker of 5242 South Park avenue, Chicago, who was arrested on a charge of abduction, to a term of from two and one-half to five years at hard labor in the Sing Sing prison.

Decker, thinking to escape with lighter sentence, had pleaded guilty to the charge. But this gained him no clemency, as the court had been put in possession of the former Chicagoan's record and considered it to be a bad one.

The record avowedly influenced the court more than the testimony of Decker's latest alleged victim, Florence Richter of 1378 Greene avenue, Brooklyn, whom he took from the family residence in the absence of her mother on July 6, being arrested in Rochester on Aug. 13. Her story did not impress the court as being veracious in details, although the prisoner admitted the main fact today.

If it had been his first offense Decker might have received clemency on account of his plea of guilty. But the court said he had a black past and a habit of abducting girls and robbing them, his fascinations, according to Judge Dike, making him irresistible to his victims.

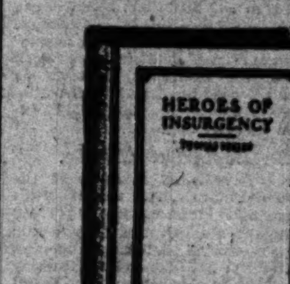

Decker also was charged with having abducted Miss Anna McKnight of 55 St. Mark's place, Brooklyn, last May.

Decker's father is a South Water street commission broker.

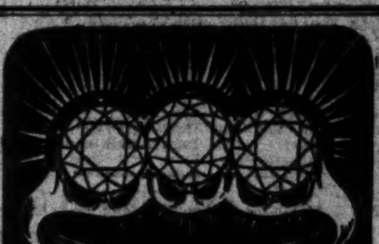

At the Decker residence in the evening it was said that the head of the household was seriously ill and could not be interviewed. It was denied that any member of the family is in New York.

ROOSEVELT HITS TAFT'S DOCTRINE

Contradicts President's Statement on Drainage of Swamp Lands.

WANTS U. S. TO DO WORK.

Takes Opposite View to Executive, as Expressed by Latter at St. Paul.

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 10.—Theodore Roosevelt placed himself on record here today as opposed to the view expressed by President Taft on one phase of the work of conserving and developing the national resources of the country.

Col. Roosevelt declared that the federal government should do all it legitimately could to assist in the reclamation of the great swamp areas of the Mississippi valley.

In a speech at the national conservation congress in St. Paul, Sept. 6, President Taft said he believed the work should be done by the states themselves, and that he deprecated the idea that the national government should do it.

As soon as Col. Roosevelt reached Hot Springs today, Gov. Donaghey and several other men who are interested in obtaining help from the national government in the reclamation project asked him to touch upon the subject in his address at the Arkansas state fair. Col. Roosevelt promised to do so.

States His Position Clearly.

In his speech later Col. Roosevelt said:

"There are things about the open country that should be done by the government—that is, by the representatives of all of us, working together.

"Arkansas is one of a group of states with an enormous area of swamp lands. Until drained the land is worthless, and when drained it is a block of the most fertile land in the entire nation.

"The national government must do its part in helping in the drainage, because the drainage is an interstate affair. Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Louisiana, and Mississippi are all concerned and ought to work together, and the national government should render all possible legitimate aid."

In his St. Paul speech President Taft expressed a view directly opposite.

What President Taft Thinks.

"Suggestions have been made that the United States ought to aid in the drainage of swamp lands belonging to states or private owners, because if it is drained they would be exceedingly valuable for agriculture and would contribute to the general welfare by extending the area of cultivation," President Taft then said. "I deprecate the agitation in favor of such legislation. It is inviting the general government into contribution from its treasury toward enterprises that should be conducted either by private capital or at the instance of the several states. In these days there is a disposition to look too much to the federal government for everything."

It is estimated that there are 25,000,000 acres of swamp lands in the states mentioned by Col. Roosevelt. Gov. Donaghey said today that the question of their reclamation was a vital one.

Speaks to Large Crowd.

Col. Roosevelt made his remarks on the subject in connection with a speech on "New Nationalism," in which he urged, as he has in his other speeches during his present southern trip, that the power of the central government be extended to deal with present day problems in the way Col. Roosevelt believes they should be dealt with.

One of the largest crowds which Col. Roosevelt has addressed during his southern trip was at the fair grounds to hear him.

Gov. Donaghey introduced Col. Roosevelt, and, although he is a Democrat, said every one ought to give the colonel moral support. He said that perhaps the people of Arkansas might not have agreed with the colonel in all he had done, but that every American citizen could agree with him "in the mighty struggle he is making for purity in private life and more honesty in public life."

Governor Indorses Roosevelt.

"He is fighting for the common good of the country," the governor continued, "and in that fight every man on this continent ought to give him his moral support. He ought to have the support of every lover of liberty, of every lover of fair play. That he has more executive force than any other man before the American people today is obvious to all."

In his speech Col. Roosevelt said:

"Fundamentally, the welfare of all of us depends more upon the welfare of the farmer than upon that of any other man, and we should all of us join in doing whatever can be done for building up the man who lives on the farm.

"It is just as foolish for the farmer today to say that he will not adopt new methods because his father did not use them, as it would be for the national guard of Arkansas to say that it would not use repeating rifles because the men of the civil war did not have them.

"The only man whom I have ever found that nobody could teach was a fool.

Rich Men Called Unsafe.

"Men of wealth, as much as some of our private citizens now possess, are economically and industrially of such overgrown size that it is unsafe to leave the average individual at their mercy. They may behave well, possibly, but I want to see that they behave well not as a favor but because they have to.

"That is all that side of the new nationalism means. It does not mean anarchy, and it does not mean socialism, and it does not mean attacking men of wealth.

"What we are striving to do is to secure equal rights—that is, to eliminate special privileges; to try to start all men in the race of life on a reasonable equality."

Col. Roosevelt took luncheon with Lieut. Jack Greenway of Hot Springs, an old Rough Rider friend of his. He spent the remainder of the time until his train left at 5:30 o'clock for St. Louis in a ride over the mountain drives near the city.

Kaiser Likes Col. Roosevelt.

New York, Oct. 10.—Emperor William of Germany warmly admires Col. Roosevelt, said Henry W. Taft, brother of President Taft, who, with his wife, arrived today from a two months' vacation abroad. Mr. Taft said:

"At Berlin, on the Templehof parade grounds last month I saw the review of 60,000 German troops by the emperor, and afterward attended the dinner given by him to the foreign representatives and officers.

"When I mentioned that Col. Roosevelt had been a visitor to Germany recently the emperor said: 'I admire Col. Roosevelt greatly. There is a man who is not afraid to say what he thinks.'"

Roosevelt Says He Might Run.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—"By George, if I thought I could carry a single southern state I would willingly run for the presidency."

Col. Roosevelt made that statement Saturday, it was learned today, in the presence of Mayor Maddox and other members of the reception committee which escorted him through Atlanta's crowded streets.

"You see, Col. Roosevelt," said Col. Fred J. Paxon, president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce and a member of the reception committee, "what the people of Atlanta would do for you if you gave them a chance."

With manifest enthusiasm, the ex-president then made the remark quoted.

TAFT AND HITCHCOCK OUT?

Reports Say President and Postmaster General Are Hostile.

LATTER DENIES THE STORY.

Friction with Treasury Department Seen as Indication.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Reports of a serious break between President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock were rife in Washington tonight, but could not be verified. The postmaster general has just returned from a conference with the president at Beverly and when informed tonight of the rumors concerning a disagreement with his chief he denied the report.

According to the story the president and the postmaster general had a falling out over political matters, and one rumor was to the effect that Hitchcock had been trying to build up a Roosevelt boom under cover of which he could deliver his delegates to whomever he preferred. This report the postmaster general declared also was false and malicious.

Postal Bank Cause of Friction?

What inclined some politicians here to believe that the report of the break between the president and the postmaster general was true was the growing evidence of friction between the treasury and postoffice departments over the question of the organization of the postal savings bank. That there is trouble brewing in this quarter is a certainty.

The scheme of the postal bank framed by the postoffice department is said not to be admired by the treasury officials. The latter had not seen the postal bank plan until a few days ago, when the regulations were delivered by the postal officials to the treasury for the approval of Secretary MacVeagh, one of the three trustees of the bank under the act.

It was intimated that the scheme worked out by the postoffice department placed a tremendous amount of power in the hands of the postmaster general in the matter of locating postal banks and postal bank depositories. In other words, the scheme made the postmaster general the dominating power in the board of three trustees. The attorney general is the third member.

Hitchcock's Enemies Talk.

The enemies of the postmaster general freely charge him with overlooking no opportunity to strengthen his political power.

Another point of possible disagreement between the president and the postmaster general is said to be the question of a collector of customs at the port of Georgetown. Mr. Hitchcock's choice was Sidney Bieber of Washington. The president appointed him, but the senate declined to confirm the nomination.

The postmaster general was greatly disappointed, but there never has been any intimation that he held President Taft to blame for the senate's action.

TRAPPED MINERS ALL DEAD, IS FEAR OF RESCUE SQUADS.

Searchers Go 12,000 Feet Into Shaft, but Are Unable to Reach Men Imprisoned in Colorado.

Starkville, Colo., Oct. 10.—As darkness settled tonight over the entrance to the Starkville mine, the hope that had buoyed up the watchers at the pit mouth throughout the day, that some of the fifty or more men entombed there would be found alive, grew faint and gloom settled again over the silent crowd.

This morning the experts at the head of the rescue party were confident that some of the men walled in by Saturday night's explosion were alive. They believed the portable fan forcing pure air into the workings would keep the men in the extreme southern portion of the mine alive until they could be reached.

As the day rescue party stumbled slowly out of the slope tonight, however, one glance at their faces told the watchers that hope was almost vain.

After a day of hard work, in the face of constant peril, the rescue party penetrated the mine workings nearly 12,000 feet, or within 900 feet of the men imprisoned nearest the main entrance.

FEE CASES ARE STRICKEN OFF.

Attorney General Stead Will Attempt to Have Reinstated Suits Against Treasurer's Sureties.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Five suits, brought five years ago, to recover from sureties on bonds of state treasurers who were alleged to have illegally taken fees while in office were stricken from the docket of the Circuit court today by Judge O. W. Thompson for want of prosecution. The suits involved the question of the right of state treasurers to retain fees given in payment of municipal bonds. Attorney General Stead said he was not willing to have the suits dismissed and that he would take steps to have them reinstated on the docket.

DISEASE FOLLOWS BIG FOREST FIRES

Typhoid Fever Has Many Victims Among Refugees in Minnesota.

TELL TALES OF HORRORS.

Survivors Describe Long Flight and Suffering of Persons Affected.

Rainy River, Ont., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Disease has added its horrors to the suffering of the refugees from the great forest fires on the American side of the international boundary. One hundred and ninety typhoid fever victims have been removed from old Baudette to the newer town and there are several cases of the disease among those who sought safety at International Falls.

Estimates of the number of persons killed by the fire itself range all the way from from 200 to 400. One hundred and nine bodies have been recovered near Spooner and Baudette. There are still about 2,000 persons who fled from the six towns which were destroyed who have not been accounted for. But it is thought that most of these have found safety.

The fire now has burned over a territory seventy-five miles in length and about thirty miles in width. This extends from a short distance west of Warroad to Stratton, embracing all of the territory between Red Lake and Lake of the Woods. In this district are the villages of Baudette, Spooner, Graceton, Pitt, Myron, and Malcolm. The last two named places are small settlements in Beltrami county, south of Warroad.

Three More Towns Threatened.

The towns of Roosevelt and Williams are threatened again tonight, as the wind is rising. International Falls also is in danger.

A trainload of refugees came in tonight from Longworth. They reported that the town was threatened by surrounding fires, and a strong wind would mean its destruction.

Warroad itself is saved after three days and nights of fighting, during which all business was suspended and every available man and boy, headed by Mayor C. A. Moody, fought with the flames. With the assistance of two fire engines from Winnipeg back fires were started and water was poured on the threatening flames until tonight they were subdued.

Late yesterday a special relief train arrived at International Falls from Bemidji bearing provisions destined for Rainy River and the Bemidji company of the Minnesota National guard, which will take charge of the distribution of supplies and the preservation of order.

Even Ground Is Burning.

Search for bodies of the victims of the fire who were stricken down while on their outlying homesteads cannot be made for many days. In the stricken district the ground is burning three and four feet deep. The ground is so hot that it is impossible for any one to travel far over it, and even experienced woodsmen are in here tonight dismayed.

There are many stories of heroism among the refugees. The women have borne up under the terrible strain with wonderful fortitude. When the refugees fled in panic for the freight train that bore them from Rainy river to International Falls, men crushed down women and children, and, in spite of the fact that the cars were choked so that standing room was at a premium, they insisted on cramming themselves in.

Miss Myra Burt of Baudette stationed herself at the door of one car, kicked every man who attempted to board the car, and herself reached out and took babies from the arms of mothers. When the train started there were five babies aboard whose mothers were left behind. They are being cared for in the hospital here.

Carries Woman to Refuge.

After being hemmed in by fire and finally making his escape to the railroad station with the unconscious form of a woman suffering from typhoid fever in his arms, Frank Watson of Baudette, Minn., lives to tell the following story.

"Men, driven half crazy by the fact that a part of and in some cases their whole family had been lost, ran about asking of the newcomers concerning their relatives. Every now and then some man on whom the terrible disaster worked harder than others would dive back in the burning districts swearing to save his family or perish. It was necessary to hold a great number of the men who fought those who attempted to restrain them."

Oscar Johnson, his wife and three children, stood for five hours in the Baudette river ducking their heads when the heat became too intense. They say the water in the river was heated to an uncomfortable temperature and that steam rose from the surface. When they escaped it was as through a furnace of dying coals, with here and there a blaze reaching out for what it might destroy.

Matt Hendrickson came in from his claim southwest of Baudette this morning and told of thirty persons who were housed in his shack without food. He says that when the fire struck his place sixteen persons got into a dry well eighteen feet deep and remained there, nearly suffocating from the heat and smoke, until the fire had passed.

DRAIN AQUEDUCT; FIND BOY

Body of Victim of Indian Game Recovered by Searchers.

NINE MILLION GALLONS LOST.

Vast Quantity of Water Diverted to Allow Men in Tubes.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The body of 9 year old Joseph Plenty, who on Saturday afternoon tumbled into the "blowoff pipe" or emergency outlet of the Highbridge aqueduct in Highbridge park, near One Hundred and Seventy-second street, was found today on the floor of the big water main beneath One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street.

To recover the boy's body it was necessary to draw off 9,000,000 gallons of water from the old Croton aqueduct by closing the upper gates and allowing water to drain off down to the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street gate house.

The boy, who lived at 504 West One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street, lost his life when playing Indian with some other children. He crawled into the open shaft leading down into the drain to hide, and then slipped into the rushing water. His body was carried half a mile before it caught on the rough brick bottom of the main.

Searchers Wade in Water.

It took all day to drain off the water in the Highbridge section of the aqueduct. At 7 o'clock the water was measured and found to be four feet six inches deep. Two hours later it was measured again. It had fallen to two feet five inches, whereupon a gang of men, in charge of Division Engineer Blake of the water department, ventured in. The searchers carried torches, rakes, and grappling irons, and sounded the bottom of the main every few feet as they went along.

They reached the end of the aqueduct without finding any trace of the boy. Then they got a twenty foot ladder and went down into the main aqueduct, where they found a depth of about three feet of water, running like a millrace. It was all the men could do to keep their feet as they groped their way through the black darkness.

Drum Is First Clew.

At One Hundred and Seventy-first street they found a toy drum the boy had carried when he fell into the main. They knew they were on the right track then and went rapidly forward until they came upon the body.

They carried the body back to where they had left the ladder and when they reached the head of the old Croton aqueduct they were nearly exhausted, as they had to fight their way against the swift current every inch of the going. The body was taken to the One Hundred and Fifty-second street police station and the child's mother was notified of its recovery.

HARMONY NOT YET REACHED IN MUSICAL ART SOCIETY.

Mr. Vogell of Thomas Orchestra Shows That His Organization Was Not "Denied to Apollo Club."

The discord in the Musical Art society has not yet been tuned to harmony. A meeting of twenty members in Music hall yesterday included Mrs. F. W. Upham, Arthur Bissell, and Marion Green. It was held to discuss reorganization plans, but no definite line of action was reached.

THE TRIBUNE yesterday stated in connection with a report of this trouble that the Thomas orchestra was denied to the Apollo club, and that St. Paul Symphony orchestra had been engaged to accompany at the Apollo concerts. Mr. Vogell, assistant manager of the Thomas orchestra, says this is inaccurate. In a letter to the secretary of the Apollo Musical club he thus sets forth the situation:

"I regret that we cannot furnish the Theodore Thomas orchestra for the Apollo Musical club concerts of Friday, Dec. 23, and Friday, Dec. 30. As explained, the orchestral association acts on the principle that it is not best to have the orchestra play on Fridays or Saturdays except in the concerts of the association. This, as you know, is not to avoid a conflict of dates but solely for the purpose of keeping the men fresh for the regular concerts."

Mr. Vogell adds: "I have taken pleasure, however, in booking the orchestra for your concerts of Jan. 12 and April 10, 1911."

"ENDLESS CHAIN" BEGUN FOR DIETZ

Aurora City Clerk Starts a Movement to Collect Money for the Outlaw.

CHARGE WILL BE MURDER

Coroner Holds Deputy Was Slain by Bullet Fired by Some Member of Family.

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—City Clerk William J. Flannigan, a close follower of the troubles of John Dietz, the outlaw of Cameron dam, today began an "endless chain" country wide movement to get funds to pay for the defense of Dietz in the several cases that are to be brought against him up in Wisconsin.

The city clerk is familiar with Dietz's history through reading for years of his troubles.

He will write letters to ten of his friends asking each of them to send money to Dietz at Winter, Wis., and to write letters to ten of his friends asking them to send money and notify their friends, and so on.

Dietz Hearing Is Postponed.

Hayward, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The hearing before Judge J. F. Riordan of John F. Dietz, his wife, and their sons, Clarence and Leslie, has been postponed until tomorrow morning. District Attorney J. C. Davis is in Winter attending the inquest of Oscar Harp, killed during the assault on Dietz' house.

The coroner held that Harp was killed by a bullet fired by some member of the Dietz family.

A charge of murder in connection with the killing of Harp will be made against Dietz, Mrs. Dietz, and Leslie.

Dietz refused to pose for more pictures until shaved and dressed in his best. His elder daughter, Myra, is improving fast in the hospital at Ashland and will be brought to Hayward in a few days.

Dr. Ohage of St. Paul, whom Dietz wired to come and dress his wounded hand, has raised a relief fund for the family. Clarence's wound is healed.

Dietz Appeals to Mayor Seidel.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10.—John F. Dietz sent a telegram today to Mayor Emil Seidel of Milwaukee, asking Mr. Seidel to get a competent attorney to defend him. Mayor Seidel this afternoon said he would take the matter up at once. Dietz said he would prefer to be defended by Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago, if possible.

DECATUR GAINS FIFTY PER CENT

Illinois City Now Has 31,140, an Increase of 10,386 in the Last Ten Years.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—The population of Decatur, Ill., as announced by the census bureau today, is 31,140, an increase of 10,386, or 50 per cent, as compared with 20,754 in 1900.

Macon, Ga., now has 40,665 inhabitants, an increase of 17,393, or 74.7 per cent, as compared with 23,272 in 1900.

The population of Vermont has increased 34,315, or 3.6 per cent, the number of inhabitants now being 355,956, as compared with 343,641 in 1900. From 1890 to 1900 Vermont increased its population 11,219, or 3.4 per cent.

HOLDERS OBJECT TO BANK'S PAPER

One. Mr. Goss made the sale with the proviso that he could get cash out of the certificate. The next Monday morning he learned that the certificate, which was made out to Arvidson, could not be cashed at the Cosmopolitan bank until Jan. 1, 1911, and that other banks would not discount it. He thereupon refused to give possession of the warehouse. Arvidson threatened suit, but started no legal action, neither has he demanded the return of the certificate.

Mrs. M. H. Barton of Evanston got one of the $1,000 certificates in a business deal. After ineffectual attempts to dispose of the paper in Evanston and Chicago she succeeded in getting a Wisconsin bank to discount it. She refused to give details of the transaction.

"I got the certificate on a business transaction," she said, "but it is all right now, for I sold it to a Wisconsin bank, which I don't care to name. I don't remember what name the certificate bore."

Besides Chicago the certificates of the Cosmopolitan appeared in circulation in nearby states. The Chicago banks have received many inquiries from bankers in Wisconsin and other cities of Illinois and even from Oklahoma City, Okla.

President Fears "Mistake."

President Lewis of the bank said during the day that there was some mistake concerning the reports that the certificates of his institution could not be realized on. He said there must be something wrong with the certificates which were offered for sale at ridiculously low prices and could not be placed. He suggested that they might not be properly indorsed or had been sold by some persons who had no right to them.

"I don't know anything about other banks refusing to discount our certificates," he said, "but every one will be taken up here with full interest at the time of maturity. We already have paid money on such as have already become due. We never have had any trouble with any except one for $500 which the Adlake Auto company holds. It was given in payment in the purchase of an automobile.

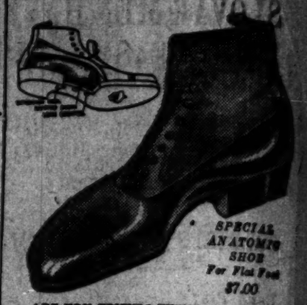

"We would have cashed that one when they came up here if they had not been so ugly about it. We refused because we don't have to cash it. I am a lawyer and I know how those certificates are made out. As a matter of fact we don't have to pay cash to any one on them except the person in whose favor they are made. It is distinctly so specified in the certificates, but then, of course, we will pay out on all that are right.

Pickpocket Loses Out.

"But some of these may be bad. For instance, my pockets were picked last week and a $1,000 certificate was stolen. That will never be redeemed. As far as the bank is concerned, it is in the best of shape. Our resources are $196,000 over our liabilities. We already are prepared to incorporate the bank with $1,000,000 capital, and every dollar's worth of the stock is subscribed. A company has offered to build a twenty story building and give us the banking floor.

"How many certificates? I don't care to state how many certificates of deposit there are out, but every one is backed by money in the bank."

The men who organized the Cosmopolitan bank formerly did a banking business under the firm name of Chandler, Bell & Lewis. The bank was organized a little more than a year ago with an announced capital of $25,000. At first it advertised that it catered to small depositors with accounts from $10 up. Instead of charging for the small checking accounts the institution required depositors to purchase checkbooks holding twenty-five checks at the rate of 25 cents a book.

SPECIAL ANATOMIC SHOE For Flat Foot $7.00

ARE YOU FRIENDS WITH YOUR FEET?

The highest medical authorities of today attribute half the ills of the human body to the foot. The nerve system of the body centers in the spine; the spine is connected directly with the nerves that center in the "foot-arch." Shooting pains, rheumatic pains, lame foot, are an indication of undue strain on these nerves.

HASSEL'S.

THE shoes shown above are the result of years of scientific study of foot ailments and what is best for their relief and cure.

If your feet trouble you, if you have "flat-foot," weak foot arch, strained foot ligaments, and have failed in getting shoes that would give them comfort and ease, let our specialist demonstrate this shoe for your benefit. Hundreds of men in Chicago are wearing them and for the first time in years walk with pleasure. Other special remedial shoes for calloused feet, rheumatics, chilblains, enlarged bunion joints and tender toes, carried in stock or made to special measurements, insuring absolute ease where all other so-called special shoes have proven failures.

Shoes here for every purpose; greatest values and more styles than you'll find elsewhere. Priced at $4, $5, $6 and $7.

Boys have a chance at special values right now, at $2.50 and $3.

The Heritage of the Desert

By Zane Grey

Like Beach in the Alaskan goldfields, Grey has shared the wilderness life of hunters, ranchmen, Mormons and Navajos. His hero, saved from the desert, rides, fights and loves with the people who have taken him in. Their leader, the giant patriarch of the Purple Desert, is more typical of his time and place than any fiction character. The taming of the wild horse Silvermane; the quest for Mescal, the girl of the sunset, through mirage and sand storm, are but two of the thrilling chapters. And around all is the Purple Desert—the force, the fire, the beauty of those lustrous, mysterious wastes of sand that cast strange spells upon the spirit of man.

SLOVAK MEN HAVE NICE EASY LIVES

Life in Hungarian Village Seems One Long Holiday for Male Residents.

SOLDIERS ON ALL SIDES.

Band Plays Every Day and Gayety Reigns as if All Times Were Play Times.

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., LL. D.

EPERJES, Saros, Hungary, Aug. 7.—An interesting town. The officials are Magyars or Magyarized Slovaks or Jews. Jews control the business and Slovaks do the work. The fields are full of women and the town is full of soldiers. I counted twenty-seven women in the fields before I saw a man. Officers occupy half the chairs in restaurants and cafés. Everybody seems satisfied and the band is playing in the middle of the main street, near an interesting fine old church. You might think it a holiday, but it is just an ordinary day. Such is life in a provincial town of 8,000.

Interesting things began to develop even last night as we rode from the watering place to Bartfa. The baths, by the way, are supposed to be cure-alls. People go to baths as Slovenes go to America. It is a kind of sporting proposition.

The Jewish Sabbath begins at 6 o'clock Friday night. We had a lot of trouble with our cabby, a Jew, as his holy day drew nigh. Six o'clock found up far from town. Jews came out, surrounded the cab, and remonstrated with him for working on Sunday. Things looked threatening for a moment. We even feared he might unhitch, turn the horses loose in the fields and abandon us, with the wagon. While we were visiting a peasant's house the matter was arranged.

Evading the Sabbath Rule.

On returning to the cab we found a stranger by the side of the driver. We protested; there being four of us, the stranger had taken one of our places. But the Jew refused to turn the stranger off. It developed that the stranger is a Christian. He sits on the box beside the driver. Theoretically, he is driving. Therefore the Jew is not working. We were told that had we tried to get the Jew to hitch up at 6 o'clock, to drive us back, we would have failed—even for much money.

Our big Hungarian officer loosened up on the way back, and talked. He proved extremely interesting. His ancestors for generations, have been identified with Hungarian politics. He himself has read Spencer and Darwin and seems familiar with standard works of English and German scientists. We asked him about his success in preventing runaways getting over the line. He admitted that there is a great deal of nonsense about it, chiefly because you cannot stop a peasant when he has decided to go to America. As he puts it, "One jump, and the peasant is over the line. Once in Austria, he makes his way easily to the Atlantic."

"Escaped Hog" Favorite Ruse.

The favorite trick is for a peasant to let a hog loose. He "hunts" the hog over the line. The hog may get back, but the peasant does not until he has American dollars in his pocket.

From Hosszuret, the second village we saw yesterday, there are now 400 men in the United States. The captain says it is a good thing for them, but it throws an awful load on the women.

We asked about the immigration of Galician Jews into Hungary. He says there is no agreement between the two countries on the subject. But by the Hungarian law a Jew may be arrested after he has been in the country fifteen days; unless he can show cause or if they don't want him, he is sent back. The captain himself has no dislike of Jews in general and is ready to acknowledge the eminent place large numbers of them have gained in Hungarian affairs. They are now especially influential because they are the leading writers on Hungarian newspapers.

He talked freely also of the clergy and aristocracy. Neither class contributes to the strength of Hungary. Wealth is too unequally distributed. Half of Hungary is in great estates. Education is neglected. The nobility have a speaking knowledge of English, but of English culture they know little or nothing. Their passion is horses.

The captain has less liking for American women who marry Hungarian noblemen. These women are less democratic in their adopted country than their husbands. They bring nothing to the country but their money. They have a passion for costume and officers. Their love of show leads them to fall in with the ways of the vain people they marry.

The best posted man on emigration we have met is a Magyarized Jew, a lawyer of Eperjes. He claims to have an extensive practice among Slovak peasants and is the manager of the great mineral baths near Bartfa. He gave us some interesting information about emigration and its results.

In 1880 an acre of land was worth $25; the same amount is now worth $2,080. Vast estates are unknown in this region, but formerly there were many large estates. But they are rapidly going to pieces, all because of emigration. Peasants come back from America with money and are crazy to buy land. Landowners are in debt and need money. Big estates are sliced into long, thin strips.

"And what do the landowners do?" They are now government officials. Their sons are railroad officials or practice medicine or law. Not many enter the clergy. In this county alone $4,000,000 has been received in a single year from the United States, much of it from Whiting, Ind.

Republic Will Change Foreign Diplomats; Arrests of Religionists Continue.

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 10.—Before leaving Portugal King Manuel sent the following autograph letter to the Portuguese premier:

"I am compelled owing to the stress of circumstances to embark, but wish to inform the people of Portugal that my conscience is clear. I always have acted as a faithful Portuguese and I always have done my duty. I will ever remain at heart a true Portuguese, and hope that my country will do me justice and try to understand my feelings. My departure must in no way be taken as an act of abdication."

Manuel to Live in England?

MADRID, Oct. 10.—The Spanish government has received confirmation of the report that King Manuel soon will proceed to England, where he will take up his permanent residence.

Change in Foreign Diplomats.

LISBON, Oct. 10.—The government will make a complete change in its representatives abroad. This will mean the retirement of Viscount De Aite, minister at Washington, since May 1, 1902.

Many of the nuns who are being expelled have announced their intention of going to America. Official decrees expelling the Jesuits and declaring their property confiscated, and expelling foreign monks belonging to other orders, formally were promulgated today.

The decrees, which appear in the official journal, specify that Portuguese members of religious orders other than Jesuits, who accept secularization, may remain in Portugal and return to their families, but those refusing to become secular must leave the country.

The decree of summary banishment for the religious orders gave excuse for outrages against the clergy. The provisional government today adopted severe measures to prevent the populace sacking the religious establishments.

THURSDAY MAY BE CRISIS.

Anniversary of Ferrer's Execution Falls On That Day.

MADRID, Oct. 10.—Premier Canalejas' warning to parliament that the agitation of the clerical and anti-clericals among the workingmen is likely to plunge Spain into a civil war has not served to ease the mind of the public, which daily is discussing the possibility that the flame of revolution will overlap the Portuguese frontier and ingulf their own country.

The reported message of Alejandro Lerroux, chief of the republicans at Barcelona, to Provisional President Braga of Portugal, "Start your revolution. We will take care of ours," is widely printed in the radical press as indicating republican plans for an uprising.

The government feels the deepest anxiety at the approach of Thursday, Oct. 13, which is now popularly known as "Ferrer day," when it is feared that the manifestations marking the first anniversary of the execution of Prof. Ferrer will develop rioting.

SUDDEN CALLING OF STRIKE STOPS NORTHERN FRANCE LINE

Other Railway Employes, to Number of 300,000 in All, May Join in the Great Lockout.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Oct. 11, 3 a. m.—Employés of the Northern France railway have struck and the whole system is at a standstill. The order for the strike was issued late at night after a meeting of the railway men's committee and at midnight the staff stopped work without warning. Thousands were prevented from starting on intended journeys.

Shortly after midnight the Paris station was closed and occupied by mounted and foot soldiers. Troops were posted to guard locomotives and the coal depots. The military governor of Paris and the prefect of police were summoned by Premier Briand to discuss the measures to be taken.

At 2 o'clock this morning the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railway employés were summoned to a meeting in Marseilles and declared they were ready to follow the strikers on the Northern France. The state railroad men now are meeting with a similar object.

The Northern France strike is the result of the foremen demanding an increase from 60 cents to $1 a day. Ten to fifteen thousand men are involved and if the strike becomes general 300,000 employés will be idle.

Responsible Banking

is the policy under which this institution has been managed for more than twenty-eight years. That this policy is appreciated is indicated by a constant and gratifying growth in business. A record for conservatism and responsibility as the banking house of N. W. Harris & Company led to such an increased investment and banking clientele as to make desirable the greater facilities to be had by incorporating, in 1907, as the Harris Trust & Savings Bank. Since incorporation, this "responsible banking" policy and a broader business scope have led to such further growth that new quarters—those pictured above—have become a necessity. Your patronage is invited on the basis of this record for responsibility.

Mandel Brothers

A great event for men—overcoats $22

A wholesale tailor's surplus stock

A local tailoring establishment, whose workmanship is not excelled by any house in America, sold us several hundred of its most stylish garments at a very low figure rather than carry a surplus over regular orders.

First floor, Wabash ave.

No man can tell you the difference between these overcoats and high quality custom tailoring. Every garment passed through the hands of skilled tailors, who gave their individual attention to the details of style and workmanship.

The materials are imported English and Scotch tweeds, homespuns and worsteds. They are lined throughout with heavy silk. They're made in the latest Chesterfield models, for which the best dressers are showing a decisive preference.

$22 for $30 overcoats, for $35 overcoats, for $40 overcoats

Brokaw Brothers' fall suits, $22

Scotch tweeds and cheviots in the late shades of brown and gray; models the custom tailor can't produce for less than double; also black unfinished worsteds and blue serges; sizes to 46—regulars, stouts and slims; at $22.

A. C. McCLURG'S

12000 Books in 1910

"This year," says The Independent, "the United States will beat the world's record for the number of books published, something over 12,000 altogether. Nearly all of them are well enough written and printed, and are conceivably of interest to somebody."

We quote this paragraph to emphasize the remarkable publishing activity that marks this Fall season. We want to urge every one who has the slightest interest in new books to make a point of dropping into our store nearly every day. There is sure to be something in today that you did not see yesterday, and it is hard to imagine a more agreeable—or profitable—way of spending a spare half hour.

The Independent, which is an authority of recognized standing, follows its statement with a few of the recently published or forthcoming books that seem noteworthy.

Among the titles included are a few volumes recently published that we have not so far mentioned in our advertisements.

"The North Pole," by Robert E. Peary.
"The Grand Canyon of Arizona," by George Wharton James.
"What's Wrong With the World," by Gilbert K. Chesterton.
"The Caravaners," by the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden."
"Flamsted Quarries," by the author of "The Wood Carver of 'Lympus."
"The Impostor," by John Reed Scott.
"A Man's Man," by Ian Hay.
"Rose in the Ring," by George Barr McCutcheon.

"The Etheldreda"

is the name of one of our beautiful patterns of table glassware—the most exquisite and costly that we have ever offered, and one rarely ever equalled.

We show many other designs—some very much less expensive, but none that would be called ordinary. We offer our patrons a selection of drinking glasses notable for clearness and brilliancy of material and perfection of cutting—designs that appeal to refined taste and fit to accompany the best table appointments in silver or china.

Fine glassware is necessarily costly—nevertheless we show several lines that are remarkably reasonable in price.

In the Society World

A NEW feature—a dramatic program for each evening—has been added to the detail of entertainment arranged for the bazaar to be given for the Home for Destitute Crippled Children at Orchestra hall on Nov. 14 and 15. Mrs. Clarence I. Peck and Mrs. Samuel Insull are to take charge of the new committee. The entertainment of the afternoons will be the African jungle, which has been arranged largely for the special pleasure of the children.

Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor and Miss Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor, who returned from their European trip late last week, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McGann, at Lake Forest. Mr. Chatfield-Taylor has not come on from the east as yet. It is said that Miss Chatfield-Taylor will be a debutante of November, although the exact date of her presentation has not been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter have gone to Virginia Hot Springs for a fortnight or more. Mr. Leiter may return to Chicago by the end of this week, but this plan is not definite. They have been taking the cure, riding a great deal, and taking long tramps, and in between these times they have been entertaining several small companies at attractive affairs. On Tuesday afternoon they gave an old Virginia luncheon at Fassifern farm, at which Judge and Mrs. Lockwood Honoré were among the guests.

The "cookery exhibit" announced by the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29, has been postponed until Thursday and Friday, Nov. 3 and 4. The change is made to accommodate a large number of the women who will not be in from their various summer places of residence until after the first of November. This includes many north side matrons and maids who ever have been interested in this exhibit, many of whom also will serve on the committees in charge of the days.

The engagement of Miss Sarah Farquhar Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Chandler of the Walton apartments, to John Oliver Knight of Los Angeles, Cal., is announced. The wedding will take place in January.

Miss Esther Barnard, daughter of Mrs. Eugene E. Barnard of Evanston, will have two attendants of honor on the occasion of her marriage to Ralph S. Silsbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Silsbee, 1044 Hollywood avenue, on Oct. 26. Mrs. Frederick E. Grant of New York will serve as matron and Miss Gladys Silsbee as maid. Miss Deborah Silsbee, Miss Catherine Ross, Miss Hazel Spencer, and Miss Gladys Glaspell will be the bridemaids, and Joseph L. Silsbee Jr. best man, and Halsted Freeman, Percy Barter, Maurice Mason, and Joseph White will serve Mr. Silsbee as ushers. The service is to be performed at 8:30 o'clock in St. Luke's church at Evanston, with a reception following at the residence of Mrs. Barnard.

A luncheon was given yesterday at the Union League club by Edward M. Holloway in honor of Fairfax Harrison. The guests were John T. McCutcheon, Joseph H. Defrees, William B. Austin, William C. Free, Edward Rector, E. C. Field, Oliver C. Carter, Arthur B. Wright, and George T. Buckingham.

Mrs. Harry W. Farnum, 2834 Prairie avenue, has returned from New York.

Moffett Photo.
Miss Wilhelmine Manierre

Miss Wilhelmine Manierre, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Manierre, 1507 Dearborn avenue, will be presented on Nov. 12, unless present plans must be changed. Mrs. Manierre is not strong, and because of this Miss Manierre's first season practically will be in charge of her oldest sister, Mrs. William Brown Jr. (Marguerite Manierre). Mrs. Brown's small daughter has been ill. If the next few days bring continued improvement in the little girl's health the November date will be chosen for Miss Manierre's coming out, otherwise the debut will await the development of her small niece's condition.

Miss Katherine Luce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Luce, 1431 Astor street, and Mahlon D. Thatcher Jr. of Pueblo, who are to be married on Monday evening, Oct. 17, at St. James' Episcopal church, have announced their wedding party. Mrs. Ralph Owen (Elinor Conover), for whom Miss Luce was maid of honor in June, will be the matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Conover, Miss Marion Forgan, and the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Lucia and Miss Ada Thatcher of Pueblo, will be the bridemaids. Platt Rogers of Denver will serve as best man with Leslie Grant of Denver, Frederick Thompson of Des Moines, John Wilder of Chicago, and Augustus Eddy of Evanston as the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stevenson (Phœbe Eckels) will move from 1222 North State street, where they have lived the last year, having taken the house at 52 Cedar street. Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ranney have taken the apartment Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson are vacating.

Mrs. J. S. Wheeler of Mason City, Ia., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Gordon Winnett, 5464 East End avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Levant M. Richardson, 4238 Hazel avenue, leave tomorrow for a ten day auto trip in Wisconsin.

The marriage of Miss Helen Virginia Grigg, daughter of J. B. Grigg, 667 Cornelia avenue, formerly of La Crosse, Wis., to Norman J. MacDonald of Winnipeg, Canada, took place last night at 8:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Episcopal church. The bride wore a princess gown of ivory satin trimmed in point lace. She wore a tulle veil and carried lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Martha Grigg, and Robert MacDonald of La Crosse served as best man. Horace and Joseph Grigg Jr., brothers of the bride, were the ushers, and Katherine Duquette was the flower girl. After Nov. 15 Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald will be at home at 147 Eugene street, Winnipeg.

Oct. 19 is announced as the date for the wedding of Miss Grace Maxine Stein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell S. Stein, to Maurice Weigle. The wedding is to take place at the Stein summer place in Wisconsin, the birthplace of the bride, followed by a large reception at the Eau Claire club.

The Homewood Country club has planned a special chicken luncheon for tomorrow. The last of the season's card parties for the women members will be given tomorrow afternoon and the day is the big day in the golf tournament. The annual harvest home dinner and dance will be given on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Walsh and Mr. Richard E. Walsh of Boston, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Catherine Walsh, 443 Oakdale avenue. They will leave in about a week for a trip through Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Kennedy of 112 Seeley avenue will entertain at dinner Saturday, Oct. 15, in honor of their son James, whose engagement to Miss Pearl McFaddon of Pocahontas, Va., has recently been announced. The wedding will take place late in November.

A bridge and euchre party will be given at the Evanston Country club this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. George Alfred Foster, Mrs. Melvine M. Scovil, and Miss Melissa Elmore Foster will receive at Mrs. Foster's residence, 1914 Sheridan road, Evanston, on Saturday, Oct. 29, from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Music and the Drama.

Faintly Praising, if Not Damning, "Bright Eyes."

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

"BRIGHT EYES" is one of those earnest and eager endeavors to entertain whose sincerity of purpose frustrates the fury which is one of the sinews of the critic's soul. The farce from which it is adapted is a busy little affair of much inconsequential bustle; the music set to it by that rising young arranger, Mr. Karl Hoschna is easy to digest, Mr. Otto Hauerbach's lyrics rhyme frequently, if they do not always reason, and the affability of Mr. Cecil Lean, the semi-star of the occasion, is intense and ingratiating. Still, after a thoughtful contemplation of its performance one finds it not difficult to restrain the enthusiasm usually accessible on such occasions. Like the husband of one of its soubrettes, it is pretty good, but a trifle slow. It is our desire to be polite to the deferential Mr. Gaites, its produer, who does not "present," or "submit," or "announce," but whose plumed hat sweeps the ground as he "begs to offer." However, "The Chocolate Soldier" and the "Dollar," to say nothing of the "Slim Princess," have made us a bit particular. In other, less fastidious days, "Bright Eyes" might have been a triumph of music and laughter. Now, one regrets to state, it is merely a drawn skirmish. The intent of the foregoing is to praise faintly, but not necessarily to damn definitely.

The play is about an actor and an actoress, impersonated with much characteristic fidelity by Mr. Cecil Lean, who had his humble genesis in our midst; and Miss Florence Holbrook, long a more or less beloved figure in that awful thing known as local musical comedy. Mr. Lean's dentrificial aspect is fully as glistening as that of Mr. John Hyams, a recent departure from our midst, and in addition to his teeth he has a saving sense of humor as well as a loud voice. The composer of the music is much kinder to him than is the author of the words. For instance, Mr. Lean's beatific smile is often called into play when there is no echoing laugh from the spectators, but when he sings or whistles the seductive air of the score there is always a sympathetic response. This air, percolating through the performance after the fashion of the Viennese school, is yclept "For Your Bright Eyes," and the amorous refrain which begins "Bright eyes that beam for me, gleam for me, dream for me" has its rhythmic measures beaten by nine out of every ten feet in the audience. Mr. Lean's comedy is of the wholesome, vivid kind, a bit fleshly at times, but always circumspect. He is much better than the opportunities that the librettist offers him.

Some weeks ago Miss Florence Holbrook, in a perfectly candid outburst against the many critics who do not care for her performances, exclaimed that their aspersions, no matter how vicious, would be welcome if they would but tell her "why." This observer has often told her why, but he reluctantly repeats in a missionary spirit that her chief handicap to general popularity is that she is self-conscious and affected; that no difference how pleasant the character she essays she makes it unpleasant by nauseous mannerisms and poses, the which are repulsive to the normal theatergoer. That is it, Miss Holbrook, self-consciousness and affectation, and now that the information has been again vouchsafed one may expect a simple, natural, and attractive performance this evening at the Colonial theater in "Bright Eyes."

Forgetting complaisantly the somewhat anemic second act of "Bright Eyes," in which the ancient expedient of the amateur rehearsal is a trifle overdone and long drawn out, there are some lively moments in the first and third sections, one of which represents the stage of the "Morality" theater with a crew of merry stage hands in operation, and the other of which contains Mr. Lean's familiar and popular ditty, "Fan, Fan, Fan," a baseball epic of no inconsiderable sporting value. Every now and then there are intrusions by chorus ladies in tights and out of them, but with no important claims to beauty prizes—industrious and, no doubt, good to their folks. There is much scenery of the kind which "lights up," and the costumes, while not rich, are frequently racy. The play, if not an episode, is an incident, and Mr. Lean and his composer are responsible for its most pleasant interludes.

Notes of the Stage.

Miss Frances Kennedy is to withdraw from "Jumping Jupiter" this week to become a member of the cast of "The Chocolate Soldier." Her rôle in Mr. Carle's play will be taken by Miss Elizabeth Goodall. Another change in the performance of "Jumping Jupiter" will be made soon by the substitution of Miss Cheridah Simpson for Miss Lillian Shaw.

Unless present plans are changed, which no doubt they will be, "The Gamblers" will be succeeded at the Lyric in a fortnight by Miss Fritzi Scheff in "The Mikado."

The humiliating reason for the precipitate exit of "The Dollar Princess" three weeks before its scheduled time is that it has not been appreciated here as it was in New York and elsewhere. The attendance has been good, but not so great as the merit of the entertainment deserved, and so it departs with the manager's explanation that it is "over their heads." It is to be succeeded at the Illinois next week by Mlle. Genée and her company in a new musical play called "The Bachelor Belles," produced under the combined supervision of Mr. Ziegfeld and Mr. Julian Mitchell.

Miss Bertha Kalisch has just produced in New Haven a new play by Mr. Samuel Shipman called "The Woman of Today," in which a wife, deserted by her husband for another woman, takes charge of his ruined affairs and directs them back to prosperity.

"The Gamblers" will be withdrawn from the Lyric Oct. 29, after a five weeks' run, and will be sent straightway to New York for an engagement at the Maxine Elliott theater.

The right to play "Nobody's Daughter" in America has been obtained by Mr. W. A. Brady. Mr. Gerald Du Maurier appeared with success in the play in London.

Caruso Cut by Accident.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—During the last act of "Carmen" last night, Enrico Caruso received an accidental thrust of a sword in his knee. The wound is not considered serious.

MME JOHANNA GADSKI, the famous soprano who has been engaged for the coming season of the Chicago grand opera company, in accidental fashion yesterday afternoon not alone dedicated the newly remodeled Auditorium but was the first artist to sing with the newly organized orchestra of eighty pieces which will support the opera performances here.

During the afternoon Parelli, one of the Italian conductors, had his big body of musicians in hand and was putting them through the score of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" for the first time. The Auditorium was dark except for the small lights which shone on the music scores in the orchestra.

Violins and brasses were wandering along through the second act when suddenly the big Auditorium was filled with the silvery streams of a rich soprano when the musicians had reached the place in the score where Santuzza appears. Startled players faltered at their work and the director turned around in surprise. Standing close beside the orchestra rail on the Auditorium floor was Gadski.

No sooner had she finished the aria than Andreas Dippel, who was in the rear of the house, picked of Turiddu's song which follows and sang it through.

"As Others See Us."

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

SCROOGE—old, grasping, hard-fisted Scrooge himself—came out on the stage at the American Music hall yesterday afternoon and left as gripping an impression on the audience as though it had been at church and heard a great sermon. Vaudeville does not always run to trained seals, and female impersonators, and coon song singers.

The little play founded on Dickens' "Christmas Carol," at the American, was the equal of any three act drama, and it held the audience in a breathless spell until the drop of the curtain. It was more than a play; it was a little lesson of brotherly love and kindness, and it certainly found its way over the footlights, for when old Scrooge saw the vision of Bob Crachett's family weeping over the death of Tiny Tim the house was stiller than a vaudeville theater was ever known to be—somehow nobody seemed to be ashamed to be caught crying.

The piece was presented by Mr. Charles Dodsworth and his London company. It followed Dickens' story almost literally, as far as the limitations of the stage permitted.

The play began with a scene in the office of old Scrooge. The little clerk, Bob Crachett, was seen as the curtain rose warming his fingers by the light of the tallow candle, for old Scrooge regarded coal fires as a terrible extravagance.

Mr. Fezziwig and Mr. Topper entered and looked just as though they had stepped direct from the pages of Dickens. They wished Bob Crachett a Merry Christmas, for it was the day before. The two were collecting Christmas offerings for the poor and had called on Scrooge for a donation. Topper was objecting seriously.

"You don't know this squeezing, grasping, covetous old sinner," said Mr. Topper. "He is as hard and sharp as the flint from which no steel has struck one generous spark."

Mr. Fezziwig is more hopeful. He points out that it is the season when there is peace on earth and good will to men. No man, not even Scrooge, could resist the sweet Christmas spirit, Mr. Fezziwig insists, and when Scrooge enters, greets him with a hearty "Merry Christmas."

"Merry Christmas—bah!" says Scrooge.

Mr. Fezziwig tells the object of his visit and reminds Scrooge that as he is so wealthy, he of course will want to give something to help the poor at Christmas.

"Are there no prison laws?" mutters Scrooge.

"Why yes," admits Mr. Fezziwig.

"And union workhouses?"

"Plenty of them," says Mr. Fezziwig, "but many of the poor won't go there; they would rather die first."

"Well, let 'em die," declares Scrooge; "it would decrease the surplus population. Good evening, gentlemen."

Mr. Fezziwig and Mr. Topper give up in despair and go out, and Scrooge hears with disgust the people in the snowy street outside calling "Merry Christmas" to one another.

"And if I had my way," growls the old miser, "every idiot who goes about with 'Merry Christmas' on his lips should be boiled in his own Christmas pudding and with a stake of holly through his heart."

He spurns the invitation of his nephew to a Christmas dinner and reluctantly gives consent to Bob Crachett to have all of the next day off. Bob, muffling himself up in his scarf—for he has no overcoat—hurries home to his family and especially his little crippled boy, Tiny Tim.

After Bob has gone Scrooge gets his books and settles down to estimate how rich he is. It grows night and he falls asleep in a chair and dreams. Through the wall comes a gruesome figure, in burial dress and dragging clanking chains. Scrooge opens his eyes and screams in horror. He recognizes the apparition as the ghost of his old partner, Marley, who had been almost as cold and selfish as Scrooge, but now dead a year.

"Why are you come here?" gasps Scrooge.

"It is required of every man," said the ghost of Marley, "that the spirit within him should walk abroad among his fellow men and travel far and wide, and if that spirit goes not forth in life it is condemned to do so after death, to witness what it can not share but might have shared on earth and turned to happiness."

Then the ghost says it will show Scrooge a Christmas past, a Christmas present, and a Christmas to come.

While Scrooge shrinks, trembling, on the floor, the ghost brings before him visions revealing the miser to his true self. He sees a vision of himself as a boy and how happy he was before he let selfishness and covetousness crowd out all the feeling of humanity in his heart. He sees the vision of his sweetheart and hears her say how much she loved him until he let gold come in to take her place in his affections.

The merciless ghost shows a vision of the present, and Scrooge looks into poor Bob Crachett's home and sees the clerk and his family and Tiny Tim sitting around their scanty Christmas dinner. Then he sees the family huddled together, crying, and hears them say that "Tiny Tim" is dead. He sees a vision of his neighbors telling each other that Scrooge is dead, and laughing, and he sees the churchyard with his own name engraved on a headstone. The ghost vanishes and the miser awakes. He can hardly stagger to the window to draw the shade and let in the light of Christmas morning. Outside they are singing:

> "God rest you, merry gentlemen,
> Let nothing you dismay,
> For know you Christ our Savior,
> Was born on Christmas day."

"O, the beautiful sunlight," gasps poor Scrooge, "the chimes. O, Jacob Marley, heaven and the Christmas time be praised for this. I say it on my knees. Ah, I am as happy as an angel—as merry as a schoolboy. A Merry Christmas to everybody. A happy new year to all the world."

The curtain went down and it was a more thoughtful and much more serious crowd that went out of the theater when the performance was finally over. A man went over and begged the pardon of another man that he hadn't spoken to for a year. And a woman told another that she wanted to get a taxi and drive to her dressmaker's and pay her a bill that she had put off paying for months. And a big husky voiced man in the foyer was saying he must take the evening train and go and see his folks down in the country—he had meant to do it all summer and forgotten about it. And another man walked six blocks to find some beggar to give a half dollar to. It was October, but old Scrooge had put something of the Christmas spirit into a vaudeville audience.

Woman and Her Interests.

Just Between Us Girls.

BY SISTER MARY.

AS a girl laughs is her life colored.

Beware of the charmer whose sole form of expressing amusement is a superior smile. She is the girl who will keep your boy struggling to live up to exalted notions of her own importance. She will have no sympathy with foibles—save her own—and will surely be uncomfortably ambitious.

Perhaps the conventional soul prefers the smirk to the hearty laugh. It may be less grating to the ears, but the man who must live with that smirk will find he is tied to an insincere nature or a vain one.

Have you never been ready to beat a girl for the fixed smirk that does duty for mirth?

The cynical smiler is not the sort most doting mothers would like their sons to tie to. Men do not take kindly to sarcasm, even when they can escape it; husbands find it equally unforgivable, but have to put up with it.

The girl with the smile cynical can be counted on to be suspicious; to sneer off your best excuses; to be short on making allowances and long on fault-finding.

When a giggle does duty for the hearty laugh wisdom will not lie with the giggler. True, the excuse for mirth may be a form of nervousness rather than a sign of shallowness; but a woman nervous to the giggling stage is not an enviable helpmeet.

The giggler has a dreadful way of getting on our nerves. She is far worse in the long run than the overloud laugher; the latter tones down and is at best occasional; the giggler is as insistent as a dun and less easily escaped.

The girl who snickers is lots better. She has at least a latent sense of humor and can be counted on to find the fun in life's jouncing. Often the snickers are the result of conventional training that taboos more vigorous mirth as vulgar.

The peal of mirth, the hearty laugh which rings out in honest tones, show the quality of a girl's soul. Hear it once and you can have no doubt as to the wholesomeness of the nature behind; you realize the stored up power to battle with trouble and laugh off its worst pangs.

The girl who can laugh can be counted upon not to treat her husband to unlimited complaining; when hard times come she will not add to the burdens, but lighten them by her good cheer and power to look at the bright side.

What if a laugh is too noisy for good form? Isn't the sound of it preferable to loud boohoos, smothered sobs, or raucous fault-finding?

The wife who can laugh is going to be a comfort to her people in law as well as to her husband. The carping Bellamys of the world will fare better at the hand of Margie who can be amused by their littleness than if the elect daughter-in-law has no sense of humor to soften irritation and resentment.

For all round happiness in marriage let a man choose the girl who can laugh.

The wife who can laugh is not only cheerful—she cheers. Just to look at her makes our troubles roll off; to live with her is a benediction.

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Banana Batters.

THE first class cook can stir up a batter without a measure other than her eye and by a recipe that is, in consequence, never twice the same. There is something pretty and gratifying about a batter. The vigor you put into the stirring, the finished product inevitably in the mind's eye while the work is being done, the praise a good fritter or pancake wins—all these are attractive adjuncts to batter making.

An old fashioned method of making a batter smooth and even was to strain the mixture of eggs and milk through a sieve before adding the small amount of flour, after which there was a thorough beating to make the fritter light. Sometimes the batter was made twenty-four hours before used.

The greedy man, and some others, fairly revel in a good fritter, and may partake thereof generously without any evil results. But the fat in which they are cooked must be exactly right, hot enough to instantly sear the surface and not so hot as to give off the poisonous blue vapor.

Banana Fritters I.—Pare two bananas. Cut each in two and split each half and put the pieces into a bowl with one tablespoon of sugar, two tablespoons of orange juice, and let this preparation stand for an hour. Make a batter, dip the slices of banana into it, coating each slice. Lift them from the batter, drop them into hot fat, and cook for three minutes. When done take them from the fat and drain on brown paper. Arrange them in a circle on a flat dish, sift powdered sugar over them, and serve hot. Fruit batter: One-half cupful of flour, one-fourth cupful of milk, one egg, one-half tablespoon of sugar, one-half tablespoon of melted butter, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, the yellow rind of a fourth of a lemon grated. Mix the dry ingredients together, beat the eggs light, and add the milk. Pour this over the dry mixture, beat well, and add the melted butter or olive oil.—Mrs. Horace H. Martin, Lake Forest, Ill.

Banana Fritters II.—Two bananas, one cup of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of powdered sugar, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-fourth cup of milk, one egg, one tablespoon lemon juice. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat egg until light and add milk and dry ingredients, then the lemon and bananas cut fine, and fry in deep fat.—Edith M. May, Wilmette, Ill.

Banana Fritters III.—One-half cup of flour, yolk of one egg, pinch of salt, one tablespoon melted butter, water to make a batter like griddle cakes. Add the white of egg beaten to a froth and two bananas cut in thin slices. Fry on hot griddle, serve on hot pie plates with a sprinkling of powdered sugar on each plate.—Mrs. Charles E Gundlach, Kenosha, Wis.

Banana Fritters IV.—One cup of flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup of milk, and two eggs. Beat eggs light, adding the other ingredients. Let stand two hours before using. Peel three bananas and cut into lengths of about one-half inch, dip in batter and fry in deep fat. Serve with sugar sauce.—Mrs. Winifred S. Hirt, 1025 Balmoral avenue.

Mr. Burges Johnson's "RHYMES OF HOME" (T. Y. Crowell & Co.) come to us appropriately clad in blue checked gingham, which suggests the play dress of some little one, the genius of the home. And in the poems simplicity and tenderness vie with humor, which previously had been considered as Mr. Johnson's principal asset. The book is divided into four sections: "Mating," "Building," "Life Year In and Year Out," and "Little Folk." In every part there are verses which will be read with keen enjoyment, especially if one loves as he should a home and its quiet life.

The devotion of a lifetime to missionary labors among the hill tribes of Borneo is reflected in the pages of Alonzo Bunker's "SKETCHES FROM THE KAREN HILLS" (Revell). The narrative is descriptive of the author's life and experiences in the years he lived among the Red Karens, indicates the condition of the country and the character of the natives, and recounts the successes and disappointments in the missionary work. All of the book is vivid and interesting, especially to those who try to keep in touch with the work of the churches in the lands of the heathen, and throughout the reader feels that if ever a man was fitted for his vocation in life, it was the Rev. Mr. Bunker.

"QUERCUS ALBA" (A. C. McClurg Co.) is a small book in which Will Lillibridge tells the story of this "veteran of the Ozarks" from the time he is merely a seedling until, surviving the struggles with his brothers and sisters and with the elements, he becomes the philosophical veteran, taking no cognizance of the life that goes on about him and finding in living life's only justification. The exterior appearance of the book will serve as a good introduction.

In twelve short chapters Kenneth H. Wayne tells the inquiring father what to do and what not to do in forming the character of his boy—"BUILDING YOUR BOY" (A. C. McClurg & Co.) The advice on the whole is sensible, looking to the best development of the boy, that "animated bundle of wellnigh infinite possibilities."

With the publication of "SIEGFRIED" (Crowell) the third of Oliver Huckel's versions of the "Nibelungen Ring" cycle appears. As in the case of the preceding volumes, the English rendering of the German poetry is prefaced by an analysis, general criticism, and appreciation of the drama, an essay which is of value as being the estimate of the great work by a man highly cultured along musical and artistic lines. The translation of the drama is in verse, and its freedom has permitted Prof. Huckel to revive the spirit of the German original.

Plentifully seasoned with college yells, "LARRY BURKE, FRESHMAN," by Frank I. Odell, is a book with an active and athletic hero. Having endured his three weeks of hazing with philosophy, he is ready for the games that follow, and in which he does not fail to distinguish himself. That the boys devote more attention to athletics than to their studies is a condition which does not render the story less true to life. (Lothrop, Lee & Shepard company.)

LEEK SEEKS FOLD OF CHURCH AGAIN

Pastor Who Withdrew from Membership Wants to Be Restored.

NO ACTION TAKEN IN CASE

Larash Accused of Stock Manipulation Denies Charges; Busy Day in Conference.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Dixon, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—John D. Leek, who witsdrew from the ministry and membership of the Methodist Episcopal church last year, appeared at the Rock River conference today in his own behalf. He talked with many ministers and sat for a time in the conference as a spectator of the proceedings. He stated that his object in coming to the conference was to seek a restoration of his parchments. He spent most of his time today trying to persuade some member of the conference to present his case before the committee on conference relations. He did not, however, succeed in getting his case presented.

The Rev. H. V. Holt, the district superintendent of the Chicago western district, to whom, with Bishop W. F. McDowell, Mr. Leek surrendered his parchments at the time of his withdrawal from the church, refused to express himself in any way. Mr. Leek was formerly pastor of the church in which the conference is being held.

Denies Stock Speculation.

The case of the Rev. George I. Larash, pastor at Dundee, Ill., who has been given publicity in connection with the alleged selling of stock in a Chicago mail order house, appeared before a committee of five consisting of H. G. Jackson, J. M. Phelps, L. F. W. Leseman, J. T. Ladd, and E. L. Eaton, who were appointed to investigate his case.

Mr. Larash said he did not sell stock for speculation purposes. He had, he said, purchased certain stock as a personal investment, intending only to get the profit from its returns, but was obliged to sell in order to raise the needed money. The committee reported that there was no ground for action against him. Mr Larash will not be returned to Dundee, where he has been pastor for the last two years, but will be given another appointment.

Mr. Larash, during the afternoon session of the conference, read the report of the committee on Sunday schools. The report called for definite work in evangelizing the 74,000 members of the Sunday school, which, it was stated in the report, would yield next year 5,000 converts.

Libberton Resignation Withdrawn.

The Rev. W. J. Libberton of Sacramento Boulevard church, Chicago, made a spectacular speech in attempting to resign from the board of stewards, of which he has been a member for twenty-eight years, because of his disagreement with the action of the conference in adopting the annuity plan of distributing funds for the superannuated ministers. Dr. Libberton declared that the vote of the conference in opposition to the plan he had advocated was equivalent to a vote of lack of confidence. After he had declined to longer serve, the conference by a unanimous standing vote refused to accept this resignation, and he withdrew his resignation.

The Rev. T. P. Frost reported for Garrett Biblical institute.

"The institute," he said, "had passed the critical financial straits in which it has been." He announced a gift of $1,000 from Mrs. Harriet S. Kidder for the establishment of a prize in the department of practical theology, of which department her husband was formerly the professor.

Dr. Frost, who is president of the board of trustees of the Garrett Biblical institute, stated that "a friend" had pledged dollar for dollar any amount contributed towards the liquidation of the debt on the property up to $75,000.

Shows Northwestern's Progress.

The Northwestern university, it was said by the Rev. E. J. Rose, who read the annual report concerning its work, had passed Yale and Harvard in point of attendance, having this year an entrance class in the college of liberal arts of 360 and a total enrollment of 5,000.

The Rev. W. O. Shepard, district superintendent, Chicago northern district, was re-elected trustee of Northwestern university, and the Rev. T. P. Frost, Evanston, was re-elected trustee of Garrett Biblical institute.

During the day the Ottawa street church, Joliet, was selected as the place of meeting for next year; $225,981 was reported as the total benevolent collections of the conference for the last year by the treasurer, the Rev. C. K. Carpenter; $112,796 of the amount was given to missions. This is an increase of $8,500 over last year.

Bishop Cranston stated that the cabinet had not completed its work of assigning preachers. The conference adjourned at 10:45 p. m., to meet tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Queen of Carnival in Vote Contest.

MRS. M. KVIDERA

Mrs. M. Kvidera, 3520 West Twenty-sixth street, was crowned queen of the West Twenty-sixth street carnival after receiving 54,000 votes in a popularity contest in which a large number of the women of the community were entered.

Second and third places went to Mrs. Frank Mack, Twenty-sixth street and Clifton place, and Mrs. Anna Kalina, Ridgeway avenue and Twenty-sixth street.

A floral wreath was placed upon the head of Mrs. Kvidera by Ald. A. J. Cermak, who made a speech of presentation before thousands of spectators Sunday night. The crowning of the queen was the closing scene of the week's festivities.

TREE LEAVES OVER MILLION

Friends of Late Jurist-Diplomat Estimate Wealth.

FUNERAL HELD THURSDAY.

Body on Way from New York; Relatives Will Confer.

With the arrival today of Mrs. J. D. Rives, a sister, and Mrs. E. R. Waters, a niece of Lambert Tree, who died suddenly in New York, the funeral arrangements of the Chicago jurist-diplomat will be made. The body is on the way from New York.

The funeral unofficially has been set for Thursday, and further details await the conference between Mr. Tree's relatives and friends.

Fortune Over a Million.

That Mr. Tree's fortune, accumulated in Chicago property, will easily top the $1,000,000 mark was declared during the day by Howard G. Grey, a close friend. Mr. Grey is in charge of Mr. Tree's financial affairs in Chicago.

Another former associate of Mr. Tree, John W. Eckhart, said the estate would be close to $4,000,000.

The Iroquois club finance committee during the day passed resolutions of sorrow.

Son Is in England.

In addition to Mrs. Rives Mr. Tree is survived by a brother, Joseph B. Tree of Richmond, Va., and a son, Arthur M. Tree of Warwickshire, England. The brother and son will be unable to attend the funeral, the former on account of extreme feebleness and the latter because of his distanc from Chicago. No word has been received in Chicago from either since Mr. Tree's death.

LEISHMAN WINS WEDDING FEE SUIT

French Matchmaker's Petition for Writ Denied by Pittsburg Judge.

TITLE FOR A DAUGHTER.

Claimed $4,200 as Promised Reward for Arranging Foreign Marriage.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Judge John D. Shafer in Common Pleas court today turned down the appeal of O. E. Bodington, an attorney of Paris, France, for a writ of foreign attachment against John G A. Leishman, United States ambassador to Italy. The court quashed the writ against Leishman, holding that he is only a temporary nonresident of this country while in the service of the United States.

Bodington claimed $4,200 for professional services in adjusting the marriage settlement of the daughter of Mr. Leishman when she became the Countess de Contant Biron. He also claims to have acted in trying a case in relation to the wedding gifts.

Judge Rules Against Lawyer.

Judge Shafer in his opinion said:

"The plaintiff has little ground to enforce an agreement, as it appears that the debt was contracted in France since the departure of Leishman from this state. The argument is that an ambassador presumably is exempt from process of law in the country to which he is accredited. If he be not amenable to legal process here, the creditor would be without a remedy."

The opinion cites a case to the effect that ordinary process is often delayed by the temporary absence of a resident debtor, but that such absence does not subject him to the extraordinary remedy of attachment. The court dismissed the writ.

Bodington Called Go-Between.

It is well remembered here that Bodington was looked on as the go-between in the securing of a title for the accomplished daughter of Mr. Leishman. Many places were searched for a desirable title, and finally Bodington was called in and made good. He got the girl a title and fixed all matters pertaining to the wedding settlement, but claims he didn't get his promised reward.

SEES A CHANCE FOR CHICAGO IN ITS LATENT LOVE OF ART.

Woman Speaking on Architecture Defends City from Attack of Foreign Artist—Buildings Make Fine Show.

Chicago has great possibilities in architecture and has some really artistic buildings despite what Joseph Pennell, the well known etcher, has said, according to Mrs. Lewis B. Powell. Mrs. Powell addressed the Nike club.

The speaker was discussing "The A. B. C. of Architecture" before the club members, who have outlined the study of architecture for the present season. She admitted many of the things said about Chicago by Mr. Pennell are true, but nevertheless prophesied that all this city needs to become a modern Athens in architecture is an arousing of latent love for the artistic.

"Chicago has many noble examples of artistic architecture," Mrs. Powell said. "There are the beautiful columns of the People's Gas Light and Coke company building, the Art institute, many private residences, the Field museum, and other buildings which show that Chicago gives promise of becoming really a home of architecture."

THIS 'HOBBLE' HAS TWO LEGS!

Beautiful but Unidentified Blond Young Woman Wears It.

TROUSERS? SURELY NOT!

"Suffragette Skirt" Makes New York Spectators Gasp.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—She was tall and svelte and blonde, and when she donned the much heralded pearl gray suffragette suit and walked around among the potted plants on the Belvedere roof garden of the Hotel Astor this afternoon those who saw her said they were glad they had come.

She wouldn't give her name, she explained, because if she did some of the newspapers might be careless enough to put her in as a yearner for the ballot, which she wasn't at all.

"I'm just doing this as a favor for the United Ladies' Tailors' association," she said, because they seem to think my figure is adapted to the lines of the model."

Goldilock's at this point fixed her azure orbs upon the tips of her patent leather pumps, which were about an inch and a half in front of the center creases in the cylindrical divisions of the garment that is worn below the suffragette coat.

"Trousers" Not the Right Word.

"O, no; I wouldn't call them trousers," she murmured blushingly, in reply to a question put by an inquirer. "It doesn't sound altogether ladylike, do you think? And besides, it might injure the sale. Why it is really a species of divided skirt, isn't it, M. Zeldman?"

The man appealed to regarded what the fair one was wearing with a smile of gratified pride.

"Quite right, my dear," he said. "I consider it a most conservative as well as a practical walking suit. Why each leg—er, I should say half of it is fully as wide as a whole hobble skirt. It gives much more freedom of motion, doesn't it?"

"Yes, indeed," gurgled the blue eyed one. There isn't the least bit of restraint about it and the pockets are too dear for anything."

Thrusts Hands Into Pockets.

Speaking thus, she thrust her pink finger tips deep down into the repositories for keys and small change which adorned either hip of it, and vaulting lightly to the top of the promenade show block, glided away, followed by several stares of open mouthed admiration.

The Woods Electric for Business Men

SCORES of busy business men are buying Woods Electrics. They minimize time. They annihilate space. They increase a business man's possibilities without extra demand on his physical resources. Moreover, they are restful—they combine business with pleasure. They can be left anywhere and are always ready for instant use. Business men whose offices are in remote sections of the city can come down to the club for lunch and get a change of diet and scene.

Physicians are finding the Woods a mighty clean method of city transportation. They used to think the car hadn't sufficient mileage. But they've changed their minds since using it. It not only has distance but speed, and with its splendid spring suspension it rides like a cradle. There's nothing about it to jar the nerves or irritate the mind. One of the most prominent masters of obstetrics in the city uses a Woods exclusively. He covers a vast amount of territory nightly and daily.

It won't be long before every business and professional man who has much running around to do will have a Woods Electric. This is inevitable. The public at large is just beginning to realize that this car has become a powerful factor in the city's business, professional and social life. For city use there's nothing like it in the world.

It is built magnificently—its construction is standard. It has forty cells of Exide batteries (sixty cells of Edison batteries if you wish them). It has solid rubber tires, and is unquestionably the standard electric car in every solitary detail.

MILLIONAIRE SMUGGLERS, BEWARE!

Last week one of the federal judges holding court in New York City fined a smuggler of great wealth $5,000 for trying to bring $17,000 worth of jewelry into the country without complying with the formalities and making the payment required by law. That created no sensation. The man who was fined—a wealthy candy manufacturer—was not the only beneficiary of the protection given by one or another section of the tariff act who finds fault with the section which gives protection to Americans in the jewelry business and has tried to deprive them of that protection and the government of its dues. There was something startling in the remarks of the judge when he imposed the fine.

He said that he and his two colleagues had consulted and had come to the conclusion that in all future cases of smuggling the offender, whether of high or low degree, should be given a jail sentence as well as a fine. Offenders must suffer in person as well as in pocket.

Reflect on this, millionaires and millionairesses who think cheating the government is an amusing game to play at, and that the sole penalty if a loser is the laughter of friends and the payment of a fine. A jail sentence would be a more serious matter. It would mean being herded with odious criminals, one's social inferiors. That would be unendurable. The woman of wealth who had been subjected to that humiliating experience would become a "jail bird." Her social prestige would go. She would have to fly to Europe and hide herself there.

The judges have hit on the right way to stop smuggling by those who can afford to pay fines and who should be the last to attempt to evade duties. Jail sentences will have more terrors for them than for petty malefactors, and to jail they should go. One dose of it would work a lasting cure.

A SARTORIAL SHOCK.

We have from time to time referred to the social customs of the eastern states as they differ from those of the west. It is an interesting study, and the sociologist of the future who collects these data will have valuable material for a work showing how radically different were the manners of the different sections of the country. Not long since there was reported the appearance of a New York gentleman in Greenwich, Conn., who was garbed in a straw hat, long tailed coat, black trousers, tan shoes, pink socks, and a red tie. This departure from convention was startling enough, but now we have reason to believe that in Connecticut men sleep in their white, starched shirts, for one has just come to his death because the stiff band of his shirt strangled him while he slept.

The habit of sleeping in one's day garments went out in the west many years ago, and the census shows that the use of night shirts or pajamas antedates the Chicago fire. It comes with a shock to learn that Connecticut still clings to older customs.

KEEP THE PEACE IN HONDURAS.

A dispatch from Washington to THE TRIBUNE tells of the sending of a United States gunboat to the port of Amapala, in Honduras. The reason for this is the threat of another revolution.

The present government is headed by President Davila, one of the most intelligent and honest of the Central American rulers. The men who are plotting against him include Policarpo Bonilla and Manuel Bonilla, both former presidents, and Gen. José Valladores, the self-appointed governor of Amapala. All of these men are chronic mischief makers and desperadoes. A revolution headed by them or any one of them would simply result in more loss of life, devastation of the country, and the exchange of a fairly well meaning ruler for an unmitigated tyrant.

Honduras has had sixteen revolutions in fifteen years. Its debt is $100,000,000. A peasant is said to spend less than $2 a year for clothes and imported articles.

It is the imperative moral duty of the United States to check this or any other bogus military revolution in Honduras and guarantee this wretched land peace and the opportunity for orderly development.

GIVE THE BOYS AND GIRLS A CHANCE.

That wise woman, Miss Jane Addams, made a few remarks to an audience at the Sunday Evening club that ought to be made a definite and permanent plank in the platform of municipal reform.

Miss Addams pointed out that the police reports show a shocking number of arrests of young persons under the age of 25. She also declared that in almost all of these instances the young persons arrested had got into trouble through trying to have a good time.

There isn't anything a boy or girl has a better right to than a good time. To have a good time or to try for it is as natural as to be hungry for food and to try to get it.

But Miss Addams knows, and we all know if we stop to think and look about us, that it is not easy for a good many boys and girls, or young men and women even, to get a good time in Chicago or any other great city. There are a good many places that seem to offer a chance for a good time that are not the sort of places that young people who want to keep straight and clean ought to enter. It is the business of the city to shut up such places.

But that is less than half of the duty of the city. If anyone is hungry and is about to eat bad food it is well to prevent it. But it is not enough. The hunger remains.

What Chicago needs is more places of clean entertainment, more places where our boys and girls can go and have a good time. And this ought to be the kind of a good time that young people like, not the kind some older people think they ought to like. There should be plenty of places, well run, to dance in, play games in, get together in. The nickel theaters, properly regulated, are such places, and it is worth noting that Miss Addams approves of them under such regulation. The small parks and park houses are also what are needed, but more are needed.

We could do nothing better worth doing than to supply the children and the young folks with opportunities, easily and cheaply to be had, for having a good time in the right way.

LAMBERT TREE.

Lambert Tree had been prominently identified with the material and social life of Chicago for more than half a century. His death seems like the destruction of a land mark, like the cutting of a link which united the Chicago of the days before the war and the great fire with the Chicago of today.

He had attained enviable prominence at the bar, on the bench, and in the political arena. It was with regret that the community saw him leave the courts. He had the legal knowledge and the sober, dispassionate judgment which go to the making of a good judge. A promising judicial career was open before him and his years on the bench might have equaled those of Judge Gary. His political creed would no more have stood in his way than it did in that of Judge Tuley.

It did stand in the way of his political preferment. As a Democratic candidate for congressional honors he met with defeat. Had he been successful he would have made his mark in either the house or the senate, not, indeed, as a brilliant orator but as a man of wide information and sound views.

He was one of the wise and trusted counselors of his party in this state as long as it held to its old faiths. When it abandoned them in 1896 it lost him. When loyalty to the party organization meant disloyalty to the interests of the country there was but one course open to him. He did all he could, and it was much, for the cause of sound money.

Mr. Tree was proud of Chicago. He played well his part in promoting its material and artistic development. As in public life he had the respect of all, so in private life he won the warm regard of all who came in contact with him. He made no enemies, but he left a host of friends to deplore their personal loss and that civic loss involved in the death of a good citizen.

RAISE THE TRACKS.

There has been, during the last three years a lamentable increase in the number of accidents at the grade crossings of steam railroads. The cause is not far to seek. It can be found in the great growth of population in those parts of the city where these casualties have occurred. Crossings which were once traversed by only a small number of people are now traversed by hundreds. It is not surprising that the record of the Illinois Central should be a bad one when we consider how rapidly that part of the city where it has grade crossings in filling up.

The remedy is at hand. It is track elevation. Every road which has tracks on the surface within the city limits should be required to put them up. As they went up accidents would become less frequent, as was the case after track elevation had been started and the more dangerous crossings eliminated.

Until the work shall have been completed the railroads should be obliged to build gates and station watchmen at every crossing. The city has but to order and the companies have no choice but to obey.

SMOKE AND ART.

Art has paid its compliment to Chicago smoke. Joseph Pennell, the etcher, who is here to help immortalize whatever is picturesque in our mills and sky line, cannot find words adequately to express his feelings when he saw what the smoke from the Illinois Central did to Michigan boulevard. There is an obscurity which has an artistic value—morning mists, a fog, twilight, but nothing which the Illinois Central can do in the smoke line appeals to Mr. Pennell. It does not improve that with which it comes in contact, nor does it produce ideal conditions for the artist.

Hear also what Music saith. The advance guard of singers for the opera season arrived last Sunday. They were in despair. Already their throats were affected by what they called "the weather." Chicago weather is as good for singers' throats as any other. It is the smoke. Twelve hours' breathing upon the lake front will result in a deposit of soot in the throat and lungs which will defy any specialist to remove so long as the patient remains in the smoke belt.

WOMAN WORKERS AND LOAN SHARKS.

We read every little while the story of some man who has fallen into the hands of the loan sharks and been bled to exhaustion by them. Seldom, if ever, do we hear of women meeting a similar fate. Yet there must be many. Perhaps we do not hear of them because women submit more meekly to the exactions of the money lenders than men do.

So we can commend heartily the design of the Women's Trade Union league to come to the aid of necessitous working women. The league will warn those women of the dangers which lurk in the plausible offers of "small loans on easy terms" which appear in the little handbill so freely distributed by would-be lenders. They are the invitation of the spider to the fly to "come into my chamber."

The league contemplates something besides the giving of good advice. It plans the creation of a loan fund—the larger the better—from which small advances could be made to women who, because of sickness or from some other reason, were in immediate need of money.

The only feature of an otherwise admirable project to which exception can be taken is that no interest is to be charged borrowers. That is kindly meant, but it would not be businesslike. A reasonable interest charge would cover necessary expenses and would keep the fund intact—might even swell it. The originators of the plan should bear in mind that there will be an occasional borrower who will not make good, and that in that way the fund would be gradually dissipated. Furthermore, a loan without interest would have a tinge of charity which some workers would not relish. They would be glad to pay 6 per cent interest instead of the 60 or 40 they might otherwise blindly agree to pay.

A loan fund for working women intelligently administered and carefully conserved would be of great value to the most helpless class of city workers.

AFTER a long and bloody war Wisconsin finally succeeded in conquering John Dietz without the aid of federal troops.

A MAN possessed of tireless energy, abundant experience, keen perceptive faculties, and a long purse may succeed in buying good apples in the market now.

THE powers that be will pardon us, we trust, for calling their attention to the fact that an unusually large number of journeyman burglars are working industriously at their trade in this city at the present time.

MANY a man who has no trouble in classifying himself politically will hesitate when asked to tell what his religion is.

IN Wisconsin, after a struggle lasting six or eight years, the Dietz brand of insurgency seems to have been put down.

Machinations of the Enemy.

"Mort, how did you vote?" asked his wife.

"Didn't vote at all, darn it!" exclaimed Mortimer Clugston, editor and proprietor of the Spiketown Blizzard, throwing his hat on the lounge. "Just as I was about to leave the office old Lafe McSquiggan, who owed me $16.50 on subscription, dropped in and paid up. Took him so long to do it that when I got over to the voting place the polls was closed. Blamed if I don't think it was a put up job!"

"You know, of course," said the man in the mackintosh, "that you can teach a crow to talk."

Silence gave negation to this proposition.

"It's so, any how," he persisted; "but if you slit his tongue straight down the middle, lengthwise, he can talk a good deal better. Why, I've seen that thing tested. A neighbor of mine, a college professor, had a crow that could speak several words. He had its tongue slit, and when the tongue got well the bird could say almost anything the professor wanted it to say."

"Did it perch upon the bust of Pallas, just above the ——"

"Cut that out! I'm telling you something that actually took place."

"Did the bird talk itself to death?"

"Did it talk the professor to death?"

"Could it sing two parts?"

"Did it use words that had a double——"

"Gentlemen," interrupted the man in the mackintosh, "you make me intensely weary. The professor, it is true, gave the bird away. A bartender has it now."

"What was the trouble?" inquired the man with the green goggles.

"He couldn't make it talk grammatically. It split its infinitives."

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1910: By the Brentwood company.]

ARMAND DE CHAPELLE DE JUMILHAC, Duc de Richelieu, who is also Duc de Fronsac and Marquis de Jumilhac, is now in this country once more and is staying quietly in New York, without making use of any of his titles, and merely styling himself "Jean Chapelle," which latter name is one of his patronymics. He is short, like his father, the late duke; is 35 years of age, has a strong strain of Hebrew blood in his veins, and is a son of the only American woman who has ever attained sovereign rank abroad and has shared a European throne. For his mother was Alice Heine, a native of New Orleans, daughter of the New Orleans banker, Michael Heine, and on becoming the widow of the second Duke of Richelieu she married the present ruler of Monaco, Prince Albert, from whom she is, however, now parted by a judicial separation.

The dukedom of Richelieu was first created in favor of the great cardinal of that name, who played so notable a rôle in the French history of the seventeenth century and who at his death bequeathed, with the king's permission, his dukedom of Richelieu and of Fronsac to his grandnephew, that is to say, the grandson of his sister, Françoise. This grandnephew was Jean Armand de Vigneret. His son was the famous Marshal Duc de Richelieu, who figured so prominently in European history during the latter half of the eighteenth century as a soldier, as a statesman, and as a courtier, and who, although so illiterate that he was scarcely able to write his name, managed nevertheless to secure his election as a member of the French academy at the early age of 24.

The boon companion of the regent Duke of Orleans, his long life of 84 years was crowded from the time of his marriage at the age of 14 with extraordinary adventures, embodied in memoirs written after his death, and which, though correct in most of their facts, were nevertheless not in any sense his work, and cannot be described, therefore, as authentic.

His grandson was that Duke Emmanuel de Richelieu who, emigrating to Russia at the time of the revolution, was the favorite of Empress Catherine, and founded the city of Odessa, where his statue today occupies a prominent place. At the time of the restoration in France he returned to Paris and became in turn minister of foreign affairs and prime minister. Dying unmarried and without issue in 1822, he was succeeded by his nephew, the son of his younger brother, who held the dukedom for a few months only, and who died in turn, leaving an only daughter of the name of Simplicia. She married Antoine, Marquis de Jumilhac, and by virtue of a royal patent bearing the date of Dec. 19, 1822, King Louis XVIII. revived her father's titles of Duke of Richelieu and Duke of Fronsac in favor of her husband. The present Duc de Richelieu is his grandson.

The Jumilhac family was founded in the early part of the sixteenth century, when Antoine Chapelle was ennobled under the name of "de Jumilhac," the marquisate of Jumilhac being created in 1655.

The present duke was engaged at one time to Mlle. Pauline de St. Sauveur, but the match was broken off. As he has only one sister, married to Count Gabriel de la Rochefoucauld, he is destined to become rich one day as the part heir of the enormous fortune bequeathed to his mother, Princess Alice of Monaco, by her banker father, Michael Heine of New Orleans. Let me add that he does not belong to any of the leading Parisian clubs, and is little seen either in clubland or in society.

Emperor William, by presenting the city and seaport of Kiel with a statue of the famous French admiral, the Duc de Coligny, a reproduction of the one which he erected some time ago in the square opposite the royal palace at Berlin, calls attention to the fact that he is descended from this most heroic figure of the French navy. The grand admiral of France, whose father was field marshal of France and his mother a member of the illustrious French house of de Montmorency, was killed with thousands of his co-religionists on the occasion of the massacre of the Huguenots on the night of St. Bartholomew at Paris. He left an only daughter, Louise, whose first husband was slain on that same fateful night by her father's side. Subsequently she married William of Orange, surnamed "the Silent," stadtholder of the Netherlands, as his fourth wife. He, too, was murdered, almost in her arms.

Of her marriage with him there was one son, Henry Frederick of Orange, whose only child, a daughter, christened Louise, after her grandmother, Louise de Coligny, became the consort of the great elector of Brandenburg. The elector was the father of Frederick, first king of Prussia, and it is by reason of this descent that the kaiser, among his many titles, bears that of Prince of Orange and has rights to the throne of Holland, which, according to some, are superior to those of Queen Wilhelmina. Emperor William has never laid any stress upon these rights. But such as they are, they remain in existence, and he might invoke them if any great European war involving Holland, either as a belligerent or as a neutral, were to cause him to seize the Netherlands.

Persia's new regent, who will rule that much troubled country throughout the minority of the extremely young shah, is Abdul Kassim Khan, who was educated almost wholly in England and is a graduate of Balliol college, Oxford, where he had among his fellow students Lord Curzon, Lord Milner, and a number of other men prominent in English life. He has already held cabinet office on several occasions, has been repeatedly sent abroad on foreign missions, and is a man of about 53, with a far higher sense of honor than any of his countrymen, who, possibly with his exception, are all born liars.

That the kaiser sometimes confers the title of prince, of duke, and even of count, ad personam, that is to say, merely for life, has been described on more than one occasion in these letters. Few people are, however, aware that he sometimes bestows patents of nobility, giving the right not to the title but to the predicate of "von" for life. In fact, to receive a patent of nobility from the kaiser, in his capacity of king of Prussia, does not necessarily mean that either the predicate or the title thus granted is hereditary. Thus August Hofmann, the celebrated Berlin chemist, received the predicate of "von" for himself at the beginning of the kaiser's reign in 1888, and it was only two years later—namely: on the 13th of August, 1890, that the nobility was, by a new patent, made hereditary, and that his sons and daughters were thereby authorized to prefix the nobiliary particule of "von" to their names.

Edmund Parish, the well known lawyer of Frankfort-on-the-Main, received a patent of nobility ad personam from Emperor William in December, 1898, and not until twelve months later was it made hereditary, being restricted, however, to two of his three sons, the third, Oscar by name, having meanwhile received the title of baron from the emperor of Austria.

The object of the kaiser in thus restricting the nobiliary patents and titles to the persons upon whom they are bestowed is to avoid dignities of this kind coming into the possession of worthless sons. A notable instance of this has been the case of old Count Munster, who was Germany's principal representative at the first peace congress of The Hague. His eldest son was a spendthrift and a ne'er-do-well, who died in an insane asylum near Vienna. The emperor, therefore, when he bestowed the title of prince upon the old ambassador, granted it ad personam, and it became extinct with his death, but was revived a couple of years ago in favor of his younger son, Alexander Munster, married to a sister of the Earl of Kinnoull.

RAILROAD CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—May I emphasize in the strongest manner what W. W. Davis says in the issue of Sept. 21, concerning the number of disasters at railroad crossings? "Not one is necessary." "Cornfields, hills, and other excuses are childish." Are life and limb of too little value for the driver to get out and go and see if the coast is clear? Or are the few minutes that may be gained so valuable that he must risk lives and limbs for them? It seems to me there should be a law requiring him to look and see if the way is clear, the same as a street car conductor. CORNING.

The Westlake Fence Posts.

[By an unknown poet, possibly the eminent author J. F. Dorgan.]

At last we have a perfect fence post—
We mean just what we say,
For now we use cement for posts,
Westlake posts have come to stay.

Some white oak posts are often made
And some are made of cast,
But concrete lays them all in the shade,
For they will forever last.

Some posts are also made of cedar,
But soon they, too, will rot away,
So we use cement, the leader,
For they never, never can decay.

Westlake posts have the hitch that's strong,
It is so cheap and so easily made,
The fence being attached while walking along
And without the hammer or pliers' aid.

Westlake's end post makes sure of a tension
Which we know in erecting good fence we need,
For the cold in contraction and heat in expansion
We surely, most surely must heed.

The Westlake's fastening is of clever contriving
And the farmers should notice while recognizing
That the fence is attached without staple driving
And without even breaking the galvanizing.

THE NORTH WOODS IN OCTOBER.

IV.—THE BEAR TRACK.

In the softest, most sandy part of the road you see it indistinctly after the settler has pointed it out. It is barely perceptible. You would have passed and repassed it without observing, or, by chance observing, without consideration. There is a print as if a pad had been placed lightly down and it is fringed at one side by dents—toe marks. The settler shows you that it is not deeply marked like a dog's track. It is wider and longer and much lighter.

A few hours before there had been a heavy rainfall. The visitor who skirted the edge of the clearing, used the road for a couple of rods, and went into the brush had been along since then. The settler is mildly interested in knowing whether he turned toward the house, a hundred yards away, or went toward the lake. A few steps farther in the sandy soil brings you to another track, and then another, but no more and no hint as to Mr. Bear's purpose in life at that time and place.

The settler hazards the opinion that he would weigh at least a hundred pounds. You had been feeling a bit Rooseveltish until you were handed that information. You had been standing in reverent contemplation of the tracks of a free and untrammeled Bear—one which went where he pleased without a ring in his nose and an Italian artist to conduct him; one with no bars to restrain him and no tree stump to climb for the better catching of buns. Until that destructive remark about the hundred pounds was made T. R. did not have much advantage over you—merely a matter of a few elephants, some lions, a singing topi or two, and a few other inconsiderable beasts.

You stand in the presence of Bear track not more than three hours old. You remembered the choicest story in the third book of your early reading—the one about the bold frontiersman's wife who in the absence of her hardy husband was cooped up in the loghouse by a ravenous and bloodthirsty bear. Husband had the trusty rifle, and little Willie and innocent Ruth must be protected against the assaults of this savage housebreaker, who had stuck his snout through the two narrow windows and who now was battering at the stout oak door with his tremendous paws.

Little Willie and innocent Ruth would be bear fodder shortly unless the brave wife could fight off the snarling intruder. On the stove stands the dishpan filled with boiling water. The frugal midday meal has just been eaten. The brave wife, desperation giving her resourcefulness, seizes a dipper and through a chink in the door ladles that boiling water on the invader. Exit brute with howls of misery. Soon a shot rings out at the edge of the clearing and then comes hardy husband staggering under the carcass of him who came to eat and remained to be eaten. Happy family dine on bear all winter.

There was what might be called, in the language of the sporting department, some bear. But a hundred pounds! If that bruin should pop out of the brush he'd have to identify himself, and you would not be inclined to take his word for it. You would want to see his recommendations from his last employer. If you offered combat he probably would require you to make his weight, and you could not do it. Even your esteemed fellow townsman, Battling Nelson, who dislikes to get down to 133 ringside, could not do it and stand on his feet. And the bear would put for the brush again with the curt advice that you hunt around for something in your own class.

It was discouraging to think of this in connection with your first bear track. The settler's wife, with a little Willie in her arms, intimated that she would take the rolling pin to the visitor if he came snooping around her kitchen, but the settler was more determined. He said he would fill him full of bird shot. Some doubts about this man Roosevelt begin to arise.

But after all it was a bear track, and you do not find them in State street.

IN THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

Changes Planned by Episcopalians.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10.—The house of bishops today decided that Jews who have been converted to the Episcopal faith may continue Jewish rites and practices, provided that they do so for moral or sanitary reasons, but not as a matter of religion. The bishops also discussed proposals to revise the church's canons on marriage and divorce. The matter was made a special order for Thursday. The present canons forbid the remarriage in the church of divorced persons.

No longer will Episcopalians in their prayers on Good Friday refer to "Jews, Turks, infidels, and heretics." A resolution to alter the phrase to read "those who are without the true faith" was introduced a few days ago in the convention and received a favorable vote today. There will have to be further technical legislation before the change becomes effective, but final passage is assured.

"Do not try to convert them at all, but be just to them," was the reply of the Rev. William Grosvenor of New York to a committee report on "How to convert Jews to the Episcopal faith." The committee recommended that "not to teach the Jews morals but to teach them that Jesus is the true Messiah" should be the object of the church.

Mr. Grosvenor opposed the report, saying in part:

"The Jew knows what the Christian has been to him through the centuries. He has been herded into pales and ghettos and suffered inquisition and persecution. In America he is doing his best to fit into American institutions. After the Jews have enjoyed a long period of Christian mercy, justice, and brotherly love, then the Christian church may well look to them for converts."

Action on the report was deferred.

One of the first matters decided by the house of deputies was that of dividing the diocese of Pittsburg. It was said that the diocese is too large and unwieldy and that it should be divided into two jurisdictions. When the question was put to the delegates it was unanimously voted that the change be made. Favorable action on the matter is also expected from the house of bishops.

Congregationalists Open Council.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—Thousands of Congregationalists from all sections of the United States, together with missionaries of the denomination from all parts of the pagan world, met in Tremont temple tonight for the formal opening of the triennial national council of Congregational churches and the coöperating societies of the denomination.

Only a comparatively small portion of the 7,000 delegates and visitors attending the council were able to gain admission to the opening meeting.

Thomas C. MacMillan of Illinois, the retiring moderator of the national council, presided over the meeting. Following a brief devotional service, addresses of welcome were made by Gov. Eben S. Draper, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, and the Rev. Dr. A. Z. Conrad, pastor of the Park Street church. The retiring moderator responded to the greetings and the meeting closed with prayer and benediction.

Start Building for Revival.

Work on a temporary building with a seating capacity of 5,000 persons was begun yesterday at Evanston, Leland and Racine avenues. It will be used by Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander, who are to hold central meetings in connection with the simultaneous evangelist campaign which opens Oct. 16. Work on a similar auditorium in Austin, at Indiana street, just east of Pine street, will begin soon.

Announcement was made by A. B. Clark, chairman of the building committee, to the layman's evangelistic council that arrangements had been made to use the Casino restaurant at the White City for the south side's central meetings, and if the crowd justifies an overflow meeting will be arranged in the ballroom.

HALF HOURS WITH THE STARS.

BY MARY PROCTOR.

"Ten thousand stars were in the sky,
Ten thousand in the sea,
For every wave with dimpled face
That leaped upon the air
Had caught a star in its embrace
And held it trembling there."
AMELIA B. WELBY.

In a new book, entitled: "Bound the Year with the Stars," by Garrett P. Serviss, it is suggested that a novel way to study the stars is by looking at them in a mirror. The mirror must be freshly silvered and clean, and will prove a great convenience for looking at the bright stars overhead.

It is the principle of the hand mirrors used by visitors at the Vatican palace to view with comfort the magnificent paintings by Michael Angelo on the ceiling in the Sistine chapel. Just as it is possible to note every detail of these paintings at leisure while gazing into the mirror, so are we enabled to find renewed pleasure in the glories of Vega and Altair, which are now drifting westward as they leave their exalted position near the zenith. They will seem "less remote and more comprehensible when their living image is inclosed in a frame, which you can hold on your lap like an album. There is something startling in the sight of the starry heavens under your feet."

The writer had a practical illustration of this one starlit night, while gliding in a canoe over the placid surface of Lake Geneva, when it was as smooth as a sheet of polished steel. Each bright star overhead was reflected in veiled beauty in the Lake Geneva mirror below, and as we approached the center of the lake, the sensation was weird and eerie in the extreme, for we seemed to be actually suspended in aerial space midway between the stars overhead and their reflected images below. Drifting over the Milky Way, or silver river of heaven, we moored our craft on the northeast shore, beyond the twinkling light of Capella, merged in the reflected beacon lights on the shore, which blended with those of the sky. In the silence of the night the impression conveyed is one of nearness to the stars. In the language of Emerson: "Night brings no gloom to the heart with its welcome shade. Through the transparent darkness the stars pour their almost spiritual rays. Man under them seems a young child and his huge globe a toy."

On arriving at the observatory, preparatory to enjoying a glimpse of the stars through the forty inch refractor, owing to the kind invitation of Prof. E. E. Barnard, the writer glanced over in the direction of Lake Geneva, which by this time was partially veiled in mist. As a result the outline of sky and lake seemed blended in one, so that the twinkling lights on the shore seemed actually stars forming part of the constellations low down in the eastern horizon.

Looking overhead while awaiting the appointed time for entering the dome, it was interesting to watch the solemn procession of gleaming stars as viewed from a position commanding an unobstructed view of the sky. It was as ideal an observing station as the upper deck of a steamer, which was often used in this way by the late Prof. Simon Newcomb. The writer can never forget his remarks on the subject several years ago on the occasion of the dedication of the Flower observatory, Pennsylvania:

"I never felt a more delicious sense of repose than when crossing the ocean during the summer months. I could find a place on deck, where I could be alone and enjoy the starlit heavens. Looking up at Lyra, with Vega near the zenith, while listening to the clank, clank of the engines, I tried to calculate the hundreds of millions of years our ship would require if it made the journey to Vega."

As a matter of fact, this star is among the most interesting in the sky, as it nearly marks or seems to mark, according to some authorities, the point toward which our sun with its family of planets is traveling.

Walking along the observatory roof in the direction of the dome where Prof. Barnard was at work the writer's attention was attracted by vibrating streamers reaching upward from the northern sky and enveloping the lower part of the Great Dipper in a silvery haze somewhat brighter than the Milky Way. The streamers were specially bright under the handle of the Great Dipper, one reaching far beyond the central star and alternately brightening and fading from view. The auroral arch itself was faint and low, seeming to be partially below the horizon. Its beauty was evanescent and excelled by the display observed two or three weeks earlier, when the whole northern horizon was aglow with a glorious greenish blue light reaching upward nearly half way to the pole star, the auroral streamers forming and disappearing like pennants fluttering in the breeze.

Never, however, has the writer been able to see the magnificent crimson curtains in the west and brilliant colors in other parts of the sky, described by Prof. Barnard as seen by him at Nashville, Tenn., at the time of the great aurora of April 16, 1882. In his account given of observations of the aurora, made at the Yerkes observatory, during the years intervening between 1902 and 1909, he grows eloquent in describing a magnificent aurora which was observed by him on Oct. 18, 1909.

"This," he says, "was one of the finest auroras I have seen here. Never before have I seen the brilliant prismatic color effects which burst out on the forming of the curtains. I was strongly impressed with the resemblance of some of the streamers to comet's tails. They would shoot up, sometimes slender, and then diffuse into broad, wavy masses moving west." Elsewhere in the article he describes the "fantastic masses dancing all over the northern heavens to the zenith, beautiful curtains of bluish white with strong prismatic colors, waving and moving bodily to the east. This greatest display of the evening lasted only a minute or two, and was one of the grandest I have ever seen."

With this description in mind, the writer was disappointed with the comparatively feeble glimmer in the northern sky. Yet on informing Prof. Barnard of its presence, he considered it worth his while to leave the contemplation of the planet Saturn for a few moments to watch the display, after which the glories of the ringed planet once more claimed his attention, but the writer's account of her view of the planet on this occasion will be reserved for another "Half Hour with the Stars."

THERE ARE WOMEN STANDPATTERS.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There was a chance to have made history in the Sixth senatorial district, a chance to have defeated corrupt politics, a chance to have advanced the woman's cause a score of years by running a woman for the Illinois legislature. However, it but proves our humanity that like the man's movement, now well established, we, too, have standpatters, conservatives, and all stages of insurgency among the women. It was our misfortune that the only available candidate in the Sixth district belongs to the class who believe in the time honored methods even if they are ineffectual. In time we shall learn that we cannot expect conservative women to lead progressive movements.

I am not anxious to see women in politics, except to guard their rights and interests. I hope we will play more the part of the reserve force that will swing in the right direction when a moral crisis is on.

With regard to the woman candidate I do not think we have failed. A man will leave his sweetheart, his wife, family, all his interests when his country calls; perhaps in time the world will demand the same of woman when by so doing she can serve the larger family of the state. However, the idea is now lodged in the public mind that women ought to represent women in the legislature, for the men are too busy with the interests of their constituency and their own personal interests to look after our wants and needs. It is more than likely that the suffragists will combine in the coming campaign, for after all we are working for civic righteousness. It is well to realize that we women are here for "better or worse" until the crack of doom. I would that we might become conscious factors in the struggle and not be forever relegated to the task of dabbling in "influence," and backstairs politics. At its own peril does the government condemn us to this course. BELLE SQUIRE.

ASKS NEW SYSTEM FOR BRIDEWELL

Merriam Report Urges Taking Control Away from Board of Inspectors.

WANTS OTHER CHANGES.

Would Abolish John Worthy School and Put Inmates in Charge of State.

The most sweeping changes so far recommended by the Merriam commission in any branch of the city government were urged in its report on the house of correction which was sent to the city council last evening.

Such extravagance, negligence, and bad management were found that the commission urged that the present method of government through a board of three inspectors be abolished and the institution be made a part of some branch of the city government with the superintendent under civil service.

The subject of influence was brought up in connection with the leather industry. The report stated that for several years all leather and shoe shop supplies have been purchased exclusively from a company organized by John A. Cooke, William J. Cooke, and Samuel Panama, three lieutenants of United States Senator Lorimer. This company also benefited from the low prices charged for the services of convicts furnished it by contract.

Recommendations in Report.

Other recommendations were:

That in awarding contracts for leather to be used in shop and for other supplies, the lowest responsible bidder be given the contract.

That negotiations be opened with federal, state, and county authorities with a view to increase rate by day paid for keeping prisoners.

That the system of accounting for product of the brick yard and stone quarry be changed so as to provide for complete record of quantities turned out each day.

That all the city's laundry work should be done at the house of correction.

That coal be purchased under modern specifications, system of testing be employed and bills of lading be required on delivery at institution.

Concerning the management of the bridewell the report said:

"The present method whereby each of the inspectors may exercise his judgment in rewarding or censuring the subordinates has caused much dissatisfaction among employés by creating the impression that advancement in salary and position is more dependent upon friendship with one or more of the inspectors than upon faithful service."

Would Abolish John Worthy School.

The second most important recommendation was that the John Worthy school be abolished by transferring the boy convicts to state corrective schools or that the control of the school be transferred entirely to the board of education instead of its being split between that body and the board of inspectors as at present.

ASK HERESY FOE TO RESIGN

Trustees Say the Rev. W. A. Matthews Quit by Request.

DISCLOSE SECRET TROUBLE.

Tabernacle Baptist Deacons Blame Pastor's "Insubordination."

Inside facts of a long secret fight to oust the Rev. W. A. Matthews from the pastorate of Tabernacle Baptist church, culminating in the request for his resignation, were disclosed yesterday by members of the ruling bodies.

Dr. Matthews' announcement that he had resigned his pulpit to found a school to down "heresy" among Baptists proved the inciting cause for the trustees and deacons telling their version of the relations between them and their minister.

Trustees Cite Objections.

In seeking the severance of relations with Dr. Matthews two months ago these were the objections made by the trustees:

Overwrought mentality.

Attacks against the University of Chicago.

Denunciation of "unrecognized heresy" throughout the Baptist churches of the state.

Insubordination to the wishes of the church members and officials.

Clash of Temperaments.

"The fight of Dr. Matthews against Prof. Foster had nothing to do with our request to him to resign," said Emory S. Hall, secretary of the board of deacons. "It simply was a case of 'incompatibility of temperament' between the officers and their pastor."

"The congregation was behind us by the running down in attendance at services," said H. W. Ralph, a trustee. "At the last services about sixty persons were present."

Dr. Matthews, when reached at his residence in the evening, insisted that his resignation had been made of his free will.

At the church rulers' meeting two months ago, nineteen of the twenty voted for a change of pastors. The twentieth trustee was absent.

OPEN POLICE SCHOOL TODAY.

Twenty-eight Recruits Sworn In and Assistant Instructors Are Appointed.

Chief of Police Steward will formally open the new school of instruction for patrolmen recruits at the Shakspeare avenue station at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The chief, Elton Lower, and a representative of the law department will address the first group of students—twenty-eight—who were sworn in yesterday.

William A. Byrne, who passed first on the civil service eligible list with an average of 94.48, was among those who took the oath. He resigned from the fire department, in which he was a truckman, in order to join the police force.

Maj. John Bauder, who will have charge of the drill work, will have as his assistants three sergeants—John Martin, Joseph Kilgore, and Frank Matchett.

Seeks Custody of Child.

A legal fight for the custody of Winfield Lockard, 10 years old, was begun before Judge Gibbons yesterday by his parents, who are divorced. The father seeks possession of the child.

'SIMPLE' SCHOOLS A $500,000 SAVING

New Architectural Policy May Be Justified by Urion's Coming Report.

CAN BUILD MORE BETTER.

Coal Committee Denies Favors Have Been Given to City Fuel Company.

A half million dollars saved in the erection of public school buildings during the present year as compared with the year 1909 is the record of efficiency President Alfred R. Urion will report next Wednesday to the Chicago board of education. A statement of comparative costs will be presented. The report may presume to be a justification of the discharge in February of former Architect Dwight H. Perkins and the adoption of "simplified" school buildings.

19 More Class Rooms at Less Cost.

The special report compared the record of the architect's department for the six months from March 1 to Sept. 1 of the present year with the entire year of 1909.

The statement in part is as follows:

	1909.	1910.
Contracts let	$1,550,964.00	$1,255,924.00
Classrooms	170	189
Cost per room	$9,123.00	$6,645.00
Pupils	8,500	9,450
Cost per pupil	$182.46	$132.90

The figures show an average saving per classroom of $2,478, and a total saving on the 189 classrooms of $468,342. The total amount of contracts let during 1909, including alterations, was $1,973,102, and for the six months' period in 1910, $1,339,924. The total expenses of the architect's department for 1909 was $95,740, and for the six months' period of the present year, $29,792.

On this basis, the saving in the department for the present year will be approximately $36,000. During the present year the cost of drawing plans and superintending erection of buildings has been cut squarely in two.

Finest System of Schools in Future.

"I think economical construction and maintenance will show the business efficiency basis on which the school system is run," said President Urion. "We are building good schools, as good for practical purposes as ever have been erected in Chicago. It means that we can build more schools, and at the rate we are going it will be only a few years when Chicago will have the best system of schools in any large city in the United States."

The charge of the Chicago bureau of public efficiency that the fuel specifications of the coal committee of the board were drawn to favor the City Fuel company by providing that bidders should maintain coal yards in the district on which they bid, or an adjoining district, was denied by President Urion and Frank I. Bennett, chairman of the committee. The committee invited in Director Herbert R. Sands that it might be explained to him the clause in the specifications and the misjudgment of his assistants who attended the meeting when the specifications were drawn.

ORIGINAL PLAYLET TO MARK ZEISLER'S SILVER WEDDING.

Literary and Musical Folk Will Satire Present Day Feminine Fashions at New "Stunt."

A dramatic sketch dealing with the silver wedding anniversary of Sigmund Zeisler and Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler, written by Miss Margaret Benton Cooke, with members of the "Little Room" in the various rôles, will be presented at the Zeisler residence, 5749 Woodlawn avenue, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 18. At the same time a number of Chicagoans, well known in musical and literary circles, will appear in feminine costume and furnish a satire on modern fashions.

"Stunts" at the Zeisler home are well known for their originality, and Mrs. Bloomfield-Zeisler said yesterday something "somewhat impromptu" would be given. Hamlin Garland, Ralph Clarkson, Lorado Taft, and Mode Wineman are expected to take part in the affair.

A musical and dancing are scheduled to take place during the evening.

Prominent Musicians Endorse The Autopiano

HAVE you failed to investigate what the Autopiano can do—because someone with "superior" knowledge has referred to all player-pianos as mechanical? Read what some of the world's most celebrated artists say about it:

Tetrazzini says: "The AUTOPIANO is a blessing to humanity. It should be in every home, for it brings with it the culture and refinement which only the compositions of the great masters afford. I find I can play the great operas with the same feeling and expression with which I sing them. I love to play it—it is wonderful—there is no player piano to equal it."

Dallier says: "I was almost made to believe that it was a celebrated pianist who was interpreting, in a faultless manner, etc."

Cummings says: "Before I played the Autopiano I had no conception of its possibilities."

Carasa says: "I derive more enjoyment out of my Autopiano than words can express, and it is invaluable to me in my operatic work."

Trabadelo says: "Your piano gives a complete illusion of the symphony."

Alice Verlet says: "What a consolation in weary hours is the Autopiano. It is perfection."

Garden says: "I was much pleased to listen to your rendition on the Autopiano, which is the height of ingenuity, when it comes to playing the piano by means of a music roll. Your instrument follows thoroughly the interpretation of the performer, giving a dignified reading of the classics. By your system for accenting the melody, one is led to imagine hearing the velvety touch of a Paderewski, and seems to live and breathe."

Why not let us give you a free demonstration? In addition to our regular concerts, to which you are invited, impromptu concerts will be given at your pleasure, with thousands of music rolls from which to select your program.

Don't be an Ape!

Our ancestors were born that way. But we—aren't we apes, too? Aren't we forever trying to be "as good as" somebody else who has a little bit more than we have? And is that a good thing? Some say "yes," some "no." Some call it civilization; others call it extravagance. Still others blame it for the high cost of living. What are you going to do about it in your home? This question is vital. Read what is said by

HALLBERG HOUSE SOLD FOR $60,000

W. S. Mason Buys the Ridge Avenue Residence, in Which He Will Live.

GRAND BOULEVARD DEALS

Sale of One Site Between 39th and 40th Streets to Result in $100,000 Flat Building.

The Gustav Hallberg residence at 1407 Ridge avenue, Evanston, has been sold by Mr. Hallberg to William S. Mason for a reported consideration of $60,000. The grounds are of unusual size, having a frontage of 327 feet on Grenwood street, 224 feet on Oak avenue, and 224 feet on Ridge avenue.

In part payment Mr. Mason conveyed the five residences, with a total frontage of 200 feet on Grove street and 100 feet deep, and which returns an annual rent of over $5,000.

It is understood that Mr. Hallberg has rented another residence and will give possession about Oct. 20. Mr. Mason will make extensive alterations and expects to move into his new house about May 1 next. R. Clarence Brown and the office of Mason & Smart represented Mr. Mason, and Mr. Wheeler of Baird & Warner Mr. Hallberg.

Another interesting transaction has been closed in the Suffern tract, involving the entire frontage on both sides of Cortez street between Oakley and Western, and comprising about five acres of ground. It has been sold for the estate of Thomas Suffern by William Preston of W. D. Kerfoot & Co. to John Brockman for $20,000. Mr. Brockman, who is a builder, will sell most of the Western avenue frontage for business uses and will improve the remainder of the tract with two flat buildings.

Two Big Grand Boulevard Deals.

Two transactions just closed on Grand boulevard between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets involve the probable construction of large apartment buildings. In one of the deals Frank N. Derby sold to William H. Barry the vacant 100x140 feet of ground at the southeast corner of the boulevard and Thirty-ninth street. The price is withheld, but it is reported to have been about $35,000.

Mr. Barry, who has been an extensive builder of apartment houses in the Wilson avenue district on the north side, will improve with a twenty-four flat building of three rooms each with disappearing furniture and kitchenettes, to cost about $100,000.

The other transaction involves the sale by the estate of Agnes T. Soutter of New York City to Lambert C. Wieland of 112½x150, east front, between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets, the consideration being withheld. Mr. Wieland is said not to have decided definitely regarding the improvement of his purchase, but it is thought he probably will improve with a large apartment building. The deal was negotiated by W. D. Kerfoot & Co.

Loan of $200,000 Secured.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company has made a loan of $200,000, five years, at 4½ per cent, to Luther W. Bodman, secured by the property at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Randolph street, 88.8x96, improved with six story and basement building.

In connection with the sale of the property at 1519 Wabash avenue Joseph Theurer has conveyed to Benjamin J. Rosenthal the three story brick residence at the northeast corner of Schiller and Astor streets, with lot 21x105 feet, the consideration in the deed being nominal. The property was secured by Mr. Theurer from William Wrigley Jr. about a year ago as part payment for residence property owned by Mr. Theurer. Mr. Rosenthal has sold the property to William R. Dickinson at a reported consideration of $30,000. Cremin & O'Connor made the sale.

The property at the southwest corner of Berkeley avenue and Forty-second place, 51x121 feet, with nine apartment building, was first conveyed by the Chicago Title and Trust company to Myrtle Moffett of Armstrong county, Pa., for $40,000, subject to incumbrance of $16,000, and then conveyed to Hans W. Hendrickson of Montevideo, Minn., for a nominal consideration.

The New York Life Insurance company has made a loan of $125,000, five years, at 5 per cent, to Albert Fuchs, secured by the Chateau apartment, and 243x252 feet of ground at the southwest corner of Clarendon avenue and Sheridan road.

Store and Flats Sold.

John S. Schmitt has sold to Bertha Edelson the store and flat property in West Chicago avenue, fifty feet east of Ashland avenue, with 50x123 feet of ground, north front, for $23,500, subject to an incumbrance of $6,500.

Emily J. Gorsuch has purchased from Andrew Christensen the property at the southwest corner of North Forty-third avenue and Le Moyne street, 25x126 feet, and the southwest corner of North Forty-third court and Le Moyne street, 25x126 feet, with brick improvements, for $30,000, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000.

Charles D. Hurley conveyed to George Herbert Cowell the property at the northeast corner of Artesian avenue and Fulton street, 96x37½ feet, with improvements, and two other parcels, for $30,000. The same property with five other parcels was then conveyed by Cowell to Harry E. Harvey for $50,000.

W. F. Conlon & Co. have leased for John H. Klauk to Hannah & Hogg, the four story and basement building on 30x50 feet of ground, at 819 West Madison street, adjoining the entrance to the Star and Garter theater, for a term at a total rent of $65,000. George W. Underwood, former assistant state's attorney, represented the lessor, and Abraham Meyer of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt represented the lessees in a legal way.

NEWS NOTES OF FINANCIAL WORLD.

The rise in the bond market since July has been exceptional. The average price of twenty representative bonds has advanced from 88.81 to 93.10, which is all the more noteworthy when it is remembered that the high price last year was only 94.30 and the low record of 1907 88.90. The action of the bond market is regarded in the street as of great significance and indicating a growth of investment demand which necessarily sooner or later would extend to the stock market.

The Inspiration Copper company reports having over 10,000,000 tons of ore actually developed. This does not include partly developed ore and indicated ore. From surface indications there is not less than 30,000,000 tons. The test plant practically will be completed within a short time. The management already has recommended the building of a concentrator to handle 5,000 tons of ore a day.

The report of State Auditor Bleakly of Iowa shows that the deposits in 670 savings banks, 276 state banks, and fourteen trust companies gained $1,926,195 between June 30 and Sept. 14, the surplus in this period gaining $175,938. From Aug. 10, 1909, to Sept. 14, 1910, deposits in the state banks increased $16,730,136. Since June the state gained eleven banks, and since August, 1909, forty-nine banks. The average reserve Sept. 14 was 17.5 per cent.

Reports from New York were to the effect that the buying of stocks was good. The market showed considerable firmness throughout the day. Chicago buying was not large, but all the information received was reassuring.

Two shares of Continental and Commercial National bank changed hands yesterday at a new high price, 272½. Bank stocks generally were quiet.

The New York subtreasury gained $469,000 from the banks on Saturday, making the cash net gain since Friday $1,146,000.

HARVEST OF 1910 SETS U. S. RECORD

Total Yield of Cereals Is Swelled by Bumper Corn and Oats Crops.

NORTHWEST IS SUFFERER

October Report Shows This Section Did Not Recover from Heavy Damage.

Bumper yields of corn and oats have swelled the total harvest of cereals this year to by far the largest aggregate in the history of the country.

The total crops of wheat, corn, and oats alone as reported by the government in its October report, issued yesterday, are 4,765,000,000 bu, or 249,000,000 bu more than the big harvests of 1909, and the largest aggregate yield on record.

While the total yield of spring and winter wheat was not of record proportions, the indicated harvest of corn and oats shatters all previous high marks. The October corn promise is for a crop of 2,977,000,000 bu, or about 205,000,000 bu more than the big crop of last year, and 50,000,000 bu more than the previous high mark of 2,927,000,000 bu secured in 1906.

Estimate on Oats Lifted.

The government reports again lifted the estimate of the oats crop, this time making it 1,096,000,000 bu, or practically 90,000,000 bu more than the yield of 1909, which itself shattered all previous records.

The government raised its September estimate of the spring wheat yield from 217,000,000 bu to 233,475,000 bu, which with the preliminary estimate of 458,000,000 bu for the winter wheat makes a combined yield of 691,000,000 bu, compared to an early season promise of only 406,000,000 bu.

Ideal growing conditions during the last half of the crop season overcame the adverse factors early and resulted in much larger yields of all grains than seemed to be possible earlier in the season.

Most Successful Year Promised.

The figures sent out during the day give promise for the most successful year the American farmers have ever had. Prices are not so high as last year, but generally the larger yields more than make up for this and the fact that bumper yields of all the leading cereals have been obtained means that prosperity on the farms will be widespread and not confined to any one section.

About the only section that suffered severe crop losses was in the northwest, where the midseason drought caused much damage. This was especially the case in North Dakota and northern Minnesota. Yields of all grains were small, but, even with the curtailment as the result of drought and hot winds, there was nothing like the calamity confidently predicted by the crop killers who flocked to the spring wheat fields last summer.

Notwithstanding the enormous losses suffered by the Dakotas and Minnesota, the three states which raise the greater part of the spring wheat crop will harvest about 180,000,000 bu, which a few years ago would have been considered enormous. Moreover the wheat is of excellent quality.

Good Weather Helps Corn.

The yield of corn estimated at 2,977,000,000 bushels is about 80,000,000 bushels more than was figured Sept. 1, the extraordinarily favorable weather conditions during September working wonders in conditioning the cereal.

As the crop is now safe from frost, the final estimate by the government will show probably as much or more corn than the October figures. A continuation of present weather conditions for a few weeks more will give a crop of the finest quality as well as the largest yield on record.

All the leading corn states have the promise of big yields. The general condition of the crop is placed at 80.3 against 78.2 a month ago, and 73.8 a year ago.

Corn Crop of Various States.

Oats Yield Reported Big.

With the exception of the three northwest states, where drought was a big factor, big yields of oats are reported and the quality is higher even than the fine oats raised last year. The following table gives the yield per acre and production by states with comparisons:

The condition of flaxseed was placed at 47.2 against 84.9 a year ago, indicating a crop of 16,100,000 bu. The condition of tobacco was placed at 80.2, against 81.3 on the same date a year ago. The average condition of potatoes on Oct. 1 was 71.8, against 78.8 a year ago.

The figures on the leading grains were regarded as extremely bearish on the board of trade, but as the figures were not posted until after the close of change, they did not have much effect on the market. Generally speaking the figures on corn and oats, however, were about what the trade had been led to expect.

NEW YORK COTTON UNSTEADY; RECORD BY TWO-POSITIONS.

Early Decline Followed by Advance—Suspension of Small House Factor in the Market.

New York, Oct. 10.—The cotton market was nervous and unsteady during today's trading. An early decline was followed by an advance which sent October and May contracts to new high records for the season, but later prices eased off, following the suspension of a small local house, and while the close was steady with October 3 points higher and November unchanged, later deliveries were 6 to 10 points net lower.

MEETINGS OF VARIOUS BODIES.

DALLAS, Tex.—Discussion as to the political rights of the corporation employé enlivened the session of the American Association of Passenger Agents, which convened here in annual session. M. H. Bohrer of Chicago defended what he termed "the same right for the railroad man as for any other citizen." Corporation affiliations should not prove a bar to the railroad man entering actively into political affairs, he declared, nor to his right to hold office.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Two hundred delegates from all over the United States met here for the nineteenth annual convention of the Master Horseshoers' Association of America. The convention probably will urge a national board of arbitration to settle labor questions, and will consider trade costs, which have increased, it is said, 100 per cent in the last five years. A feature of the meeting is a $10,000 exhibit of horseshoes from all over the world.

LINCOLN, Neb.—Experimental parcels post service on a few rural routes is demanded in a resolution adopted by the farmers' national congress. Resolutions were also adopted favoring a law forbidding the shipment of liquor into prohibition territory, favoring conservation of natural resources, demanding a soil survey, and indorsing the tariff commission.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—All grades of refined sugar were reduced 5c a hundred pounds today.

"AMERICA MUST YIELD MORE"

Baltimorean Advises Grain Men at Chicago Convention.

TELLS OF PROGRESS ABROAD.

Says Our Farmers Must Work Hard to Keep Country in Lead.

America's farms must yield more grain to the acre, if it expects to compete successfully in the foreign markets of the world, and better care should be taken in storing grain before shipment."

So declared J. Collin Vincent, a Baltimore, Md., exporter, yesterday afternoon, speaking on the subject of "Foreign Grain Competition" before the Grain Dealers' National association, which opened its fourteenth annual convention at the Hotel La Salle in the morning.

Mr. Vincent had on exhibition six samples of grain from foreign countries illustrating the character of grain in competition with the American product, some of which averaged 32 bu to the acre, as compared to our own average of 13.6 bu of wheat to the acre. In that difference of yield, he contended, lay the fact that America's grain exports have decreased since 1906.

"These samples," said Mr. Vincent, "are an object lesson to show the need of more intense farming methods and sustain the arguments made by James J. Hill and the ideas championed by E. Pfarrius last year at the meeting of the Federation of Grain Exchanges bearing on the fertilization of the soil. They also conform to the arguments of M. W. Cochrane at the last meeting emphasizing the necessity of helping the farmer to secure good seed.

Says America Must Awaken.

"When we see England raising about 32 bu of wheat per acre and that New South Wales in different localities can raise, 16, 24, and 26 bu per acre, it is self-evident that America must be up and doing."

The speaker referred to the work that is being done to help the farmer in experiments with soil conditions by the establishing of experimental stations by the national and state governments and the views expressed at farmers' institutes.

At one farmers' institute which Mr. Vincent attended one farmer claimed he used South Carolina rock and potash for years and last year raised 27 bu of wheat to the acre and this year 30 bu. Another man said he used 300 pounds of new bone with 200 pounds of dissolved rock per acre with good results. "I mention these facts," he explained, "to show that the schoolmaster is abroad.

"If the farmers will use the state experimental stations to get reports on their soil and then, as they can, get the judgments of the scientists as to the fertilization needed, it will redound to their benefit."

Convention Concludes with Banquet.

Several hundred members of the association are in attendance at the convention, which will last three days, concluding tomorrow evening with a banquet given by the Chicago board of trade at the Hotel La Salle.

Two resolutions presented at the afternoon session will be acted on tomorrow, when the matter comes up in the report of the committee on resolutions. One provides for the abolishing of any grade better than No. 3, which means the doing away of the present system of grading grain "No. 3 or better." Another resolution provides for the use of hermetically sealed cans instead of cotton bags in cases where grain is office tested, it being claimed that the grain is subject to weather conditions.

The report of Secretary-Treasurer John F. Courcier of Toledo showed that the membership has grown to over 1,500, 161 having been admitted during the year.

Gov. Jared Y. Sanders of Louisiana will be one of the principal speakers at this morning's session.

RECEIVER TAKES CLOTHING FIRM

Ely Meyer and M. C. Simon of Rochester in Financial Difficulty.

HAVE BRANCH IN CHICAGO

Troubles Attributed to Depression in Retail Trade, According to Partner.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 10.—George B. Draper has been appointed receiver for Michael C. Simon as an individual and as surviving partner in the wholesale clothing manufacturing firm of Ely Meyer and M. C. Simon, Rochester. Liabilities are estimated at $750,000 and assets at $500,000. The company owns a chain of retail stores in various cities.

Mr. Simon attributes the trouble to what, he says, is a general depression in the retail trade of the country, and he says the firm would have passed through the embarrassment all right had it been given a little more time in which to meet the obligations.

Six Stores Indebted to Firm.

The appointment of a receiver followed the filing by creditors in Buffalo on Saturday, before Judge Hazel of the United States District court, of a petition in involuntary bankruptcy. The firm owned and operated retail stores in Chicago, Minneapolis, Boston, Kansas City, and St. Paul and holds the controlling stock in six incorporated stores in Los Angeles, Louisville, Indianapolis, Atlanta, Ga.; Evansville, Ind., and Birmingham, Ala.

The six incorporated stores are indebted to the firm and an attempt was made by the creditors, including Frank Lequin and Arnold of New York City, to involve the six stores in the proceedings, but this Mr. Simon refused to allow.

Creditors will meet in this city on Oct. 25. It is considered likely that Attorney Draper will be appointed ancillary receiver for the five stores owned by the firm. It is the opinion of some that the firm's affairs will be adjusted before the first creditors' meeting, thus allowing it to continue business.

ACTION SURPRISE IN CHICAGO.

One of the retail stores owned and operated by the firm is located in the First National Bank building. C. A. Holton and I. Brandenburg are managing partners of the Chicago shop. Mr. Holton expressed surprise at the dispatches from Rochester. He said he had had no information of the concern being in financial difficulties.

"Certainly the local branch is not the seat of the trouble," he said. "We are in excellent condition here."

NEW ORLEANS SEEKS 1915 FAIR; URGES PROXIMITY TO CANAL.

Panama Exposition Aim of Visit Here of Governor and Citizens, Who Say San Francisco Is Too Far for Success.

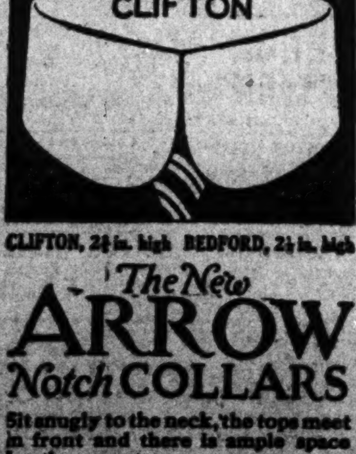

Gov. Jared Y. Sanders of Louisiana and Mayor Martin Behrman of New Orleans were the chief guests last night at a banquet given by the Southern club of Chicago at the Congress hotel.

Gov. Sanders arrived during the day accompanied by prominent residents of the southern state. They will remain for many days and seek support of a Panama exposition in New Orleans in 1915.

"New Orleans is the logical place for the exposition," Gov. Sanders said at the banquet. "I don't have to ask the members of the Southern club to give us their support for this. They will do so without the asking. The city of San Francisco is our only competitor. When the government holds the Philippine exposition it is right that it should be held in San Francisco. The Panama exposition, however, belongs to New Orleans. This exposition should be located close to the canal, and New Orleans is the nearest city.

"The African islands are nearer to San Francisco than the Panama canal is. We can take care of the citizens. They don't have to travel over the continent from Central and South America if we have it in our city. They can come direct to the harbor of New Orleans from home."

C. H. Ellis, president of the New Orleans board of trade, M. B. Trezevant of the New Orleans Progressive union, and James L. Wright, secretary of the World's Panama Exposition company, were the other speakers.

WHEAT FUTURES UNDER PRESSURE

Rains in Argentine and Big World's Shipments Are Chief Bear Factors.

CROP REPORT BEARISH.

Big Yields Are Indicated for All Cereals; Corn and Oats Work Lower.

Foreign news was exceptionally bearish on wheat yesterday, and, although the bulls had a decrease in the visible supply in their favor, there was a heavy tone to the market and values worked materially lower. Closing quotations showed net losses for the day of ¾ and ⅝@⅞c. The bear factors included enormous world's shipments for the week, 16,952,000 bu; encouraging news from Argentine, a big increase in on passage stocks, and lower cables from the European markets.

The government report was bearish, as expected, but was not issued until after the close and consequently did not have any effect on the market. It made the yield of spring wheat 233,475,000 bu and the total crop of wheat 691,769,000 bu, compared to 737,000,000 bu a year ago, or 46,000,000 bu less. The report is expected to have a bearish effect today.

Russian Exports Heavy.

The continued deluge of wheat from the Black sea ports is the most important factor in the world's wheat situation and if continued much longer will cause a glut in the foreign markets that not even the shortage in France will offset. Russia alone shipped 7,264,000 bu for the week, while Russian and Danubian shipments together were over 11,000,000 bu. A total of 16,952,000 bu, with small exports from this country and Canada, is rapidly placing the wheat markets of the world on an altogether different basis.

The piling up of wheat abroad means the elimination of this country from the export situation unless there is a big slump in our prices. A few months later Argentine wheat will come into active competition in markets already glutted by southeastern Europe. Consequently the only hope for the bull appears to be in developments in this country alone.

Primary Run Is Small.

Primary receipts continue to run much below those of a year ago, being 1,702,000 bu for the day against 2,371,000 bu a year ago, and there was an unexpected decrease in the visible of 658,000 bu against an increase of 3,070,000 bu a year ago, which was a factor in checking the decline.

The disparity in the receipts at Duluth compared to a year ago continues great, and this is likely to be a big factor later. Minneapolis receipts are fair and stocks there increased 250,000 bu for two days. The two northwest points had 782 cars, against 1,987 cars a year ago.

The cash demand here was a little better and prices were firm, velvet chaff being a little higher relatively. Cash sales here were 70,000 bu. Outside markets were firm for cash wheat with the exception of Minneapolis. Receipts here were 71 cars, with 43 cars the estimate for today.

Liverpool was ⅞@1¼d lower at the close, the chief influences being the rains reported in Argentine and the immense world's shipments. Antwerp was ⅝c off, Berlin ⅝c lower, Budapest unchanged, and Paris 1c off.

Sellers of wheat were Cudahy, Knight-McDougal, Armour, Rosenbaum Grain, Nye-Jenks, and Peavey. Later Shearson-Hammill were on the selling side. On the first break Armour and Bartlett-Frazier were free buyers. Wagner, Valentine, and Cutten also were buyers early.

Record Corn Crop Assured.

Traders anticipated a record breaking corn crop estimate by the government, and this expectation was verified by the official figures showing a crop of 2,977,000,000 bu, the largest ever raised. Other factors were heavy world's shipments, 5,902,000 bu, a weak wheat market, ideal weather conditions, and more liquidation of long corn. Resting prices were ¼@ c to ⅜@½c lower. Liverpool finished ⅛@¼d off. Receipts of corn here were 198 cars, with 345 cars expected today. Country offerings were fair.

The cash demand here was moderate and prices at the close were steady to ½c lower, with sales of 150,000 bu. Primary arrivals were 464,000 bu, against 494,000 bu a year ago. Receivers reported the country generally willing to sell, and a fair run of corn is expected soon. Export bids were reported out of line. The visible decreased 589,000 bu.

Oats Shorts Best Buyers.

Oats were under quite heavy pressure early, but later firmed up a little on heavy short covering. Final quotations were ¼@⅜c to c lower. The government raised its September estimate of the oats crop 40,000,000 bu, making the total crop 1,096,000,000 bu. This is about 90,000,000 bu more than the record crop of 1909. The cash demand was moderate and prices were steady to ½c lower, with only a fair business, sales being 195,000 bu. Receipts here were 157 cars, with 256 cars the estimate for today. Primary points had 704,000 bu, against 785,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Are Weak.

Provisions were lower, the easier tone to the grain markets, with an increasing movement of hogs, and slow consumptive demand being the main factors. Cudahy interests were credited with selling October ribs and January lard. Schwabacher sold October ribs and bought November lard.

Shorts were the best buyers. Receipts of hogs here were 27,000, with 13,000 the estimate for today. Western points had 56,400, against 52,600 a year ago. Liverpool quoted lard 3d lower, hams unchanged, and backs 6d up. Receipts of product here were 27 cars, with shipments 74 cars.

Flaxseed Has Decline.

Flaxseed was 1½c lower. No. 1 northwestern closed at $2.65½; No. 1 from the northwest, $2.62⅛; No. 1 southwestern, $2.52½, and rejected, $2.42½@2.52½. Receipts, 1 car. Duluth was ½c lower to ½c higher. October and November closing at $2.65½ and December $2.61½. Receipts were 15 cars. Minneapolis was ½c lower, with cash on track $2.66½. Receipts were 49 cars.

Timothy seed was unchanged. March closed at $9.75 bid and $9.15 asked. Country lots, $7.25@8.50. Clover seed was dull. Country lots, $12.00@15.00.

Rye was steady. No. 2 was offered at 77½c; No. 3, 70@75c, and No. 4, 60@70c. Receipts were estimated at 4 cars.

Barley was steady to 1c higher. Malting was quoted at 72@77c; mixing, 60@67c, and screenings 35@50c. Receipts were estimated at 64 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The Council of American Grain exchanges is interesting itself in the subject of good seeds, believing that farmers by improving the seed can secure larger and better quality crops. A committee chosen from leading grain men throughout the country has been appointed by the association to agitate the matter, and a meeting will be held in the La Salle hotel today. Invitations to this meeting have been extended to the agricultural department of the United States, state experiment station directors, millers, country grain men and people interested in cereals generally.

The chairman of the committee is Manning W. Cochrane, president of the St. Louis merchants' exchange. Bert Hall, manager of the publicity bureau of the merchants' exchange, is secretary. In the endeavor to keep good seed from going into consumption, to induce farmers to plant good seed regardless of the trifling expense, and to encourage better farming generally is the object in view.

It is desired to organize a national movement and to finance its execution through a central body which will harmonize and encourage all of the interests concerned to keep everlastingly at it. M. A. Carleton of the United States department of agriculture and about twenty other representative grain men of the country have accepted invitations.

The flour business is not coming up to early season promises, according to Harry E. Halliday, the Cairo, Ill., miller, who was here yesterday.

"The trade is about as poor as it could be," said Mr. Halliday, "and there are no indications of any change. Early in the season we were doing a good business, but have been disappointed both in the northwest situation and in regard to the export demand.

"From present indications we will have to go to an export basis, and this looks a long ways off. We are selling nothing for export and foreign bids are being reduced as our prices work lower, showing there is little actual demand for our product.

"Farmers in our section and also all through the central west have lots of wheat, corn, and oats. Farmers in many instances are holding their grain, some of them still hoarding last year's corn, but there is a limit to their capacity in this line."

A good many delegates to the convention of the Grain Dealers' National association were on the floor during the day. As a general thing they gave decidedly optimistic reports in regard to the crop conditions. A few sections reported a poor outlook, but in the main there is a note of thorough optimism in all the accounts given of country conditions.

A big crop of excellent quality corn is expected in most states. Delegates connected with the flour trade were a little dubious as to prospects in the flour trade. The business generally has not been as good recently as earlier in the season. The association will hold sessions again this afternoon and evening and tomorrow. Tomorrow night the members will be given a banquet by the board of trade.

CATTLE TRADE CLOSES FIRM.

Late Activity Gives Rise to More Cheerful Sentiment.

AMASS DROVES IN HURRY.

Packers Hold Aloof on Hogs Early, but Buy Rapidly Near Close.

Beef cattle values at Chicago yesterday were practically the same as those in force at the close last week, standing 10c lower than on last Thursday and 15@25c higher than a week ago. Owing to the fact that buyers understood that fresh receipts of 30,000 head would be ample for the requirements of the trade, the work of filling orders was not begun until comparatively late in the session.

This suggested a weaker market at the opening and led to some pessimistic views being sent out early, but the activity of the late trade gave rise to a more cheerful sentiment and the market rested on sound footing at the close. Best steers here sold at $7.85, with a fairly liberal proportion of the total supply good enough to make $7.00 and better.

HOGS.

Market held steady with Saturday's close, or 15c lower than that day's average, closing strong, with packers searching for prime 190 to 250 lb hogs and willing to pay higher than at any time earlier in the session for the right class of stock.

Sentiment at the opening was decidedly bearish, and packers positively refused to pay Saturday's closing prices for any class of stock during the first two or three hours. Outsiders paid these figures, however, and so long as they had this support salesmen adhered to their demands for steady values and disregarded packers' offers.

SHEEP.

Prices of sheep and lambs held on a steady basis, with packers, independent butchers, and country feeder buyers taking on enormous quantities of their respective grades of stock and showing little hesitancy in paying prevailing figures so long as the supply lasted.

Receipts were estimated at 65,000 head, which if borne out by the official count will stand the second largest on record. Although coming after an extended period of unusually large marketings, these arrivals did not engender any feeling of bearishness among buyers and the trade exhibited exceptional evenness, opening early and active and continuing full of action and buoyant to the close.

Independent butchers paid $7.15 for prime native lambs, while packers brought thousands of native and western range offerings at $7.00, furnishing an outlet for a good class of killers at $6.50@6.80. Feeder buyers paid $6.25@6.50 for the bulk of the desirable thin lambs and bought feeding sheep at $3.50@4.05. Fat range wethers made $4.00@4.25, with ewes at $3.60. Native ewes sold up to $4.25@4.50. Quotations:

Native ewes	$3.00@4.25
Native wethers	4.00@4.50
Range wethers	4.00@4.40

EGGS SHOW ADVANCE OF 1-2C: MARKET STRONGER IN EAST.

Poultry Values Weaker, Chickens Showing Loss of ½c and Turkeys 1c—Arrivals Exceed Expectations.

Changes in produce prices at Chicago yesterday included an advance of ½c in eggs and reductions of ½c in chickens and of 1c in turkeys. A stronger market for eggs in the east, inducing more aggressiveness on the part of local speculators, was responsible for the upturn made in quotations here. The decline in poultry values was attributed to buyers' failure to respond to more liberal arrivals than expected, with a corresponding increase in purchases.

NEW RED SALMON IN MARKET

Jobbing Price of Talls Has Eased Off 5c from Ruling Value.

DRIED FRUITS STILL FIRM.

Eastern Tomato Canners Shut Down Plants for Season.

New pack red Alaska salmon are commencing to come into the market more freely and the jobbing price of talls has eased off 5c from the ruling quotation of $1.80 in consequence. At one time the market was so bare practically nothing could be picked up at the former price.

The dried fruits situation is unchanged, with prices still firm, but little trading on account of the warm weather, which brings consumption to a standstill. California walnuts are still exceptionally firm as a result of the shortage in this country and the cholera epidemic in Italy, which is holding up shipments from Naples.

Writing of the conditions in the tomato sections of the east, Thomas J. Meehan & Co. of Baltimore, Md., in a letter to the local trade say:

"The longest and severest drought in the history of the weather bureau here ended yesterday and the temperature dropped about 25 degrees. During this week the temperature has been more like August than October, with cool nights, while in the mountains of western Maryland light frosts have been reported.

"The growers of tomatoes say that the rain is too late now to revive the vines and make new fruit. Many of the canning houses located in sections where the heaviest canning is done have shut down for the season.

Shortage Felt Next Spring.

"The statistics sharps will now have their innings. Already the early bird comes to the fore with the doleful information that the pack is only about 40 per cent of the output in 1909. Others are a little more liberal, and promise a pack of say 60 per cent of last year's yield.

"There are already enough tomatoes canned this season to go around more than once, but 'there ain't goin' to be no core' next spring, for the good reason that the consumption of that article this fall and next winter will be about the largest ever.

"The Tristate Canners' association, composed of tomato canners in Maryland, Delaware, and New Jersey, will hold its next meeting soon at Wilmington, Del., and the report of the members will be awaited with interest. In a month or so the official statistics compiled by the experts of the National Canners' association will be published, and then the whole story of the canning season of 1910 will be an open book. Although less active this week, the market prices were firm all along the line, and No. 10 tomatoes advanced from $2.50 to $2.60 a dozen, which is worth noting. Alert buyers are awaiting opportunities to cover their wants, which is a strong sustaining factor."

Peach Market Again Strong.

Describing other conditions in the Maryland market, the same firm says:

"Peaches—The peach market was again strong and active this week and closed at higher prices, especially for pie peaches and seconds. The basis of the advance, as stated in our advices during the last two weeks, is because of the sudden and unexpected ending of the canning season, with little or no accumulation of stocks in the hands of the canners to meet the demand between now and the next canning season.

"As a matter of fact, a number of canners were caught short of their sales, and are obliged to purchase to cover their contracts.

"Corn is again active and firm. The way peas have been selling in this market during the last few weeks is a surprise."

Fruits.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—EVAPORATED APPLES—About steady, but trading is quiet and of a jobbing character. On the spot fancy is quoted at 10c; choice, 8⅝@9½c; prime, 8@8⅝c; common to fair, 6¾@7½c. PRUNES—Firm, especially for the smaller sizes. Quotations range from 5@10c for Californias up to 30-40s and 7½@9¾c for Oregons for 60-20s. APRICOTS—Quiet and about steady. DEVISE PLANS TODAY TO GET PURE SEED FOR BEST GRAIN.

Participants in Chicago Conference Want to Aid Farmers of U. S. and Canada Increase Yield of Soil.

To devise plans for locating pure seed that will improve the yield of grain on North American farms and distributing it to all sections of the United States and Canada with a view of ultimately increasing the grain production of these two countries, is the object of a meeting called for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The session will be held in room 310 at the Hotel La Salle, under the auspices of the committee on seed improvement, a part of the council of North American grain exchanges.

Aside from the magnitude of the benefits involved, the meeting is of interest from the fact that it is the first time when any organized effort of the kind has been made.

An invitation has been extended to James J. Hill, to the agricultural department of the United States, the state experimental stations, millers, farmers' organizations, the railroads, and others who are interested, to participate in the meeting.

Lackawanna Steel.

The report of the Lackawanna Steel company and subsidiaries for the first three quarters of the current year shows net income of $4,021,493, as against $2,126,224 for the corresponding period of 1909. The surplus after interest charges and depreciation was $2,286,335, equal to 6.59 per cent on the $34,728,000 stock, and comparing with a $95,270 surplus for the corresponding period of 1909. The report for the third quarter shows slight changes, the figures comparing:

Bid for Junction Railways.

The following was wired from New York: "It is understood that F. S. Mosely & Co. have issued a circular to the stockholders of the Chicago Junction Railway and Union Stockyards company offering to pay $160 a share provided 16,500 shares of the stock are deposited with a Boston Trust company under an option agreement. It is understood that this option is for one month.

"Representatives of the stockyards company in this city said that they had no knowledge of the reported offer and could not make even an intelligent guess as to the probable identity of the interests for whom the brokers who have made the request to the stockholders are acting. In other circles it is asserted that undoubtedly the packing interests of Chicago are behind the offer."

Local friends of the company profess not to be familiar with the motive of the brokerage firm.

Necessary Refunding.

The total of about $202,000,000 in the principal issues of bonds and notes maturing in 1911, most of them in the first half of the year, is ground for the statement that the financing of the next few months will be mainly confined to refunding. The current year has seen comparatively little of this class of financing, but early in 1909 most of the railroads took advantage of the good bond market to provide for 1910 maturities.

Railroad and traction maturities of the issues of over $1,000,000 will total $172,000,000. Industrials over this amount will total around $30,000,000. Among the largest of the former are:

Int. Rap. T. notes	6	May 1	$23,359,000

Anthracite Production Increases.

September production of anthracite was 4,967,516 tons, an increase over 1909 of 551,396 tons, or 12.4 per cent. The Delaware and Hudson showed the largest gain, and the Pennsylvania and the Erie were the only roads reporting losses. The statements compare:

September—		Increase.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

WABASH.

The full pamphlet report of the Wabash railroad for the year ended June 30 shows gross revenue of $28,886,055, an increase of 11.6 per cent. Operating expenses showed an actual increase of 9.5 per cent, the ratio dropping from 72.53 per cent to 71.10 per cent, and net gained 17.4 per cent. The surplus after all charges was $545,718, equal to only 1.39 per cent on the $39,141,453 preferred stock, but comparing with a deficit of $159,259 the year before.

The income account compares:

Total	$20,536,222.63	$1,779,038.16

*Decrease.

In 1910 maintenance of way and structures were 17.53 per cent of the whole operating expenses, and equipment, 20.05 per cent, against 16.59 and 21.14 per cent in 1909. Traffic expenses were 4.52, against 4.46; transportation, 53.84, against 53.45 per cent; general expenses, 4.06, against 4.36 per cent.

In his statement to the stockholders President Delano refers to the losses through heavy washouts at the start of the fiscal year and further gains in expenses and losses to income through the strike in the Illinois coal mines at the close of the year. He points out that excessive reserves for depreciation over the preceding four years have enabled the company to cut down on the 1910 reserve.

Another favorable exhibit is that all the $3,500,000 debenture "A" bonds and $25,223,000 of the debenture "B" bonds have been refunded and deposited with the trustees, leaving of this issue only $1,277,000 bonds outstanding. These were 6 per cent bonds. The statement of the funded debt at the close of the year shows a total of $107,906,496, at an annual interest rate of 4.17 per cent. Equipment obligations amount to $7,244,000, at an average interest rate of 4.7 per cent.

American Zinc.

The annual report of the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting company for the year ended June 30 shows a balance, after charges, of $238,885, equal to 11.7 per cent on the $2,017,000 stock. The income account was as follows:

Booth Fisheries preferred grew suddenly active on the local exchange and the price advanced to 64. The only reason given for the rise was good earnings.

Diamond Match stock had another advance, moving from 87 to 88⅛. The low price last week was 82⅝. Chicago Pneumatic Tool was firm, moving from 41¼ to 43. Carbon common made a new high record at 127.

ROADS WIN IN RATE HEARING.

U. S. Circuit Judges Uphold Rulings of Master in Chancery Against the Commerce Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10.—Judges Sanborn, Hook, Van Devanter, and Adams, in the United States Circuit court, today upheld the findings of Master in Chancery F. N. Dickson in the suit brought by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and Union Pacific railroads to enjoin the interstate commerce commission from enforcing the reduction in lumber rates from Portland to St. Paul and Chicago.

All exceptions by both sides were overruled. The action of the court is a victory for the railroads.

The rate on lumber from Portland to St. Paul was raised from 40 cents to 50 cents a hundredweight by the railroads. The interstate commerce commission cut the rate to 45 cents, which it now is.

The master in chancery recommended a 50 cent rate.

A 60 cent rate from Portland to Chicago was cut to 55 cents by the interstate commerce commission. The 60 cent rate was restored by the master.

LITTLE BUSINESS ON STOCK MARKET

Professional Speculation at Low Ebb During Fore Part of Session.

EARLY LOSSES REGAINED.

Steel and Government Reports Influence Traders on New York Exchange.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Professional speculation in securities was at a low ebb in the fore part of today's stock market, and so dull was business on the floor through this period that the resumption of activity late in the afternoon failed to carry the volume of dealings beyond 200,000 shares.

Some of the hesitation displayed by the traders was due doubtless to knowledge of the fact that the United States Steel report of unfilled orders at the close of September and the government's report on crop conditions for the same month was to be published later in the day, and that in advance of the figures it was hazardous to take on commitments.

At any rate, fluctuations were narrow and the market, practically was at a standstill throughout the forenoon.

The steel report appeared at noon, and although the showing was hardly regarded favorable this fact did not interfere with a quick expansion of trading and the sharp upturn of prices which came with the splendid government return.

Close of Market Strong.

The market closed strong, with recessions of the morning overcome and fractional gains general throughout the list.

The steel report showed a loss in tonnage at the close of the month of 379,022, less than the loss for August by nearly 55,000 but greater than noted at the close of July by nearly 100,000 tons. The actual tonnage unfilled, with the exception of that reported for September, 1903, was the smallest ever reported. The cause is simple, consisting in the drying up of business from the railroads, and the situation is not regarded serious.

Call Money Rates About Same.

There was in the time money market some reflection of the better showing made by the banks in their actual statement last Saturday, which was published after the close of the exchange, but call money rates still ruled around last week's figures.

The arrival here of one of the prominent members of the foreign banking group which insisted upon a guarantee of cotton bills by American bankers revived the hope that the deadlock in this matter soon may be broken through personal study and inquiry, and from this source there will be placed upon the markets no unusual demands.

Money on call steady, 1½@2⅞ per cent; ruling rate, 2⅜; closing bid, 2½; offered at 2⅝. Time loans a shade easier; 60 days, 4@4¼ per cent and 90 days 4½@4⅝ per cent; six months, 4½@4⅝ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.83@4.8320 for 60 day bills and at 4.8605 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.84. Bar silver, 54⅝c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds steady.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were quiet today. The Bank of England secured half and India and the continent divided the remainder of the $3,500,000 South African gold available. The stock market was quiet and irregular. The approach of the settlement checked business. Kaffirs and foreign bonds were easy on Paris selling through fears of trouble in Spain. Home rails and gilt edged securities were steady. American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. The New York bank statement was disappointing and traders hesitated until New York sent supporting orders. Then prices hardened and the market closed steady.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The copper shares were not unusually active today, but there was some good buying, and prices advanced fractionally. Greene Cananea was the most active issue, and was well taken up to 7⅝, at which point a small fractional gain was shown. North Butte, Giroux, Arizona Commercial, and Adventure were well bought at small advances. Hancock rose a point on light trading. In the general list small gains were the rule. Call money at 3@3½ per cent; time loans, six months, 5@5½ per cent; time loans, short dates, 5 per cent; time loans, year, 5@5½ per cent.

"CHICAGO BEAUTIFUL" PLANS FEATURE OF LONDON EXHIBIT.

Great Crowds in Royal Academy Praise Burnham's Scheme to Redeem Physical Features of This City.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—D. H. Burnham's plans for "Chicago beautiful" are the feature of the town planning exhibition which opened in the Royal academy today. His sketches occupy all the walls in one great gallery, while the contributions of many other cities are grouped in a single room.

The group of buildings constituting the grand axis or civic center of the imaginary Chicago elicits exclamations of admiration and the view of the proposed boulevard to connect the north and south divisions, with glimpses of the river and the lake, also arouses keen interest. The Midway plaisance is regarded as strikingly beautiful. German and French architects linger over the sketches with pencils and notebooks.

The newspapers give much space to the plans, stating that they reveal an enthusiasm and imagination in the art of town planning not heretofore excelled, if equaled, in the world.

TRIP TO IMPROVE GUARD ON BANKS

Murray Will Visit Offices of Examiners Throughout the Country.

FAILURES ARE TOO MANY.

Controller Hopes to Lessen Number by Better Checking Up System.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Controller of the Currency Lawrence O. Murray will start tomorrow on a tour of inspection of the methods employed by his national bank examiners throughout the country. With Oscar L. Telling, chief of the division of reports, Mr. Murray will begin his field work at Baltimore, and in the course of the next fortnight he expects to reach Chicago.

Mr. Murray has been making a close study of the problem of regulating national banks in the three years he has been in office and he has concluded that failures can be prevented by a more strict accountability of the institutions to the controller. This he expects to bring about by checking up on the methods of bank examination, which he has found vary from slipshod and ineffective to strict and adequate in character.

In a bulletin issued by the bureau this afternoon it was said that the controller "wishes it to be thoroughly recognized in the communities which he visits that the banks therein are not under any special examination, his sole purpose in going into the field being to study the methods used by his examiners in doing their regular work."

First Visits to Be Made.

"He will begin this week with National Bank Examiner Samuel M. Hann of Baltimore," the statement continues. "From there he will go into the districts of Examiners Buck, Patterson, and Van Brocklin in eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey before returning to Washington.

"The controller says that during his term of nearly three years as controller, the fact that some of his examiners in their work obtain much better results than others has been brought to his attention more prominently than any other one thing.

"Although perhaps this is to be expected in any line of human activity, the difference in effectiveness is so marked and distinct that he desires to find out by personal investigation whether or not this difference is due to the personal equation or to inferior methods employed by some examiners.

Must Check Up on Borrowers.

"Each examiner is required to keep in detail information regarding the borrowers carried by the banks in his district, and complete data relative to the various assets held by such banks. Each examiner's office will be inspected to see if the information on file is complete and available, and where these offices are not well organized the controller will insist that the examiners adopt improved methods.

"The examiner whose methods are below the standard established by the best examiners will be given such aid and suggestions as will bring about an improvement in his work."

Acting Secretary of the Treasury Andrew received from the Chicago clearing house today a copy of the bylaws to be adopted by the currency association being formed by the bankers of that city. The bylaws are identical with those adopted by the New York and other associations. The Chicago bankers will meet on Friday to perfect the association.

DRY GOODS GAIN STRENGTH; PRICES GO UP DURING WEEK.

Jobbers Begin to Fill Out Stocks—Sellers of Finished Product Find a Readier Market.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—In every department of the cotton goods market at the opening of the week goods are showing increased strength, and prices which buyers were offered a week ago no longer can be secured. An undoubted stimulant to the market has been the fact that sellers of finished goods have found a readier market among cutters up, and that jobbers have begun to fill out stocks.

It is reported from the mills that they now are contemplating an immediate increase of their output and will have more goods to forward to finishing works. Brown drills, standards, now are firmly held at 8c, and on all classes of brown sheetings the market is unbending on a basis of 8c for southern standards.

In the dry goods market, from the point of view of woolens, it is reported that the sale of men's wear of duplicate orders in heavyweights is improving. Large clothiers as well as cloth jobbers find it necessary to increase their stocks in order to fill their normal requirements for goods for made up suits and overcoats.

Among manufacturers of dress goods the showing of 1911 spring lines has reached a point where it is possible to estimate the trend of the demand. It is the opinion of most of the distributers that staple worsteds and medium grade piece dyed fabrics will hold relatively the same position as they did last year.

On lines of print cloths, especially on narrow goods, it is reported that sales are being made with greater ease and on a basis of 5⅛c for regulars. Converters as a class now are regarding the market as favorable for covering on wide goods. Prices on standards have advanced to 5¾c. On high count goods the market is based on 5⅝c for 39 inch 68x72s. On higher count goods, approaching 100s, the market is advancing, and converters needing these better quality goods are covering.

FILLS GAP IN DOUBLE TRACK

Santa Fe to Build Last Section East of Missouri River.

W. C. BROWN TO TESTIFY.

James McCrea Also Witness at Washington Rate Hearing.

On Nov. 1, it was announced yesterday the construction department of the Santa Fé railway will turn over to the operating department the last section of double track east of the Missouri river. This will give the Santa Fé the only complete double track route between Chicago and Kansas City and connection with the line so equipped west of the river gives the road a double track from Chicago to Newton, Kas., a distance of 659 miles.

The work of double tracking the Chicago-Kansas City line, which is but the first step in the plan for building a complete double track eventually through to the Pacific coast, has been in progress for several years. It has cost over $18,000,000, in addition to the cost of the great steel bridges across the Mississippi, Missouri, and Des Moines rivers.

The completion of the second track is regarded by the Santa Fé officials as marking an important epoch in the progress of the road.

Prominent Witnesses at Hearing.

When the interstate commerce commission resumes its hearing on proposed increases in freight rates east of Chicago on Wednesday at Washington a number of the most prominent railroad officials in the country are expected to take the witness stand to explain their views in justification of the proposed increases.

William C. Brown, president of the New York Central lines; James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad system, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, have been definitely decided upon as witnesses, while a number of other presidents and several vice presidents are expected to testify.

Takes Testimony in Cases Here.

Special Examiner Allan P. Matthew of the interstate commerce commission came to Chicago during the day and began taking testimony at the federal building in twenty-four cases involving principally claims for reparation for overcharges preferred by shippers against the railroads.

Ten cases were heard during the morning session and six more during the afternoon. The hearing will be continued today, after which the evidence will be submitted to the commission at Washington for final decision.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 minutes from loop district], and my being the president of a large wholesale vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show the standing] and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. My customer's name and address are known only to me; my employes know accounts only by serial number. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average, straightforward citizen realizes that exorbitant charges for any time are burdensome. My average price all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, often less, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care the Englewood Co., 1101-1103 E. 63d-st., corner Greenwood-av. Telephone Hyde Park 4382.

HIGH CLASS
salaried men and women may procure financial accommodations here with the assurance of REASONABLE CHARGES, PRIVACY, and ABSOLUTELY FAIR and POLITE DEALINGS throughout. Just as there are certain advantages in dealing with a well protected bank, so there is in dealing with this ASSOCIATION, which is maintained in competition to the loan companies; $50,000 has been set aside for this association to place in small loans. Let us explain. Don't borrow before seeing us.

BANKRUPT PIANO STOCK of the Thompson Piano Mfg. Co.
We bought the entire stock for 25 cents on the dollar on order of the United States District Court from the American Trust and Savings Bank.
This will enable you to get just the piano or player-piano you want at a reduction in price from 1-3 to ½.
Make no mistake. Do not be misled.
Visit every piano store in town and you will come back and purchase from us, because the saving is from $100 to $250 on pianos of the highest standard during this Bankrupt Piano Sale.
Shrewd purchasers are taking advantage of it. To be sure, you may have to wait a few minutes when you call. Most of our salesmen are busy, but it will pay you to wait, because every minute you wait you earn dollars.
Every one of these pianos and player-pianos should be sold for cash, on account of the enormous price reduction.
The entire Bankrupt stock must be disposed of. None will be reserved. For this reason we will make the terms to those who have not all the cash from $5 to $10 per month.
Included in this stock are new and used Steger, Chickerings, Steinways, Shoningers, Knabe, Hardmans, Sohmers, Mason & Hamlin, Emersons—in fact, nearly every standard make represented.
Every instrument is marked in plain figures, showing former price and Receiver's sale price.
Our own guarantee goes with every piano we sell.

AUTOMOBILES.

Bargains in GOOD Automobiles.

Although the weather is pleasant we are getting ready for winter. We want to clean out our stock of cars before the season closes.

This is a most excellent opportunity for you to purchase a car away below what you ever expected, and have some pleasure of automobiling in the nice weather that we generally have in the fall—healthful, fresh air and no road dust.

The cars we offer are not "cast-offs" or the class of automobiles generally sold at auction because no one wants to guarantee them or stand back of their condition. These cars are all thoroughly overhauled and guaranteed—carry our name plate and are fixed up in the most complete shop in the world to go forth and advertise our establishment by the good work they do.

Do not forget this—the great difference in buying an automobile at an auction sale and buying an automobile from a house established in business since 1899 and from a man who puts his nameplate on the car.

We have about 200 cars for sale. Here are a few samples of our prices and makes of cars:

4 cyl. 40 h. p. 7 pass. Apperson	$825
2 cyl. 14 h. p. 5 pass. Autocar	250
4 cyl. 18 h. p. 5 pass. 1910 Ford	550
4 cyl. 45 h. p. 5 pass. Haynes	525
6 cyl. 35 h. p. 5 pass. Mitchell	575
4 cyl. 35 h. p. 5 pass. National	500
4 cyl. 24 h. p. 4 pass. Overland Roadster	475
4 cyl. 40 h. p. 7 pass. Pierce Arrow	950
4 cyl. 40 h. p. 5 pass. Rambler	550
1 cyl. 20 h. p. 5 pass. Rambler	300
2 cyl. 14 h. p. 2 pass. St. Louis Run	85
4 cyl. 24 h. p. 5 pass. Stevens-Duryea	475
4 cyl. 50 h. p. 7 pass. Thomas	850

Limousine bodies from $250 up.
Landaulet bodies from $250 up.
Good selection of bodies, tops and glass fronts.

As we said before, if you want to buy an automobile cheap, without taking any chances, call at once and get the first selection. The prices are such that the cars will sell quickly to those who see the goods and know the reputation of the house.

WOMAN SCARES ROBBER TRIO

Stands Guard in Front of House Entered by Burglars.

BOY RUNS FOR THE POLICE.

Men Take Flight, However, Leaving Jewelry Valued at $5,000.

Efforts of a boy and a woman to capture three burglars who entered the residence of Albert J. Ehlers, president of Thompson Ehlers company, wholesale leather dealers, frightened the men away before they had found the hiding place of $5,000 worth of jewelry. The boy, Robert Anderson, 14 years old, saw one of the men standing on the porch of the house at 2785 Logan boulevard. While he telephoned to the Shakespeare avenue police station, Mrs. Wasse E. Anderson, whose husband conducts a grocery at 2500 North California avenue, stood guard in front of the house with a revolver.

Sees Burglar on Porch.

"I was going to tell the man that there was no one at home," the boy said, "but he stepped from the porch and I saw him go up on the back porch and try a key in the door.

"Next he broke open a window and climbed in. Then I ran back to the grocery store to telephone and told Mrs. Anderson what I had seen. While I was telephoning she ran up to the house and watched it."

Thinks It Quite Ordinary.

Mrs. Anderson spoke modestly of her part in trying to capture the men:

"I didn't even see the men," she said. "I saw a light moving in the house, but was not sure that it was one of the burglars.

"I would like to have shot one of them if he had run out where I could see him."

Mr. Ehlers rewarded the Anderson boy with a $5 gold piece.

The police believe the robbers are the same men who tried to rob the residence of the Rev. J. F. Long and were driven away by Miss Gladys Long.

Survey West Shore of Lake.

For the first time in forty years a survey is to be made of the west shore of Lake Michigan and its harbors. The work will start soon from Kenosha harbor with the government steamer Search. Last year the survey was completed as far as Grosse Point. This time the territory from Fort Sheridan to Kenosha will be covered.

Italian Marble

Busts: Figures: Pedestals:

A sale affording a saving of nearly half—and no two subjects alike in the assortment.

In the lot are Ideal Heads, authors, groups and figures—slight imperfections, scarcely discernible, are responsible for the unusual concession in price.

MARBLES

We quote below comparative prices that show the reductions made, because of imperfections, on this special assortment of choice marbles.

Marbles that would regularly sell at $6.50 to $50 are now marked at $4.00 to $30.

PEDESTALS

Beautiful white and green Tuscany and Italian Marble Pedestals are included in a pleasing variety. Note savings recorded below.

Pedestals that regularly sell at $5 to $50 are now marked at $3.00 to $25.00.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Our New Tailored Gowns Closely Adhere to the Fashion Ideals of the American Woman.

This fact is reaffirmed in every new addition to our present very extensive displays. We have been unusually happy in bringing from Paris and other sources the clever adaptations that retain all the charm and newness in the season's modes, yet with colorings softened and lines modified to come within the studied requirements of our patrons. This accomplishment is all the more notable in view of the many widely divergent periods from which Fashion has drawn her inspiration. Some of these Suits are severely plain—but the greater numbers show a decided disregard for the tailored effect in the styles and in the profuse use of garnitures. Sixth Floor

WE HAVE ILLUSTRATED FOUR TYPES MOST REPRESENTATIVE OF THE NEWEST STYLES AT POPULAR PRICES.

Tailored Suits in rough effects with semi-fitted coat and plain gored skirt, $35.

Tailored Suits of two-toned boucle—a rough material, handsomely trimmed with braid, $40.

Broadcloth Tailored Suits—a very effctive new style with coat and skirt embroidered with braid to match, $40.

A very attractive Suit with handsomely embroidered coat, new sailor collar, moire revers—broadcloths, $57.50 and $67.50. Imported Cheviots, $55.

Women's Imported Street Coats Showing New Sailor Collars, Hoods and Belts.

Tweeds, Broadcloths and Velvets are all shown in these out-of-the-ordinary modes. They are all full length, simple in design, yet none the less distinctive in style, featuring all the season's worthiest new ideas. Many of our newest coats have the small scarfs attached—as much for comfort as for effect, giving an enlivening touch of color. Sixth Floor.

Everything in materials this season is soft and clinging. Manufacturers have responded with the beautiful new Ratines and Montagnacs. These are strongly represented in our Coats, and colors may be selected in them to every woman's liking.

This week we direct attention to the splendid varieties of styles, material and colors in our Imported Coats at popular prices—$47.50 to $150.00.

Buying Hosiery Now in the Special Sale

Affords Decided Savings for Men, Women and Children

After this week these special prices will be withdrawn. We offer in All-Silk, Lisle Thread and Cotton standard qualities that are exceptional values at their regular higher prices. Women's and Children's—Fourth Floor

Women's Black Hose, all-thread silk or with cotton soles—for this week only, three pair, $4.00 and $5.00.

Women's Black Thread Silk Hose, lisle garter tops and lisle soles—three pair, $2.50 and $4.

Women's Black Mercerized Hose, with lavender tops, six pair, $2.50.

Women's Black Lisle Thread Hose, six pair, $2.50 and $2.25.

Women's Black Mercerized Hose—two values especially deserving of emphasis, three pair, $1.00, and six pair, $1.75.

Children's Hose—a splendid cotton ribbed quality, sizes 5 to 9, six pair, $1.35 and $1.65; other qualities, $1.75 to $3.65.

Boys' Hose—a heavy cotton ribbed quality for school and rough wear generally—six pair, $3.00.

In the Men's Section, First Floor—four of our best selling regular lines in this sale—all silk or silk with cotton soles, three pair, $3 and $4; an excellent quality in cotton, six pair, $1.25, $1.75 and $2.25; silk lisle—six pair, $2.25.

In Our Untrimmed Millinery This Week:

Specially Favored Styles in All Lines at Attractive Prices.

The advantages our Millinery Salesroom hold out to women preferring to design their own hats are unique—here she may study the latest ideas in styles most becoming, here she may choose from seemingly boundless varieties of Untrimmed Hats, Imported Flowers, Feathers and Novelty Trimmings—whatever she desires in colorings or styles. These most attractive values are an added feature of interest this week Fifth Floor.

Fine quality Beaver Hats with long heavy fur nap, six medium and large brim shapes in black and colors, $5.00.

Turbans are extremely popular this season—many effective styles may be easily produced from the soft, pliable fur felt semi-blocked Hoods or bodies in black and colors at $5.00.

Wings are now in the height of favor for trimming hats such as the above; imported wings of large size one-half yard in length and about the same in width; in a select line of colors, priced very low, $1.45.

Select Novelty Feathers in a great variety of most effective trimming styles, from which a selection may also be made, at a great saving, $1.45.

THE 46TH SEMI-ANNUAL SALE

Women's Kid Gloves Practically at Paris Prices

Our prices in this sale are on the same scale as those of last year—an important consideration in view of this season's increased cost of our Kid Gloves.

We include practically all our lines—the Alexandre-made Kid Gloves being featured in glace and suede, in all preferred shades, and in long or short lengths.

Women's Short Kid Gloves—black, white and all the newest shades, short lengths, at $1, $1.15, $1.25 and $1.65.

Women's Alexandre-made Kid Gloves—best in quality, style and finish, short lengths, $1.35, $1.65, $1.75, $1.90.

Mousquetaire Kid Gloves—Alexandre-made, priced according to length and quality, $1.75, $1.90, $2.40, $2.75 to $3.75. First Floor.

Handkerchief Seconds for Men and Women First Floor.

PRICED VERY LOW AT 12½c, 15c, 18c, 25c.

A keen eye is required to detect the imperfections that class these handkerchiefs as seconds—a few stitches of the needle will make many of them as good as first quality lines—and the savings are more than one-third of the regular prices. An unusually large assortment goes on sale today. All are hemstitched, some are embroidered; 12½c, 15c, 18c, 25c.

100 New Feather Trimmed Hats on Sale Today. Special $10.00

Fifth Floor.

These two styles are from the special line of Feather Trimmed Hats in the medium priced Trimmed Hat Section, and fairly represent the excellent style character of Millinery at this very moderate price. The excellence of the values, and the variety and becomingness of the styles, will be better appreciated by seeing them in our exclusive displays.

Women's Slip Over Night Dresses, Special $4.95

The quantities are large, but they may not outlast the day's selling. This value is one that women will be quick to appreciate. The material is a beautiful soft quality of Nainsook trimmed with fine tucks and real Irish Crochet lace—short flowing sleeves—again, this is a remarkably low price, $4.95. Fifth Floor.

Silk Petticoats in Three Beautiful Colorings, $5.00

One of the most remarkable values in our unusual selling plans for October—a splendid style for the close-fitting gowns, made with 14-inch knife-plaited flounce. The colors: shadow stripes in a conventionalized design, novelty black and white and changeable stripes, and a very effective monotone floral pattern—the quality of the silk also stamps this as one of the best values ever offered at $5.00. Fifth Floor

Fine Plaid Blanket, $7.75

About 200 pair of all-wool plaid Blankets in a varied assortment of styles and colorings, a very fine quality, marked at this low price. They are one of our best selling regular lines, size 70x80 inches, going on sale today at $7.75 a pair. Third Floor.

$15.00

New Veiled Waists in Charming Colors to Match the Season's Suits.

Exclusive novelties from Paris added to the great numbers of highly effective styles from other sources leave us admirably equipped to meet this season's growing demand for Waists. The selling is indeed active—but new arrivals are constantly coming in. Every woman will find a style to her liking in the new chiffons, marquisettes and Tuscan nets.

The high colorings used beneath the vellings—especially the Paisley effects—give a decided note of distinction to our styles.

The new Mandarin Sleeve brings out an innovation that is sure of every woman's approval. Many very many styles as attractive as those illustrated could be chosen from our display. Sixth Floor.

At $15.00—Chiffon Veiled Waists over fancy lace with broad bands of silk in contrasting colors—as illustrated.

At $9.75—Chiffon Waists veiled over Persian and finished with bands of silk and soutache braid.

At $8.00—Chiffon Waists over white, body and sleeves, trimmed with broad bands of Dresden silk.

At $7.50—Waists of fancy Tuscan net over a white net lining with bands of Persian silk—as illustrated.

Games Today.

St. Louis at Chicago.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

John Pfiester had a trial gallop yesterday, but didn't go the full route. If he had we might have won. Who knows? The Cardinals made six runs off him in three innings. They made nine more of Hank Weaver. Total, fifteen, against seven which the Cubs collected against a blond left hander named Hearn.

Battered as hard as he was, Mr. Pfiester didn't look bad. He was short on control and that was reason enough for his downfall. Probably the P. L. would have let him stick if he had known how much worse Mr. Weaver was going to be. The other hadn't made up the sleep he lost when he went chicken hunting in Cleveland the other night. The Cards pasted the life out of him when he got them over, which was seldom. Hearn insulted him by lifting a home run into the right field stand in the ninth inning.

Cubs Forget to Field.

The Cubs were so wrapt up in gazing at the awful exhibition their pitchers gave that they forgot entirely how to field. They helped swell the big St. Louis total with four boots. Mr. Chance took things seriously at first and was inclined to be angry over the showing of the champions. But he finally got over it and was as pleased with the futile rally in the last half of the ninth as if it had given the Cubs a victory in midseason.

This rally was really the most enjoyable thing in an afternoon full of enjoyment. The Cubs, who hadn't scored for seven rounds, began banging into Mr. Hearn as if they never meant to stop. But the fifteen looked big. They knew that it would be dark long before they could get even, and they also knew that the umpires and scribes had had more than enough of it. So they gave up after batting around, gathering six hits and four runs, and saved themselves the trouble of a double header or worse later in the week.

Cards Fatten Batting Marks.

It's too bad some of the Cardinals weren't within reach of the automobile. They had the chance of their lives to fatten up and the Chicago infield didn't have to "lay down" to give them base hits.

Ed Konetchy led the assault. Rube Ellis led the defense. While it wouldn't be fair to say that the Cubs deserved fifteen tallies, it's a cinch they would have had almost twice as many as they got but for Ellis' swell left fielding. He sure played that old garden with much effectiveness. Needham, Weaver, and Johnny Kane suffered from his best catches. His pull down of Tom's long crack in the fifth was a masterpiece that caused even James Sheckard to gaze at him in admiration.

There were two comedians in right field. One, of course, was Steve Evans, who could have a good time in a morgue. The other was Frank Schulte, whose home run in the first inning seemed to fill him with devilment. Hank O'Day caught him sitting in a field box while the Cubs were at bat in the seventh. Hank didn't want the dignity of the pastime marred and Frank was shipped to the bench as soon as discovered.

Poet Aids St. Louis Team.

In the ninth Mr. Schulte was standing on second base in the midst of the rally. Ellis heaved a ball in from left field. There didn't appear to be any of the Cardinal infielders around to take the throw, so Frank took it himself. Politely he returned it to Mr. Hearn and thus cut off some of the awful delay attendant on the returning of a base knock.

The first inning of the game was much like that of Sunday's. The Cards got three and the Cubs came right back with the same amount. There was a big difference after that, however. St. Louis' big inning was the sixth, wherein five whole tallies were marked up, Hank forcing in a couple of them with passes.

Joe Tinker retired in the fifth and Kane, who busted up Sunday's frolic, took his place. Harry Steinfeldt's arm was hurt by a pitched ball in the eighth. Cole ran for him, and, in the ninth, Hofman was on third and Beaumont in center. The Cardinals didn't switch around at all. None of them was willing to quit when hits, runs, and other good things were being distributed with such lavish hands.

Pfiester Early in Trouble.

Pfiester got in trouble by walking Huggins right off the reel. Ellis forced Miller. Mowrey poled a double to left which sent Rube to third. Both of them scored on the first of Koney's four raps. Evans' single drove Koney to third and he came in on a passed ball. Bliss and Abbott were strikeout victims.

That lead didn't dishearten our brave boys. Sheckard greeted Hearn with a safe one to center. Mr. Schulte cracked a long one between Ellis and Abbott. These people gave it an awful chase, but the ball was faster than they and it rolled under the gate in far away left center before they could catch up. Hofman walked and advanced when Betcher made a beautiful muff of Chance's fly. Artie and the P. L. tried a double steal and Art was ruled out at third. Zimmerman struck out, but Chance scored the tally that tied on Steinfeldt's slap to right. Ellis' nice fielding and occasional bits of real pitching by Hearn held the Cubs after that until the ninth rolled around.

Pfiester breathed his last in the third. Ellis fanned and Mowrey walked. Mike took third on Koney's single. Koney stole second. Evans' bounder to Chance killed off Mowrey at the plate, Ed getting to third and Steve to second on the play. Bliss brought them in with a single to center and went all the way to third himself on Hofman's mess of the ball. Bliss crossed the plate when Abbott found a safe spot back of Tinker.

Weaver's Burden Is Heavy.

Weaver had no trouble at all in the fourth, but he didn't have long to gloat. Singles by Ellis and Evans, a pass to Mowrey, and a sacrifice hit gave the Cards their seventh and eighth marks in No. 5.

Then came the sixth and its burden of horror. Betcher lifted a single over Kane. Hearn shot one to left and Huggins sacrificed. Ellis walked and so did Mowrey, forcing Betcher across. Koney varied the monotony by fanning, but Weaver had a pass to give Evans and Hearn strolled in. Kane kicked Bliss' grounder, Ellis coming over. Abbott then doubled down the left foul line, scoring everybody but himself and Bliss. Kane managed to grab Betcher's fly.

There was real class to Weaver's work in the eighth. Konetchy tripled between Hofman and Sheckard. Evans, Abbott, and Betcher took the count on strikes, Bliss walking in the meantime.

Hearn started the ninth with his lift into the right field seats. Huggins singled and chased all the way on Ellis' three bagger. Rube thought it was a homer, but a nice relay by Kane convinced him of his mistake.

Cubs in Final Rally.

When the Cubs came up for their last try they needed twelve to tie and thirteen to win. They proceeded to get a few. Needham singled to right and Weaver did the same to left. Archer batted for Sheckard and doubled to the fence in right center, scoring the battery. Jimmy took third on a passed ball. Schulte walked and Hofman flied to Evans, Archer counting. Chance popped to Koney. Singles by Zimmerman and Beaumont filled them up and Kane's hard shot through Mowrey counted the poet. Needham wound up the game by forcing Kane at second. Score:

*SUGGESTED BY R. B. P.

Manuel was a normal kid and he cared not a darn for pomp.
He loved to play in the natural way; it delighted his heart to romp.
He loved the joys of the natural boys, with a few that he made his own.
The regal snap to this little chap was a thing to be let alone.
He loved to roam through the old wood lot with his falcon on his arm,
And he loved to tease the piano keys with never a thought of harm.
He had all the parts and the natural arts of a kid that's bred in peace
To get his share of the joy and care that's writ in the human lease.
But it wasn't to be for this normal kid; he was cursed with a pedigree
Entailing a lot of the "D. G." rot and responsibility.
That's a tough old job to put up on a boy who hasn't a word to say,
Nor a wee small voice in the personal choice in the things that come his way.
Now a rabid mob is singing songs and boasting because they nicked
This boy for the shoes he did not choose and the last job he'd have picked.
This regal game is a helofa game. It's a frameup cruel and grim,
And a kid doesn't know how it's going to go till they've sawed it off on him.

Capt. Williams, the penetrative house dick of the Charley house, New Orleans, who some years ago was decorated for distinguished service in marshaling touts around the tesselated lobby, throwing it in temporarily in Chicago. He informs us that the old town is so dead that the purest rays of his life-size diamond horseshoe were being lost in dark unfathomed caves. Hence it is that he is on his way to San Francisco, where he has hopes of detecting an earthquake if one happens along.

Kid Hyland has gone out for keeps as the result of a bash in the jaw delivered in a fistic encounter at Buffalo Saturday night. Therein, we dare say, lies a multitude of palliation for the "incidental" carnage of football and motor racing.

We cannot conceive of anything that Tex Rickard left in Reno that he would care to return for. He and Mrs. Tex always appeared to be a very devoted couple.

The vast majority of the Cubs are married—happily married—men and could muster a powerful and representative ladies' auxiliary if that phase of baseball club life was not persistently and emphatically frowned upon by Manager Chance. Not wishing (but daring) to be ungallant, the baseball wife whose ambition for her husband has been allowed to assert itself has been the breaking up of many a good ball team.

N-NO—WE THINK THAT COVERS IT.

Dear Dr. Hek: Will you diagnose the defeat of our Maroons by Indiana? It's the first time, you know. Of course, if Crawley's touchdown had been allowed, and we had not been penalized so often, and they had played halves instead of quarters, and Indiana's man Gill had been tackled by the last man who missed him, and our man Wilson had kicked several goals out of the eight attempts, the result might have been different. Any other reasons you know?

LAJOIE MAY NOT GET TITLE

President Johnson Starts Investigation of St. Louis Games.

NO MORE BATTING PRIZES.

Commission Sure to Stop Practice; Averages to Decide Winner.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Those eight base hits credited to Lajoie in St. Louis day before yesterday may not give him the title of champion batsman of 1910 and the gas wagon which goes with it. There never will be any more prizes hung up for ball players to compete for with the sanction of the national commission, that's a cinch.

President Johnson of the American league has started an investigation of the reports sent out from the Mound City reflecting on the honesty of the eight hits given Lajoie and the league's executive may take a hand in the official scoring of that Sunday double header if he finds anything that looks crooked.

Again, the eight hits may not do Lajoie anything but harm, because the margin given him in the unofficial figures was so close—three points—that the official averages may show that Cobb won anyway. It requires only a slight clerical error to make a difference of more than three points in a season's batting average. Secretary McRoy of the league is the only source of official information on the subject, and he is not yet in possession of it. The official scores of the closing series in which Cobb and Lajoie played have not been sent to him.

Await Official Scores.

Newspaper scores are not considered official, even when prepared by the official scorers themselves, because of typographical and telegraphic errors which are bound to creep in, despite every precaution to guard against them. Only the scores certified to by official scorers in writing and mailed by them to the secretary of the league are placed upon the league's records. Until those scores of the final games of the year are received the official averages cannot be figured. Then the records must be gone over by an expert accountant and checked before it will be known who won that automobile.

In the meantime the investigation of the alleged scandal in St. Louis can be completed and it will be known whether Lajoie really is entitled to the hits he is said to have made there. Speaking of the matter yesterday, President Johnson said:

"Those reports may not be altogether true, but I intend to find out, and have started an investigation to learn the facts regarding those hits credited to Lajoie. Until I have learned the truth I will not decide what course to pursue. It may be that the collusion charged was only apparent and the reports were colored.

Hits Fault of Youngsters.

"From the reports I gathered that the hits, if regular, were the fault of Northen, an outfielder, and Corridon, a shortstop, who was playing third base. Both are minor leaguers, just breaking in. It is not natural to suspect them of favoring Lajoie at the expense of their own reputations which they have yet to make. It would be much more natural to suspect them of ignorance of how to play for Lajoie in the field and of being tricked by a batsman of his well known resources. But I can tell better about that after I receive the authentic information I am after."

Spectators who saw the first two games of the Detroit series here last week will recall that there was the basis for sending out sensational reports regarding those games if any one cared to "doctor" the facts a little. Once in each game Messenger missed fly ball hits by Ty Cobb which might have been caught by an outfielder more familiar with Cobb's batting. On the first day of the series the field was slippery and wet from hard rains. Messenger slipped and fell just before getting to a fly ball hit by Cobb and it went over his head for two bases. It is the universal practice among major league scorers to credit hits when accidents of that kind happen. The only alternative would be to give the fielder an error for falling down, and that is not his fault but the fault of the grounds. Cobb was credited with a two base hit.

Excuse for Messenger.

Next day Cobb hit another fly to left field. It was a long one and Messenger was barely able to reach it with his hands while on the run. He could not hold it and, following the general practice, that also was scored as a hit, because any other batsman would have been given a hit on the same kind of a drive. Undoubtedly Dougherty or a veteran American league outfielder would have been playing in a slightly different spot for Cobb and would have caught that fly.

It would have been the simplest thing in the world to write a story, based on these two plays, charging Messenger, or the White Sox, with trying to favor Cobb in his contest for the automobile, but the man who wrote such a story would not have believed it himself. In the first place no one would suspect Messenger of trying to help Cobb out at the expense of making himself look bad. Messenger was trying for a Sox position in 1911 and the only way he could earn it was by playing all the baseball he knew. In the second place nobody would suspect any ballplayer of pulling for Ty Cobb to win the automobile.

No More Prizes.

That there never will be another automobile or similar prize hung up with the consent of the national commission is assured. President Johnson of the American league went on record yesterday as unalterably opposed to it. President Lynch of the National league told the writer last month that he would oppose such a thing in future. His opinion was formed before the St. Louis scandal and probably will be made more firm by that incident. Chairman Herrmann of the commission said in Cincinnati yesterday that he would oppose any similar prize in the future.

The national commission did not view with delight the proposition to award an automobile to the best batsman when it was first made. They foresaw chances for all kinds of trouble and for the suspicions and charges of unfairness which have been rife ever since the contest started. If the commission had refused to sanction the prize it would have been subjected to bitter maledictions from the players and all the players' friends; just as was the case when they put a ban on the proposed all star post-season series for exactly the same reason—to forestall the possibility of scandal and suspicion in connection with such a series.

If the national commission had refused to sanction the automobile prize it was thought the prize would be offered just the same with some committee, other than the commission, to decide who was the leading batsman of the year. Consequently no good would have been done by refusing to stand for the prize. Now that it has been demonstrated to all who can read or listen that such prizes are a serious danger to the good name of baseball, the commission will be in position to refuse to sanction all such propositions in future and to point to the automobile contest of 1910 as their pertinent reason for such refusal.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly that the only way to keep baseball above suspicion is to remove every possible chance for suspicion, and the only way to make the public believe the ball player is honest is to make it impossible for him to be dishonest. The automobile contest is one of those unfortunate demonstrations.

How to Secure World's Series Seats as Announced by National Commission

Tickets may be had for three games. If third game is not played, money will be refunded.

Four tickets will be allowed for one individual request.

All tickets to be sold at $2 each.

Make your request by letter, inclosing your check and return stamped envelope.

Make check payable to the Chicago League Ball Club. Address your letter to Chicago League Ball Club, Chicago, Ill.

Do not register or put a special delivery stamp on as it keeps some one busy signing for them.

Do not send your letter by messenger, or take it to the Club's office. The only way to get action on it is to mail it.

These tickets are for Chicago fans and no requests from out of the city will be considered.

If you have already written for tickets, it is not necessary to do so again.

All requests mailed up to 5 p. m. on Tuesday will be considered received at that time.

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

The Cardinals again today. Mr. Overall may get a trial gallop.

There are only four more games on the slate. The Cubs can lose them all without worrying much.

Zimmerman faced Hearn five times. He fanned twice and got three hits. Hearn fanned three times and collected two hits in five journeys to the plate.

Time was when Jimmy Archer wasn't many pumpkins as a pinch hitter, but you'll have to hand it to him nowadays.

Miller Huggins' favorite amusement is tripping to first base. He tripped and fell in Sunday's game and was thrown out by Tinker yesterday because his feet quarreled on the way down.

Johnny Evers was not present. His absence proves conclusively that he has the baseball instinct. It told him what kind of a game there was going to be.

The Evers & Williams shoe store will open next Saturday. Mr. Evers will leave his bed and welcome customers and visitors from a seat in the window. Mr. Williams said he didn't care how often this was put in the paper.

Mr. Schulte's home run off a left hander was responsible for the following:

Said Frank: "As for Plank, just listen,
"All you whom it may concern;
"I hope that fast ball of his'n
"Is as easy for me as Hearn."

JENNINGS JOINS AUTO TRADE.

Detroit Manager Will Manufacture and Sell Machines During the Winter.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Hughey Jennings will manufacture and sell automobiles during the long wait between the world series and the spring training trips. The Detroit leader is vice president of the Day Automobile company, which filed articles of incorporation at Lansing tomorrow.

'COMMY' HEARS CALL OF WILD; LEAVES FOR CANADIAN WOODS

Sox Owner Departs with Companion to Shoot Moose—Sullivan Starts for Philadelphia.

President Comiskey of the White Sox listened to the call of the woods and started last night, in company with Joseph Wray, for the haunts of the moose in Canada above Duluth. Their destination is the Rainy lake region, near where forest fires have done so much destruction, but they are not going to help put out the fires. They are going after the big game which their long experience as hunters and trappers has taught them to foresee that the fires have driven southward. They are going to meet the moose and will keep close enough to the water wagon to avoid danger from fire.

The veteran nimrods expected to reach Duluth today in time to gather their outfit of guides, boats, and other paraphernalia of the chase, ready to start for the game country tomorrow. They have to go 200 miles beyond Duluth by rail, part of the way by handcar, because there is only one train a week over the log road and they cannot wait for the next train. After that there will be a long hike and an additional trip by boat before the game is expected to be met fleeing the flames. The hunters expected to return by the end of this week but a little mental arithmetic will indicate that they will have to "walk in, turn around, and walk right out again" if they do.

Billy Sullivan of the Sox left in the morning for Philadelphia to be on hand for the series between the Athletics and the picked team managed by McAleer, the first game of which is booked for today. Sully said the Athletics would be welcome to any opinion he might have regarding the Cubs if they asked for it, but he was not going to volunteer any information nor going with the intention of coaching the Athletics.

He was going, he said, for the bit of coin which would be coming to each player if the series drew any people, and because McAleer seemed anxious to have him catch part of the games. He said he would have to be back here by Sunday; consequently could not play in the final game of the series and could not be present at the world's series games in the Quaker City.

Mixed Nine Downs the American League Champions in Ten Inning Game, 5 to 4.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10.—The new champions of the American league were defeated 5 to 4 in a ten inning contest by a picked team here this afternoon in the first of the exhibition games to be played this week to keep the players on edge for the world's series. The picked team consisted principally of substitutes from the Athletics.

FIELDER JONES 'COMING BACK'

Former Sox Manager Will Start Today for World's Series.

'TRIBUNE' GETS HIS SERVICES

Baseball's Great Strategist Will Tell Fans How Games Are Won.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Fielder A. Jones, known to fame as the former manager of the Chicago White Sox when they defeated the Cubs for the world's championship in 1906, will leave tomorrow to "cover" the world's series as representative of The Chicago Tribune.

Fielder says he has hungered for two years to see a world's series, but only found time to leave his timber business in the wilds of Oregon because of friendship for Harvey T. Woodruff, sporting editor of The Tribune.

"Of course, I am not predicting that the Philadelphia Americans will win, but the form they have been showing entitles them to consideration," said Mr. Jones, who added that it is necessary to see the teams in action in order to pick a winner.

"Baseball clubs cannot be judged from this distance by the scores printed in the newspapers. Connie Mack's club is superior to the Cubs in youth and energy, and this is one of the principal adjuncts to a successful club," added the baseball expert.

"BILL" LANGE ARRIVES TODAY.

Former King of Outfielders Coming to Chicago to Visit Friends and See the World's Series.

Bill Lange, once king of outfielders, will reach Chicago today. Bill is coming from his California home to see the world's series and to renew old acquaintances. He will be met at the station by a number of friends, who have appointed themselves an entertainment committee for the popular ex-athlete.

A dinner will be given Lange by Jimmy Callahan, who was his particular pal when both were members of the Chicago team. This will take place Saturday night at Vogelsang's. All of Lange's old friends and men prominent in the baseball world will attend.

For the amusement of "Little Eva" and other baseball people who will flock to Chicago next week to attend the world's series games, Jimmy Callahan will appear at the American Music hall next week in his monologue stunt. Lange never has seen "Cal" perform (on the stage), and will be the most interested person in the audience.

NO MORE AUTOS, SAYS GARRY.

National Commission Head Declares Against Prizes for Batting Champions.

Cincinnati O., Oct. 10.—August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, in discussing the Lajoie incident tonight, said:

"Lajoie and Cobb, according to unofficial averages, have the race for the leading batsmen in both leagues between them. Which will win I do not know, and the national commission cannot decide until it receives the official averages of both leagues.

"I do want to say one thing, however, since the question came up, as to the hits made by Lajoie at St. Louis being genuine, and that is that no more prizes or bonuses will be permitted under the rules of the national commission. We shall be careful to eliminate anything of the kind in the future."

WAGNER SHARES WITH LAJOIE.

Frenchman's "Batting" at Least Equaled by Honus, Who Gets Seven Hits in Seven Times Up.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Statisticians all over the country are digging into dope books to show that Lajoie's feat of getting eight hits during eight times at bat is unprecedented in the history of organized baseball. At least seven of the Frenchman's "hits" were bunts which he beat out, only one of them being a solid smash—the first, a triple to center field. Wagner on Aug. 22 of this year at least equaled Lajoie's performance. Out of seven times at bat he negotiated seven smashes, among the lot being two home runs and three doubles.

Lajoie Keeps Silence.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10.—"I have nothing whatever to say," was the way Napoleon Lajoie answered a request for an interview here tonight, regarding the manner in which he made eight hits at St. Louis yesterday.

M'ROY TELLS FANS HOW TO GET SEATS

Issues Statement That Applications for Reservations Must Be Mailed.

TIME LIMIT 5 P. M. TODAY.

Public Sale Only for Grandstand Tickets During World's Series; Defeat for Scalpers.

Chicago mail carriers may think tomorrow is St. Valentine's day before they are through. Robert McRoy, the national commission's Chicago representative for the world's series, last night made definite announcement regarding the sale of tickets for the big show.

There will be no public sale of reserved seats, as was announced last week. Instead all the reservations will be taken care of by mail, and letters posted before 5 o'clock tonight will be the only ones considered. The seats to be sold are the $2 ones, the higher priced tickets having been allotted to regular box holders at the west side grounds, national commission members, and other people prominent in the baseball world.

Mr. McRoy's statement, which follows, will tell fans all they want to know:

"Having organized a force of assistants and perfected the preliminary details, I desire to notify the baseball public of Chicago that about 3,000 $2 tickets for the 1910 world's series games in this city will be allotted in response to requests by mail, but that each applicant will be limited to four seats. The announcement of a week ago that there would be a public sale was made to stop mail requests that were coming in from cities other than Chicago.

Chicago Fans Favored.

"I take the position that Chicago fans should be first taken care of and I regret that the supply of reserved seats is so limited that it will be impossible to meet all the demands of home fans. Reservations for the series have been made for patrons of the west side park who have had reservations throughout the season and also the national commission and prominent baseball officials. These reservations have used up all the $3 and $2.50 box seats, there being comparatively few seats at these prices.

"By following our instructions you may secure four of the box and reserved seats at $2 each. All mail received by 5 o'clock Tuesday will be thrown into a pile and orders filled from these letters taken at random, as long as the supply of seats lasts. If your request is granted, you will be advised by letter how the tickets may be secured. If you do not receive a letter by Saturday, informing you that the tickets you have applied for have been allotted to you, you can count on your check being returned to you in an early mail.

No Public Sale of Reserved Seats.

"There will be no public sale of reserved seats. An important reason for adopting the mail order system at this time is that I have information that the scalpers have organized and would have so many of their agents in line that it would be practically impossible to keep them from getting a large number of tickets. If you have already made a written request, do not send in another.

"These reservations represent only a small proportion of the seats at the west side park, and fans should bear in mind that there will be 15,000 grand stand tickets placed on sale each day when the gates are opened. In addition to these about 12,000 pavilion and general admission tickets will be sold daily."

Letters from people outside Chicago will not be considered. This is a blow to fans of surrounding towns, but Mr. McRoy figures that the home folks should have first call. There won't be any second call because the supply of reserved seats is limited. Out of town patrons must get their tickets at the daily sale, out at the ball park. It will be first come first served there, and the early birds will be able to get the more desirable locations.

Plan to Defeat Scalpers.

Secretary McRoy did a lot of thinking and consulting with the Chicago club's officials before he made up his mind. He decided his present plan would be most effective in defeating the scalpers' game and in accommodating the people who pay money every day to see the Cubs perform.

Tickets will not be sent to the fortunate persons whose mail requests are granted. Identification slips of some kind will be forwarded to them and they will be able to secure their seats by presenting these slips at the box office on the day of the game.

The tickets which will be disposed of in the daily sale at the ball park will entitle the holders to any unreserved seats they can find in the grand stand, also the pavilion seats and those in the temporary stands which will encircle the field. There are about 15,000 grand stand seats and 12,000 of the others.

Work to Start on Stands Today.

It is probable that work on the temporary stands will be started today. Circus seats will be erected all the way around the park, in front of the regular stands. There will be a board fence about thirty inches high in front of these seats. No one will be allowed to stand or sit in the field, so the view from the circus seats will be unobstructed. In the outfield the seats will be at least 255 feet from home plate, the playing rules providing for home runs when balls are hit out of the lot that distance from the batsman's position. So there will be no doubles or triples into the crowd. Base runners will be allowed to go as far as they can when a ball is inside the temporary fences and to go the full route when it bounds over or goes over on the fly.

There will be 250 seats for working newspaper men and telegraph operators. These will be in a temporary press box, which will be built out even with the field boxes, directly in front of where the grand stand screen now hangs.

Secretary McRoy and his assistants expect to be busy men from now on and they are anxious to have the public follow out the instructions given so they may be saved much unnecessary trouble.

DEMAND IN PHILADELPHIA FOR TITLE SERIES SEATS IS HEAVY.

Requests for Tickets Are Three Times Greater than the Supply for the Cub-Mack Contests.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—That the world's series, in which the Athletics and Cubs will figure next week, probably will break all attendance records was attested today when John A. Heydler, secretary of the National league and representing the commission in the disposal of the tickets, announced that the demand for seats is three times greater than the supply.

There will be no public sale of tickets, as was at first thought possible. The demand through the mails went far in advance of anything that the officials anticipated. Only a limited portion of the letters have been opened, but Messrs. Heydler and Shibe, who have charge of the work, said today that the 9,000 reserved seats have been sold.

In distributing the tickets Philadelphians came in for the first share. As far as possible they received the best seats. No favoritism was shown in opening the local requests ahead of those marked with out of town postmarks. Chicago rooters to the number of 200 made requests for seats here on the first two days, but their money was returned. They were coming in clubs, and since their demands cannot be met it is more than likely that many of the Cubs' western followers will not make the trip.

COVERS 11 MILES, LANDS IN SWAMP

Ely Makes Fresh Start for New York and Stops in East Chicago.

MOP HANDLE TO RESCUE.

Called In to Take Place of Front Guide Post; Aviator Says He Will Try Again.

Aviator Ely reeled off eleven more miles yesterday in his New York air journey. He has five more days to do the remaining 955 miles.

The aviator was as imperturbable as ever when he walked into Mayor Schlieck's office in East Chicago and telephoned for his mechanics to come on and patch up his machine. He declares he will continue.

Ely left the vacant lot at Eighty-sixth and Wood streets, where he had spent the day in repairing his aeroplane, at 4:07. He landed twenty-eight minutes later in a slough on the edge of Stieglitz Park, a suburb of East Chicago. It was his third attempt to get out of the city limits. The first one, made early in the morning, resulted in a general smash of the aeroplane. When he arose for the flight that took his airship, rechristened the "mud hen," as far as the Indiana swamp, the front guide post of the plane had been replaced by an old mop handle, spliced on with tire tape. Other splices and patches on the battered framework had used up 180 yards of tire tape. After he had dragged the aeroplane out of the mud of its last berth he telephoned for more tire tape, for more bamboo poles to splice his framework, and for a new propeller.

"First Aid" Squad Arrives.

Glenn Curtiss and a "first aid" squad of mechanics reached Ely shortly before dark. After checking up the damage they [illegible] that Ely would not start today before late in the afternoon. J. S. Fanciulli, Curtiss' business representative, was confident in manner but dubious in words when announcing the aviator's probable future movements.

"He will continue unquestionably unless it appears that he cannot make a success of it," said Fanciulli. "Something may occur to show that the trip cannot be made in time; if so, he will stop."

Curtiss turned to with the mechanics and worked by lamplight, wrapping adhesive tape around splintered places in his $5,000 air machine, which Ely is navigating for him.

Ely's long distance flight so far has been a chapter of accidents. Losing today, he will have four days more to make nearly a thousand miles. He got away from Hawthorne Sunday at 4:10, landing fifteen minutes later at Eighty-sixth and Honore streets with nine miles and a disorganized engine to his credit. He put in the early hours of yesterday morning fixing up the engine and got away for what looked like a good start at 8:24 a. m. His next stop was sixty seconds later in a ditch three blocks north. He had accumulated another mile and smashed up the front part of his airship.

Repair List Longer than Flight.

A hurry call brought Curtiss and the "first aid squad" from the special train where they had been sleeping. These were the repairs on the artificial bird:

Soldered up engine; put new tire on front wheel; put six foot splice with bamboo splints on "push rod," which guides airship up and down; put three foot splice on right hand brace of guiding plane; tied an old mop handle to guiding plane to attach push rod; repaired torn canvas of lower plane; put in new lateral brace to replace broken one, and made innumerable minor repairs and splices to the wire guys.

Three rolls of tire tap of sixty yards each were used in the splicing and fishing of the rods. The gasoline brazing torch was going all day. Mrs. Ely came out in an automobile from the special train, which was at anchor in the La Salle street station, and brought a basket of pies, crackers, cheese and fruit to Curtiss, Ely and the mechanics.

At 4 p. m. the weird looking "mudhen" was pronounced shipshape by Curtiss and Ely took his seat. Post and McCurdy, who came out late from the Hotel La Salle to witness the third start, took out their watches to note the time and away Ely went.

He arose in excellent form and after two experimental wheels, five hundred feet in the air, soared away southeast at a thousand foot height. He was making a speed of fifty miles an hour and was out of sight in eight minutes. The aviators left behind commented on his showing.

Watchers Speak Too Soon.

"That's the way," said Curtiss. "He is making great speed. He ought to make a long distance."

"That is a beautiful sight," said McCurdy, pointing to his brother airman disappearing in the blue sky. "He will go as far as he can, probably to South Bend."

"At last he is off with a good start," said Post. "I feel more confident now than ever."

Three-quarters of an hour later Ely had Curtiss on the wire, and Curtiss proceeded to hasten out to East Chicago to clean the mud off the airship. Ely's patched up front control had gone wrong with him before he made many miles. He dropped at Stieglitz park with the fished controller rods in bad shape.

The aviator's descent in Berkeley Hills furnished the sensation of the year. Such of the commuters as could tear themselves away from the scene went to Chicago on a breakfast of cold coffee and bread, as the cooks and wives were busy in the field looking at the airship. The nearby schools went out of business, and the teachers put in most of the day trying to round up their flocks at the impromptu aviation meet.

SKETCHES OF PHILADELPHIA PLAYERS IN WORLD'S SERIES.

Life History in Baseball of the Members of Connie Mack's White Elephants—Conceded by Critics to Be the Strongest American League Club Since the White Sox of 1906—Who Will Battle with Cubs for World's Title.

Manager.

CORNELIUS J. McGILLICUDDY, or, as he is better known, Connie Mack, has truly been named the "fox" of baseball. Although the American league has been in existence only fourteen years, Connie Mack has annexed three championships. Mack was born at Brookfield, Mass., in 1862, and received his early education at the Brookfield schools. His first appearance as a professional was with Meriden, Conn., in 1884, as a catcher. In the next year he joined Hartford, Conn., but was purchased in the latter part of 1886 by the Washington club. He played with the Senators until 1889 and was transferred to Buffalo in 1890. He caught for six years for Pittsburg and managed the team from 1894 until 1896. In 1897 Mack was made manager of the Milwaukee Western league club and remained there until the spring of 1901, when he went to Philadelphia and established the Athletics of the American league.

First Baseman.

HARRY DAVIS was born in Philadelphia in 1878 and received his education at Girard college. While there Davis showed considerable aptitude as a ball player and in 1894 he was signed by the Providence, R. I., club. The following year he was with Pawtucket, R. I., and later in the season was secured by New York. At that time he was troubled with rheumatism in the legs and New York let him go to Pittsburg in 1896. He played there for two years and then went to Providence in 1898 and 1900. In 1892 Davis decided to quit baseball and he secured a position in Philadelphia. Connie Mack needed a first baseman badly and made overtures to Davis, but the latter refused them until Mack's offer was so large that Davis could not refuse. He joined the Athletics the middle of the 1901 season and has been with them since. Davis is a right handed batter and thrower.

Pitcher.

CHARLES A. BENDER, the famous Indian pitcher, has had a highly successful professional career. He is an example of the remarkable versatility of the Indian race. He is a Chippewa Indian and was born at Brainard, Minn., May 5, 1883. He is 6 feet 1 inch tall, weighs 170 pounds, and is a natural ball player. When 18 years of age he played first base for the Carlisle Indian school team, relieving the pitchers at various times. In the spring of 1902 he pitched for Dickinson college at Carlisle. The following year he pitched for the Harrisburg Athletic club and played on various teams in Harrisburg. In the spring of 1903 he was signed by the Athletics. He did good work part of 1904, but was handicapped greatly by poor health. An operation for appendicitis put him in shape for better work in 1905, but in midseason he was laid up with kidney trouble. Later he recovered, did brilliant work, and won the deciding game of the American league championship race from Washington in the last week of the season. He was the Athletics' pitching star in the memorable world's championship series with the New York Nationals, and won the only game credited to the Athletics, shutting out the New Yorkers. He is a right hander and also bats right handed.

Outfielder.

FREDERICK T. HARTSEL, one of the midgets of major league baseball, was born in Polk, O., in 1876. In 1897 he joined the Burlington, Ia., club, and in 1898 he was with the Montgomery, Salem, Grand Rapids, and Louisville clubs. At the end of the next season he was transferred to Indianapolis and late in 1900 he went to Cincinnati. Hartsel became a member of the Chicago Nationals in 1901 and was persuaded to jump to the Athletics in 1902. He at once became a great favorite in Philadelphia, where his work in left justified the extra salary he received from the Athletics. Hartsel is a left handed batter and thrower.

Pitcher.

JAMES H. DYGERT, a spit-ball artist of the Athletics, won his spurs in 1905 with the New Orleans club of the Southern league. The youngster went to that section a stranger and returned north as the star pitcher of the south. He led the Southern league pitchers in winning percentage, losing only four games all season. He is right handed, of medium size, carrying about 160 pounds, has a varied delivery, plenty of speed, a puzzling slow ball, excellent side arm motion, and a spit ball which is one of the best in the country. Dygert was born at Utica, N. Y., and is only 24 years old. After completing a course at the local high school, where he pitched, Jimmy attracted the attention of the Poughkeepsie club of the Hudson River Valley league. He pitched the season of 1904 with that club and was secured by Connie Mack in the fall. Manager Mack then farmed him out to the New Orleans club for development. Dygert is a right handed batsman and pitcher.

Center Field.

REUBEN N. OLDRING was born of American parents—not Swedish, as some have said—in the city of New York on May 30, 1884, received a good public school education, and learned to play ball on the lots of the east side. Later he gained experience by playing with some of the best semi-professional teams in the metropolitan district. In the latter part of 1905 he was taken from the Hoboken club by the Montgomery club of the Southern league. Oldring's work with Montgomery attracted general attention and in the middle of the season the Athletics purchased his release. At the end of the Southern league season Oldring returned to New York and played a number of games with the New York Americans. He made such a good impression that the New York club, unaware of the Athletics' purchase, drafted him for 1906, which draft was subsequently set aside by the National commission. Oldring stands five feet nine inches high and throws and bats right handed.

Infielder.

JOHN McINNES, infielder, was born at Malden, Mass., in 1890, weighs 155 pounds, and is 5 feet 8 inches in height. He began with the Haverhill, Mass., team two years ago, but was secured by Connie Mack for this season. McInnes has not had much opportunity of showing his merit. He is right handed.

Third Base.

J. FRANK BAKER was born in Trappe, Md., on March 13, 1886, is 6 feet tall, and weighs 175 pounds. His first professional engagement was with the Reading, Pa., Tri-State league team in 1908. Mack decided that Baker would be an acquisition and secured him in the fall of 1908. His batting average last year was .307, and he fielded .920. This year Baker has improved steadily, and now he is ranked with the best third basemen in the league. Baker is a left handed batter and thrower.

Catcher.

PATRICK J. LIVINGSTONE was born in Cleveland, O., Jan. 14, 1881, weighs 190 pounds, and is 5 feet 8 inches tall. He started playing ball on the town lots and in 1905 went to Wheeling, W. Va., where he remained one year. In 1906 he was grabbed by Cincinnati, but during the next two years he was with Indianapolis. He failed to agree upon terms in 1909 and was secured by Connie Mack, with whom he has since been. Livingstone is a right handed thrower and batter.

Second Base.

EDWARD W. COLLINS, second baseman, was born at Millerton, N. Y., May 2, 1887. He is 5 feet 10 inches high and weighs 160 pounds. He first came into prominence at Columbia university, where he played baseball and football. He excelled in both branches of athletics and finally was persuaded to play for the Athletics. He did so at first under an assumed name of Sullivan in 1906, but in 1907 he resumed his correct name. For a couple of years he was kept on the bench, but last season he was given a place on the regular team and at once made good. His hitting, fielding, and base running put him in the front ranks. Collins is a left handed batter and right handed thrower.

Shortstop.

JOHN J. BARRY, shortstop, was born April 26, 1887, at Meriden, Conn., weighs 160 pounds, and is 5 feet 8 inches in height. Barry went to Holy Cross college, Worcester, Mass., where he soon gained prominence and attracted the attention of several major league managers. Connie Mack secured Barry's name to a contract in 1908. Barry had played every infield position at Holy Cross, but Mack soon discovered that Barry was a natural shortstop and placed him there. Barry is a right handed thrower and batter.

Catcher.

IRA THOMAS, catcher, was born in Ballston Spa, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1881. He weighs 195 pounds and stands 6 feet 2 inches. In 1902 Thomas secured his first professional engagement at Hartford, Conn., and after that was with Newark, Providence, New York Americans, and Detroit. Two seasons ago Philadelphia bought him. Thomas is a right handed thrower and batter.

Right Field.

DANIEL MURPHY was born in Philadelphia in 1876 and first played professionally with Worcester, Mass., when only 18 years old. He was not quite fast enough, however, and Attleboro, Mass., secured him in 1899. One year later he went to Norwich, Conn., and before the season was over he had been bought by New York. He was returned to Norwich in the spring of 1902 and in July of the same year Connie Mack bought him for the Athletics. Murphy bats and throws right handed.

Catcher.

JOHN W. LAPP, catcher, was born in Frazer, Pa., on Sept. 10, 1884. He played amateur ball with Berwyn in the Main Line league in 1905 and in 1907 went to Portsmouth, Va. Lapp returned to Chester, Atlantic league, the same year. He joined Syracuse also in 1907, but was taken ill with typhoid fever and later jumped back to the Atlantic, this time with Allentown. For this deed he was suspended. Lapp went to Hazleton, Atlantic league, in 1908 and was reinstated in the fall of that year. Since that time he has been with Philadelphia, except for a few games last year with Newark. Lapp is right handed.

Pitcher.

HARRY R. ("CY") MORGAN, pitcher, was born at Martin's Ferry, O., on Nov. 10, 1878. He weighs 180 pounds and is 6 feet tall. His first professional engagement was with Fall River, Mass., in 1902, and from there he went to the St. Louis Americans. He was farmed to Minneapolis in 1903, played at St. Paul in 1904, Indianapolis in 1905, and back to St. Louis in 1906. In 1907 he was sent to the Boston Americans, but spent part of the season with Montreal. Boston recalled him in 1909 and later in the season traded him to the Athletics for Pitcher Schlitzer. Morgan is a right handed thrower and batter.

Left Field.

BRISCOE LORD was born at Upland, Pa., Sept. 21, 1883. His first engagement was with the Upland semi-professional team in 1903. In June, 1904, he joined the Lancaster team of the Tri-State league, and was transferred to the Coatesville team of the same league that season. In the spring of 1905 Mack took Lord south for a tryout and signed him. In 1907 Lord and Oldring fought it out for the job in center field with Oldring getting first call. Lord was released in 1907 and went to Cleveland, from which club the Athletics secured him this year on a trade. Lord is a right handed batsman and throws from the same side.

Pitcher.

JOHN W. COOMBS, pitcher, hails from Portland, Me., stands 6 feet 1 inch, and weighs 190 pounds. In 1902-3-4-5 he pitched for Colby college. Mack landed him in 1906, in which year he pitched and won that famous twenty-four inning game against Boston. That feat stamped him as a wonder, but last year he was off color and did not do good work. This season, however, he has been one of the mainstays of the team, and it is largely due to his wonderful pitching that the Athletics are able to style themselves the champions. Coombs is a right handed thrower and usually bats left handed. He is 26 years old.

Pitcher.

FRANK M. ATKINS, pitcher, was born at Peucan, Neb., in 1888, weighs 160 pounds, and stands 5 feet 10 inches in height. He first broke into professional baseball at Akron, O., and afterwards played at Bay City, Augusta, and Atlanta. This year he was landed by the Athletics, but owing to the excellent work of the other pitchers Atkins has had little chance to show his ability. Atkins is a left hand pitcher and batter.

Pitcher.

EDWARD S. PLANK has enjoyed a successful career as a professional pitcher, and all his experience has been gained while a member of the Athletics. Plank was born at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1875, and after a public school education took a course at Gettysburg college. While there his pitching against college teams attracted the attention of Connie Mack, who invited him to go to Philadelphia for a trial. This was in 1901, and he made good from the jump, helping to pitch the Athletics into the 1902 and 1905 pennants. Plank is a left handed batter and pitcher.

Outfielder.

AMOS STRUNK, outfielder, is a recent acquisition to the Athletics and most of his work has been done in emergency batting, at which he has made a big success. At present he leads the American league in batting, although he has not been often enough at the bat to allow him to rank in the official averages for the automobile, won by Lajoie. Strunk is a six-footer and weighs 165 pounds. He is a left hand batter.

Pitcher.

HARRY W. KRAUSE, pitcher, was born in San Francisco in 1888, is 5 feet 11 inches in height, and weighs 165 pounds. He was graduated from St. Mary's college, Oakland, Cal., in 1909, and played with San José prior to joining the Athletics in 1909. His work last year was the sensation of major league baseball, but his arm went bad early this year, and he was compelled to lay off for some time. Krause is a left hand pitcher and batter.

Infielder.

BENJAMIN F. HOUSER, first baseman, was born in Shenandoah, Pa., in 1884, weighs 190 pounds and is 6 feet ½ inch in height. Houser was a Girard college boy. He was landed by Louisville, Ky., in 1906 and from there went to Rochester, Altoona, Scranton, and Toronto. Mack purchased his release and he has been carefully coached by Harry Davis to fill the latter's place in the near future. Houser is a left handed thrower and batter.

CLARKE PREDICTS VICTORY OF CUBS

Pirate Leader, in City, Picks Chance's Men to Win the World's Title.

ON WAY TO KANSAS FARM

Manager Tells Friends How He "Came Back" by Working as Lather, Thus Saving Arm.

Fred Clarke, manager, of the vanquished champions, passed through the city yesterday on his way to his ranch in Kansas. Aside from "doping" the Cubs as the winners of the world's series, the leader of the Pittsburg team had little to say on the baseball situation, past, present, or future.

Barney Dreyfuss' chief asset was in town long enough to be cornered by some of his friends, who tried to pry off the baseball lid, and the only thing they could get out of him was how he was able to "come back" many, many years ago—just how long he refused to state, fearing the general public would call him a "has been" on account of the age limit prescribed by Dr. Osler.

It appears that a decade or two ago, Clarke was playing semi-pro ball in Des Moines, Ia., when one morning he woke up to find he had a "glass arm." He hied himself to a dear friend, who at one time had one of these useless wings, and who had been able to return to the game and make good. This friend, who was a plasterer by profession, said that he had regained the use of his throwing arm by working at his daily bread winner. The continual use of the arm lifting the trowel and throwing mortar brought the arm back to its natural position and the friend prescribed a job at lathing as a cure for Clarke's ailment.

Lathing Cures "Glass" Arm.

"Well," said Clarke, "I accepted a lathing job at $2 a day, worked at it for a few weeks, and found that what my friend had said was true, absolutely. The first thing I knew my arm was normal again, and I could throw as well as ever. I'll have to bid you goodbye, boys; will see you next year. I'm bound for Kansas and a period of rest."

So far as this goes, it sounded real sane, but a friend hurled a parting shot at Fred as he climbed aboard the rattler:

"O, Fred, are you going back to lathing again?"

Apropos of the smashing of the world's record for throwing a ball at Cincinnati on Sunday by Sheldon Lejeune, Jimmy Ryan is sponsor for the story that Hatfield's mark was broken 'way back in '89 by Ed Crane. Not only, so the story goes, did Crane break this mark, but on the trip around the world of the Chicago baseball team Ed startled the natives of England by hurling a cricket ball so far it hasn't been found to this day.

Greatest Record Ever.

While the team was at Essex, England, just a little way out of London in 1889 the spectators urged Ed to try and break the record for a thrown cricket ball. Crane agreed to make the trial and the crowd circled the point where the ball had to be thrown to beat the mark. Without any physical warming up, Crane picked up the cricket ball and according to Ryan threw the heavy sphere over the heads of the spectators.

And no record of this was kept, lamented Ryan.

WHITE IS TARTAR FOR ATTEL

Chicagoan Gives Featherweight Title Holder Hardest Battle of Career at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Jack White, the clever Chicago featherweight, gave Abe Attel, world's featherweight champion, one of the toughest arguments of his famous career in a fifteen round boxing bout here tonight. The bout was fast and, although the "Ghetto Kid" was given a rightly earned decision, the Chicago man made a name for himself and won many friends in this city by his clever and game work. In the fourth round White got to the champion's body nine or ten times, but was returned the compliments in the fifth. The remaining rounds were Attel's by a slight margin.

WHITE SOX AND WEST ENDS TO PLAY GAME FOR CHARITY.

Contest Will Be Held at Comiskey's Park Sunday and Proceeds Will Go to House of Good Shepherd.

The White Sox booked their first semi-pro game of the year yesterday when they hooked up with the West Ends, semi-pro champions of the city, for a contest on Sunday at Comiskey park for the benefit of the House of Good Shepherd. A field day will be run off at the same time. The West Ends also booked a series of three games with the Gunthers, with the first contest on Saturday at Gunther park. The Roseland Eclipse team has accepted the challenge of the Fisk Colts for a series of games, total gate receipts to go to the winner.

JOHNSON LOSES RACING CARD.

American Automobile Association Withdraws License and Match with Oldfield May Be Off.

New York, Oct. 10.—The contest board of the American Automobile association issued a statement tonight canceling racing driver's registration No. 667, issued to Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion pugilist, "for failure to comply with the necessary requirements in connection with such registration."

Although there was talk tonight that the cancellation of Johnson's certificate might result in calling off his race with Barney Oldfield, scheduled to be run at Sheepshead Bay on Oct. 20, both Oldfield and his manager denied positively that such will be the effect.

"The race will certainly take place as announced, regardless of anything the American Automobile association may do," said Pickens Oldfield ratified this statement.

NELSON IS VICTOR; DALE BREAKS ARM

Fight at Kansas City Ends After Three Rounds, Preventing Knockout.

DANE MASTER ALWAYS.

Seconds of Denver Boy, Who Is Badly Punished, Toss Sponge to Save Him.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10.—In his first fight since Ad Wolgast stripped him of his championship laurels last Feb. 22, Battling Nelson tonight won from Monte Dale of Denver, after three rounds of fighting.

At the beginning of the fourth round Dale's seconds threw up the sponge in order to save their man from a knockout. Dale broke his left arm in the second round of the fight, and it was for this reason, his seconds said, they stopped the fight. Nelson was clearly the master of his opponent, however, and would have knocked him out even had Dale not suffered an accident.

First Blood for Dane.

Before the first round had gone a minute it was obvious that the Battler had grounds for his claim that he could "come back." The Hegewisch fighter rushed at Dale after feeling him out for a few seconds. With a stiff left to the eye Nelson drew first blood. In a few seconds a left to Dale's stomach floored him for four seconds. Manyspectators thought Nelson could have won by a knockout in this round had he so desired.

Although clearly outclassed, Dale fought on gamely until he broke is arm. During the third round he made no attempt to use the injured member, but punched Nelson repeatedly with his right.

There was not a moment during the fight when Nelson appeared tired. He was fast on his feet and hit from all angles with great force. After the battle Nelson announced he had agreed to fight "One Round" Hogan of San Francisco ten rounds in that city on Oct. 25.

Dale weighed in at 133 pounds, but Nelson did not scale. It was said he weighed about 138. The Dane was given a rousing reception when he entered the ring. He was tanned and appeared more rugged than he had at any time in the last three years.

FIRST ROUND—Dale landed a left to the wind and a right to the heart. Nelson missed a left. Nelson drove a hard left to Dale's left eye, cutting it, the blood flowing profusely. Nelson backed Dale around the ring, and the Denver boy sent a left to the wind. Nelson put a hard right to the wind. With a right to the jaw Nelson staggered Dale. They clinched. Nelson landed fast rights and lefts and Dale went down for a count of four from a left to the stomach. Dale clinched and Nelson landed rights and lefts at will. As the gong rang Dale pushed a light left to Nelson's jaw.

THIRD ROUND—Dale used only his right hand when he came up, his left arm having been broken in the previous round. Dale landed several rights to the jaw, but they were light. Bat drove a left to the wind, and a moment later staggered Dale with a right to the chin. Dale backed away, Nelson landing light lefts and rights. After backing to the ropes Dale turned upon his opponent and sent two rights to the head. One landed on the Battler's left ear, it being a stinging blow. From that time until the end of the round Nelson rushed his opponent about the ring at will, landing several blows to the body. Dale's arms hung limply by his side when he walked to his corner, and he evidently was in great distress.

Marty Kane of New York defeated Roy Campbell of Kansas City in a ten round preliminary. The lads are featherweights.

Moran and Frayne Matched.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 10.—Owen Moran of England and Johnny Frayne of San Francisco have been matched to fight ten rounds before the New Orleans Athletic club next Saturday.

A Vain Man Often Makes His Strongest Boast on His Shortest Suit.

TWO BIG BATTLES LISTED SATURDAY

Chicago-Illinois and Yale-Army Games Overshadow Other Contests.

STAGG HOT AFTER SCALP.

Mentor Hopes to Retrieve Indiana Defeat by Trimming Downstate Eleven.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Interest in football games to be played on Saturday will center around the Chicago-Illinois contest at Urbana in the west and the Yale-Army battle at West Point in the east. There are other matches scheduled, but these will be overshadowed by the importance of the above mentioned contests.

Since the practice season opened Coach Stagg of the Maroon team has had his eyes on the Illinois engagement, while the same thing might be said about Coaches Hall and Lindgren at Illinois. The defeat of Chicago last Saturday by Indiana is sure to take some importance off the contest at Urbana, but it is sure to result in ascertaining the exact strength of the downstaters.

Alumni of Illinois for miles around will flock to Urbana this week to celebrate home coming week and the football game is the big feature of the celebration. As a result nothing will be left undone to have the Orange and Blue eleven in the best possible condition to win from Chicago and thus give the alumni some cause for a celebration.

Maroons Seek Illinois' Scalp.

On the Midway the team is recovering gradually from its defeat and the players are sure to go into the contest with plenty of fight and determination, as they realize a victory over Illinois will go a long way toward regaining some of their lost prestige. Much dissatisfaction is felt over the decision which robbed Chicago of its touchdown, but Umpire Wrenn has had enough experience in officiating football contests to know what he is doing. Cases of this kind have happened many times, and on a number of occasions the decisions have been as costly as the one on Saturday.

Stagg is not the coach who is going to let a defeat mar a season's work, and he is sure to get the players working in a manner which will make the Maroons a much stronger aggregation on Saturday. He has been confronted with similar conditions before, and he has brought his teams from a chaotic and disorganized state into a smooth working machine which won victories where they were least expected.

Different Style of Attack.

This fact should be borne in mind at Illinois, and there should not be the least bit of overconfidence manifested by the players. The downstaters will meet an entirely different style of attack on Saturday than the one they encountered in the Drake game, they will meet a much stiffer defense, and they will be compelled to combat the ability of one man who possesses the ability to boot the oval on an average of fifty yards. Taking all things into consideration, it is hard to see where Illinois has an easy game, and it will have to work all the time to gain the desired result.

One thing is certain, and that is Chicago will travel to Urbana full of fight, and if Illinois is overconfident, and allows the Maroons to get the jump the downstaters will have to work harder than ever. Stagg has had the experience of a hard game, has seen the weak spots in his eleven, and is not the coach who cannot go a long way toward rectifying them in a week. There were some glaring faults in Illinois' play last Saturday, but these will be straightened out in time. The downstaters must win this contest to have a chance of being rated high among the conference colleges at the end of the year.

Yale Plays Army Team.

The Yale-Army game at West Point is sure to be the banner attraction in the east. In former years the West Pointers have given Old Eli some of its hardest games, and according to the performances of both elevens this season the contest will be no exception. Yale has had its fill of hard games already this season and it has been forced to extend itself to emerge from the field victorious.

Minnesota will take on Nebraska at Minneapolis in a game which should demonstrate the superiority of the Gophers. In past years the Cornhuskers have been able to give Minnesota some close contests, but this season Nebraska seems to be doomed to decisive defeat and the game only will afford Minnesota an opportunity to perfect its plays for the Chicago game two weeks later.

Michigan will attempt to redeem itself for its poor showing against Case last Saturday by playing the Michigan Aggies at Ann Arbor. That the Wolverines have not yet reached a high point of development was shown by their ragged play. There was none of the concentrated attacks or effective interference features which always have characterized Michigan's attack in former years, but it is certain that Coach Yost will have his machine working in faultless fashion before many more games are played. On Friday Wabash will clash with Butler at Crawfordsville in a game which should result in a victory for the Little Giants.

Harvard vs. Amherst.

In the east there are a number of games scheduled which will rank second in importance to the Yale-Army battle. Harvard will meet Amherst at Cambridge in the annual struggle, and this contest should go farther in demonstrating the strength of the Crimson eleven, which already has given every indication of being the strongest team that has represented Harvard in years.

Pennsylvania will get a real tryout by playing Brown at Philadelphia. Since their defeat by Ursinus in the first contest of the season, the Quakers have shown steady improvement, and they gradually are showing the football world that they will be worthy opponents for Michigan, Carlisle Indians, and Cornell in the important contests.

After having its hands full in winning from New York university last Saturday, Princeton will tackle Lafayette at Princeton. The Tigers should have little difficulty in winning this game if they continue to play the football which has characterized their work in the games this season.

Dartmouth and Vermont, Williams and New York university, Syracuse and the Carlisle Indians, and the Navy and Washington and Jefferson will clash in the other big games in the east.

TWO TEAMS GET BIG SCORES IN CHICAGO BOWLING LEAGUE.

Eagle Teas Average 969 1-3 Against the American Radiators and Jose Gomez's Five Blank Trudellos.

Starting with a four figure count the Eagle Teas of the Chicago league last night averaged 969 1-3 and blanked the American Radiator five. George led the winners with an average of 212 1-3. In the other series the Jose Gomez team hung up three big totals, averaging 962 1-3 and taking all three games from the Trudellos. Zieterman pitched 206 1-3 and Sidebotham 205 1-6. Scores:

First Regiment Games Jan. 21.

At a meeting of the athletic board of the First Regiment at the armory last night it was decided to hold the sixteenth annual indoor games on Jan. 21. The meet will be an open handicap affair, as in former years. Notre Dame university already has applied for entrance blanks and promises to have a large squad on hand to participate. Beside the regular events, which will be the same as in former years, a number of innovations are planned. Just what they will consist of will be decided upon [illegible] at a board meeting.

ILLINOIS PLAYS TRY MAROONS

YOUNG TRIED AT QUARTER.

Kicks Goal from Field and Shows Well in Hardest Scrimmage of Year.

BY FORWARD PASS.

The Maroon freshmen, with the assistance of four former Chicago stars, using Illinois formations, won from the varsity, 12 to 9, in an hour's scrimmage yesterday. Tom Kelly played right tackle, Worthwine left half, John Schommer left end, and Walter Steffen quarter for the freshmen.

Rehm, the freshman full back, picked up the ball when the varsity fumbled, and carried it across the line for one touchdown. Steffen got the other on a forward pass. Schommer kicked both goals.

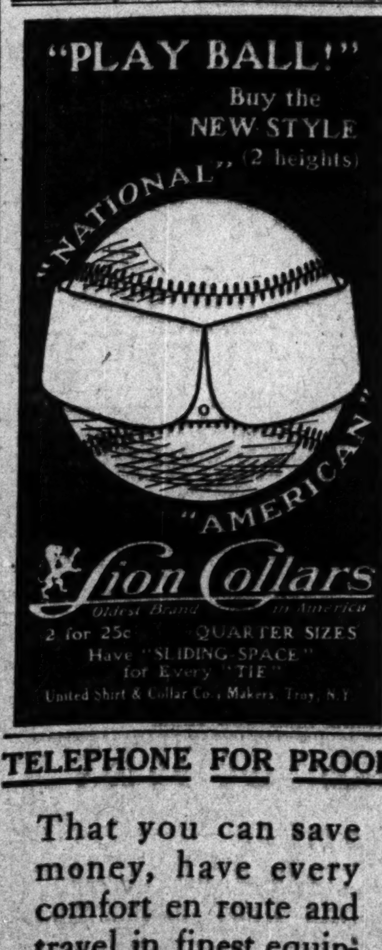

"Nemo" Young was tried out at quarter on the varsity. He dropped a neat goal from the twenty yard line, and after Baldwin, at left half, had made a touchdown on a fake end run he succeeded in kicking the goal from a difficult angle. Wilson was out of the scrimmage, but almost every one else got a chance.

The scrimmage was the stiffest workout the men have had this season, but it was nothing to the lecture from Coach Stagg which preceded it. He went over the game with Indiana in detail and told each man just how he failed.

After the practice the veteran mentor admitted that the varsity team was disappointingly ignorant at football. He says there is nothing to do but work hard this week. He thinks Illinois undoubtedly is stronger than Indiana.

Worthwine, who saw the Illinois-Drake game for Stagg, brings back word that the downstaters have a powerful line and a shifty back field.

A lack of the "football instinct" is the coach's chief complaint against the team. They are all willing enough, and the line, though not heavy, is composed of powerful men. But they are green, and the veterans they will meet at Champaign next Saturday are likely to be too quick for them.

CANADIAN LEADS WOMEN GOLFERS

Miss Dorothy Campbell Clips Four Strokes Off Homewood Course Mark.

16 CHICAGOANS QUALIFY.

Miss Llewellyn Tops Local Players in Qualifying Round for National Title.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Playing consistent golf, devoid of any spectacular features, Miss Dorothy Campbell of the Hamilton Golf club of Canada won the gold medal for low score in the qualifying round of the women's national championship at the Homewood Country club yesterday, her total of eighty-five clipping four strokes off the competitive record of the course held for about ten minutes by Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of the Merion Cricket club of Philadelphia.

The Quaker city representative playing two pairs ahead of Miss Campbell brought in a card of eighty-nine, which cut one stroke off the record made in August last year by Mrs. Luther Kennett, then Miss Isabel Smith, when she won the qualifying round of the women's western championship. Miss Campbell finishing shortly after announced a total of eighty-five.

Champion Ties for Fourth.

Mrs. G. M. Martin of Tavistock, England, finished third with ninety and Miss Lillian Hyde of the South Shore Field club of Bay Shore, L. I., the Metropolitan champion, tied for fourth place at ninety-one, with Mrs. Caleb Fox of the Huntingdon Valley Country club of Philadelphia. Two Canadians, Miss Florence Harvey of Hamilton and Miss E. C. Nesbitt of Woodstock tied at ninety-three for sixth position.

Miss Vida Llewellyn of La Grange, the former western champion, was the first to put the west on the map, tying for eighth place with Miss Mary Fownes of the Oakmont club of Pittsburg. From that point on the western players began to get into the picture which up to that stage did not contain many roseate tints, viewed through western glasses.

Of the thirty-two players who qualified sixteen are from Chicago, six from other western points, including Buffalo and Pittsburg, six from the east, three from Canada, and one from the southern portion of the "tight little island."

Weather Man Good Fellow.

Fortunately the weather man supplied one of his best samples of our Indian summer, and save for a stiff southerly breeze, which, if it was a handicap on some of the outgoing holes was quite a help on the long incoming holes, conditions were all in favor of low scoring. Opinions differed as to the putting greens, but Miss Campbell, who is something of an authority, said the course was beautiful, and that is enough.

The performance of Miss Campbell strengthened her position as favorite in the contest for the title she now holds. A seven on the long eighth hole was the only black mark on her card, and coming home she equaled the men's bogey of 41. In the entire round she was unable to notch a three at any of the short holes.

Mrs. Barlow played finely on the out round, which she made in 43, one less than Miss Campbell, but two sixes and a seven coming home put her out of the running for low scoring honors. Mrs. G. H. Martin, the English player, had two 45s, with sevens in each half of her round.

Miss Lillian Hyde had fine fours on the third and fifth holes and, like Mrs. Barlow, was out in 43, but a trio of sixes and a seven after the turn took her total up to 91. She again demonstrated her ability as a long player, and, with Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Martin, and Mrs. Fox, is counted a strong aspirant for national honors.

Three Chicagoans Get 97.

It was somewhat remarkable that Mrs. W. France Anderson, Mrs. Luther M. Kennet, and Mrs. Thurston, three of the leading Chicago players should tie at 97. Mrs. Anderson, who played poorly in the middle of the summer, seems to have recovered, and her well known ability as a match player is a source of hope for the west. Mrs. Harris did not get going at the start, but improved coming home. Miss Myra Helmer, who had a 99, performed better than this total indicates, as she was bunkered at the sixteenth hole and wasted four strokes in getting back on the earth.

President Herbert Jaques of Boston, Vice President W. A. Alexander of Chicago, and Committeemen Arden M. Robbins of New York, were in charge of the tournament and everything ran smoothly.

The pairings for the first match round this morning were made by drawing and four Chicagoans are drawn against a like number of local players. The majority of the other matches are between players from different sections. Miss Campbell, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Barlow, Miss Harvey, and Mrs. Fox are in the top half and Mrs. Anderson, Miss Hyde, Miss Nesbit, and Mrs. Martin in the bottom half.

NOTES OF THE TOURNAMENT.

Only six of the visiting players failed to qualify.

Miss Harvey, the Canadian player, was penalized a shot for unexpectedly kicking her ball when looking for it in the long grass.

President C. F. Thompson, Warren K. Wood, and a number of Homewood players were on hand to help the U. S. G. A. officials.

The choice score taken from the board was seventy-one, the figures being: Out: 3, 5, 4, 4, 4, 5, 3, 5, 2—35; In: 4, 4, 4, 4, 3, 4, 5, 4, 4—36—71.

Miss Mary Fownes lost a ball, but after playing another her caddie found the lost pill. As five minutes had expired the Pittsburg player was penalized.

In the tournament at Chevy Chase in 1908, where the course is 6,004 yards long, 110 was the lowest score to qualify, while at Midlothian in 1907, 112 was good enough to admit to the match rounds.

Miss Lillian Hyde's long game was demonstrated at the second hole, 505 yards, where she secured a five, at the third and fifth holes where she counted fours, and at the long eighth, 475 yards, which she made in five.

At Merion last year, where the course is 375 yards shorter than at Homewood, Mrs. Caleb Fox, Miss Margaret Curtis, and Miss Anita Phipps tied at eighty-six for low score, Miss Curtis winning the play-off.

Mrs. Caleb Fox carried a mascot, a toy "possum" attached to her caddy bag. It is a fine looking animal, except that its wire tail was a trifle bent, the symmetry of the curve being somewhat disturbed.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, whose home town is North Berwick, is a member of Clan Argyle. She has won the Scottish championship three times, the British championship once, and is the present holder of the United States and Canadian titles. She began golf at the age of 5.

Miss Ruth Layman of Hinsdale was the only player to get a three on the first hole, Mrs. William West being the only contestant to get the eleventh hole, 440 yards, in four, Miss Mary Fownes of Pittsburg scored a four on the thirteenth hole, 465 yards.

The match play round this morning will start at 10 o'clock, a consolation handicap for nonqualifiers being carded for the afternoon. The special train, of which no announcement was made, ran yesterday, but will not run again today.

There were fifty starters, the only absentees being Mrs. C. L. Dering of Midlothian, Mrs. John D. Hibbard of Homewood, Miss Marjorie Edwards of Midlothian, Mrs. C. W. Martyn of Homewood, and Miss Mabel Thompson of St. Johns, New Brunswick, the former Canadian champion.

Anderson May Go to Yale.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Sidney Anderson, disqualified by the faculty from participating in intercollegiate athletics for Wisconsin for one year, will leave tomorrow for New Haven to matriculate at Yale university. Anderson's decision to leave Wisconsin came after a conference with his parents in Chicago, who are anxious that he be given opportunity to display prowess on the gridiron, and is the direct result of the faculty forbidding him to play the gridiron game here this year, although his eligibility is unquestioned.

MARSHALL TEAM IS THROWN OUT

Playing of Two "Ringers" in Game Against Lane Causes Trouble.

BOARD TO TAKE ACTION.

Manager of West Siders Admits Charge, but Says It Was Simply Practice Event.

Marshall High school football team yesterday was thrown out of the Cook County High school race in the minor division, at least temporarily, by John McClear, board member from Marshall, following the playing of two "ringers" in its contest with the Lane second team last Saturday. Until the board of control meets Marshall will be out of the league, but according to other members of the board who have heard both sides of the case Marshall will be eligible to play its first game of the season on Saturday.

Lane lost the contest, 10 to 5, and quickly the Lane players spread the story that Marshall had used at least two outsiders. Manager Lewis of Marshall team admits that two "ringers" played, but their playing in no way gave Marshall the game. The men were McCarthy, a former Marshall player, and Coach Allen of the Marshall squad. According to Lewis, the contest was scheduled simply as a practice game between scrub teams.

Lewis acknowledges that the outsiders were used in the third quarter, but says every player in the fourth quarter was a member of the Marshall team and eligible. It was in the third quarter that Lane scored its touchdown, while Marshall made its scores in the final session.

Members of the Marshall team attempted to explain that the contest was one which would not be recognized by the board, because of the understanding previous to the contest that it would be nothing more than a practice event. McClear would not listen to the appeals of the players, but William X. Meyer, chairman of the football committee, assured the boys the matter would be settled amicably and that Marshall would play out its full schedule in the minor division.

Members of the Cook county high school board of control will meet this afternoon in the board of education rooms in secret session. Just what action will be taken is not known, but from hints dropped by members of the board the eligibility of Capt. Scanlon of Hyde Park and Wayman, Wendell Phillips' star half back, and an Oak Park player will be discussed, and the status of each player determined.

JOAN LEADS FIELD IN TRANSYLVANIA

Hailworthy, Hot Favorite, Never Better than Third in Classic.

DUDIE ARCHDALE SECOND

Grace Winner in $8,000 Purse for 3 Year Old Trotters at Lexington Meeting.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Lexington, Ky. Oct. 10.—[Special.]—In one of the most remarkable races ever trotted for the historic Transylvania purse, which this year was for trotters eligible to the 2:12 class June 1, the 4 year old filly Joan scored a straight heat victory over an exceedingly high class field.

On a track not particularly fast, and a day when the air had the chill of winter, the daughter of the trotter Directum Spier and the hoppled pacer Sarah W. stepped the necessary three miles in 2:05¾, 2:07¼, 2:06¾.

Hailworthy, on which about $30,000 had been wagered when the horses were called, never was in the race for first position and in the end got only fourth money, $250, which was taken from him by a decision of the judges fining his driver, Nottingham, that amount for not trying in the opening mile.

Race Three Horse Affair.

The race for first place at all times was a three horse affair between Joan, Dudie Archdale, and the foreign bred stallion Willy. In every heat the trio of trotters went away from the wire together, and by the time the first eighth pole was reached they were clear of all the others, remaining in a division by themselves the entire mile.

Not only were such highly touted ones as Hailworthy and Billy Burke beaten beyond possibility of argument, but the triumph of Joan was equally clean cut and decisive. She had something on all the others, no matter how they tried her, and while Dudie Archdale's nose now and then showed an inch or so in front, Joan trotted right over Geers and the black mare in the homestretch, and her finishes were made with nothing near.

She took the first heat by two lengths after a wonderful burst of speed in the homestretch, the second by a length, holding the pole all the way, and the third by a length and a half after waiting on Dudie Archdale and Willy until the long distance stand was reached.

Hailworthy's Driver Fined.

As to the others little need be said. Hailworthy was laid up the first heat and his driver fined $250 for the act. In the second mile he broke just as the word was given and fell back to last place, being in at the pole wi[illegible] he recovered his stride. Then Nottingham, after the quarter pole had been reached, took a hard drive of three-quarters of a mile out of his nag, and that "cooked" him.

He finished a close fourth in spite of the break, the same position he occupied at the end of the opening mile, when he trotted all the way, and it was this diversity of form that caused the judges to inflict a penalty.

In the third heat still backed by his fatuous admirers, the big gelding had no speed of the Transylvania quality on tap, and although a hard drive in the last quarter landed him third, he never was dangerous.

Dudie Archdale trotted a fine race, being first or second all the way in every heat, but the Pittsburg filly was unbeatable. The fractional time of the miles shows how superior Joan was at every angle of the game. She could outbrush the others if they went slowly part of the way, and if they made pace from the start she outlasted them, every one of her finishes being easy.

In the first heat the quarter was done in :31¼, the half in 1:02, the three-quarters in 1:34, and the mile in 2:05¾, Joan trailing Dudie Archdale and Willy into the home stretch and then pulling out and passing them as if they were 2:20 performers.

Joan Leads All the Way.

In the second mile, at the pole all the way and on even terms with Dudie Archdale, she trotted the quarter in :32, the half in 1:04¼, the three-quarters in 1:35¾ and the mile in 2:07¼. Trailing again in the third heat, she won all alone in 2:06¾, the quarters being :32¼, 1:03¼, 1:35.

Incidentally Joan put up a new record for 4 year old trotting mares, and her work at the age is surpassed only by that of her grandsire, Directum, 2:05¼. Directum Spier, sire of Joan, has a 4 year old record of 2:11¼.

Joan is an accident in breeding. Her dam fell one day in her hopples and an injured hip kept her from starting again. She was bred to Directum Spier without payment of the usual fee, and both mare and foal were so little thought of they were allowed to run together for a year after Joan was born.

Then the filly, attracting the attention of the farm trainer by her great natural speed at the trot, was weaned, and at 2 years old broken to harness. Now she is champion trotter of her sex among 4 year olds and looks like a 2:03 horse when matured.

Another important race decided today, trotting beginning at 10:30 o'clock and continuing until dark, was the $8,000 stake for 3 year old trotters given by the American Breeders' association. Colorado was not eligible, but Grace, winner of the Kentucky Futurity last week, was, and she showed her wonderful speed and class by the ease with which she captured first money.

Grace Shows Way to Field.

It was only play for her to wait on the other starters in the opening mile until the home stretch was reached, and then beat Native Belle home in 2:08¼. As her driver McDevitt already had made a new record for reinsmanship by winning the Futurity and the Transylvania he made it still stronger by taking the second richest stake in the meeting.

The second heat was easy for Grace, in 2:09¾, and she trotted the last half in 1:02¼, Native Belle second, while Emily Ellen and Lulu Arion divided third and fourth moneys.

Another fine performance by a 4 year old trotter was that of Soprano in the 2:09 class, in which Bracegirdle was a strong favorite and Startle also well backed. Dick McMahon won the first heat handily with Bracegirdle in 2:07¾, after Lady Stately had led for three quarters, but in the second Soprano, with Andrews up, made her trot in 2:06¾, and then went on and won in 2:06¼, 2:09¼, 2:10¾, with Startle the contender.

Myron McHenry won a race with Baron Penn, beating a hot favorite in Creighton. A characteristic McHenry drive at the finish of the second heat set the crowd to cheering.

The racing cleaned up the important events on the two weeks card, and nearly all the visiting horsemen are leaving for home tonight. The fields in the Walnut Hall cup and the McDowell purse are likely to be small, as the best of the entrants raced in the Transylvania, and will not want to start again this week.

C. A. A. ATHLETES LEAVE TODAY FOR NEW ORLEANS TITLE MEET

Delaney Departs with Team This Morning on Special—Absence of Stars Lessens Hope of Victory.

Athletes representing the Chicago Athletic association in the National Amateur Athletic union track and field championships at New Orleans on Friday and Saturday will leave over the Illinois Central in a special car this morning.

Keen disappointment is felt at the Cherry Circle club over the inability of a number of the athletes to get away long enough to make the trip. As a result little hope of winning the meet is entertained and Coach Delaney will be satisfied if each member of the team wins points in the events in which he is entered. As the big athletic clubs of the east are sending their entire teams to the meet, there is little chance of any of the western clubs winning the banner meeting of the outdoor season.

President Brown of the C. A. A. has made arrangements with the railroad whereby the athletes will be allowed to limber up in the baggage cars and they will be served with the regular training table meals. Several other arrangements have been made with the company to make the trip as easy as possible for the athletes. The athletes will arrive in New Orleans tomorrow morning and this will give them two days in which to get accustomed to the track and train for their respective events.

The following athletes will compose the Cherry Circle team which will leave in the C. A. A. Athletic Special: Merritt Giffen, discus throw; D. J. Lindberg, quarter mile; A. Brundage, weights; Harvey Blair, sprints; J. T. Hanley, half and quarter miles; P. V. Degenhardt, high jump; J. P. Hooker, hammer and discus throws; F. C. Irons, running broad jump; Frank Waller, low hurdles; H. F. Porter, high jump; and Eugene Schobinger, high hurdles and pole vault.

President E. C. Brown of the C. A. A., H. H. Latham, chairman of the athletic committee, and Director William Bartholomay Jr. will go to the meeting in S. G. Hatch's private car, which will be attached to the special.

Owing to business engagements Waller and Porter cannot leave until Friday, which will enable them to arrive in New Orleans for their respective events on Saturday afternoon.

NEW TRACK MARK TO ROYAL REPORT

Sets Record of 2:05 for Mile and a Quarter on Louisville Course.

BEAT FORMER TIME :01 1-5

Trance Takes the Six Furlong Dash, Never Being Headed During Entire Race.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 10.—In the last race Royal Report, carrying 105 pounds, lowered the track record of one and one-quarter miles, negotiating the distance in 2:05, which is one and one-fifth seconds lower than Belleview made carrying 106 pounds. Belleview was a 6 year old at the time he made the record, while Royal Report is a 3 year old colt. In the six furlong dash the winner turned up in Trance, which opened up a big gap soon after the start, and from then on never left the issue in doubt, winning handily from Jack Parker. Nimbus failed to run up to expectations. Summaries:

First race, 11-16 mile—Exemplar, 112 [Warren], $7.60, $4.00, $3.50, won; Sigurd, 115 [Grand], $5.30, $3.90, second; Rompie, 112 [Knapp], $16.50, third. Time, 1:08 3-5. Nienaber, Artemisia, Maezie, Bob Farley, Oakley, Busy Miss, Bright Maiden, Edna Perry, Zellwood, Rodman, Red Klaw ran.

Second race, ¾ mile—Dainty Dame, 104 [Moore], $7.70, $3.40, $3.70, won; Dominis Arvi, 107 [Howard], $20.70, $7.40, second; Billy Bodemer, 109 [Herbert], $4.60, third. Time, 1:14 1-5. Wool Sandals, Miami, Sinfran, Gypsy King, Westbury, Aspirin, Falcada, Nunda, Cowen ran.

Third race, 1 mile—Elizabethan, 102 [Koerner], $32.10, $13.50, $5.20, won; Starport, 100 [Moore], $7.50, $4.30, second; Colonel Ashmeade, 97 [Steinhardt], $3.10, third. Time, 1:40 1-5. Southern Gold, Lotta Creed, Anna, Galliota, Indian Maid, Sigo ran.

Fourth race, Handicap, ¾ mile—Trance, 110 [Kennedy], $5.20, $3.90, $2.70, won; Jack Parker, 102 [Reid], $11.80, $4.80, second; T. M. Green, 110 [Thomas], $3.50, third. Time, 1:12 4-5. Carlton G., Glorio, Nimbus ran.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Jack Denman, 113 [Grand], $12.10, $6.20, $4.20, won; County Tax, 100 [Moore], $7.60, $4.20, second; Gold Oak, 103 [Goose], $3.40, third. Time, 1:14 3-5. Fairy Story, Princess Industry, Agility, James Mc., Explicit ran.

Sixth race, 1¼ miles—Royal Report, 105 [Thomas], $67.80, $32.00, $12.20, won; Mamie Algol, 108 [Warren], $3.60, $3.30, second; Azo, 105 [Rice], $5.10, third. Time, 2:05. Mique O'Brien, Peter Pender, Ornamosa, Console, Molesey ran.

FORT ERIE RACE RESULTS.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The fall meet at Fort Erie closes the Canadian circuit tomorrow. The Canadian associations have enjoyed a fairly profitable season, despite the limitation of fourteen days' racing on each track fixed by the new law. The track was four seconds slow today. Summaries:

First race, 11-16 mile—Gardeau, 100 [J. Wilson], 10 to 1, won; Rash, 107 [Walsh, 7 to 2, second; Herbert Turner, 104 [Nicolai], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:10 3-5. Capsize, Melton Street, Jim L., Borrower ran.

Second race, ¾ mile—Anna L. Daley, 107 [J. Wilson], 9 to 10, won; Bedminster, 102 [Lang], 6 to 1, second; Gwendolyn F., 107 [Garner], 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:17 1-5. Sighs, Dr. Burch, Dupree, Mike Sutton ran.

Third race, 1 mile and 20 yards—Lexington Lady, 111 [Lang], 3 to 2, won; Tempter, 106 [Gross], 9 to 1, second; Flashing, 103 [J. Wilson], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:49 2-5. Laughing Eyes, Morpeth, Kenmare Queen, Gilpin ran.

Fourth race, ¾ mile—Dr. Barkley, 114 [J. Wilson] 2 to 1, won; Oxer, 105 [Garner], 13 to 5, second; Domithilda, 106 [Gross], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:16 4-5. Ida D., High Range ran.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Detroit, 107 [Goldstein], 16 to 5, won; Ceremonius, 110 [Walsh], 9 to 1, second; Golconda, 102 [Killingsworth], 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:17 1-5. Judge Lassing, Kokomo, Woodlane ran.

Sixth race, 1¼ miles—Dixie Knight, 109 [Goldstein], 7 to 1, won; Nethermost, 107 [J. Wilson], 9 to 5, second; Hooray, 109 [G. Burns], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:59 3-5. First Peep, Rifleman, Baron Esther ran.

LIGHT WORK BY PURDUE SQUAD.

Players Come Out of Wabash Game Uninjured—Students Bitter Against Referee Hadden.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Only light signal practice was indulged in tonight by the Purdue team. With the exception of a few bruises the players came out of the game with Wabash uninjured. The boilermakers have no game scheduled for Saturday, but instead will play the freshmen a regular game. The old gold and black has its next game with Iowa on Oct. 22. The student body and public are bitter against Referee Hadden, who refused to allow Purdue a touchdown Saturday after the rest of the officials had decided in the boilermakers' favor. Hadden said the touchdown was illegal, claiming a forward pass was caught behind the goal.

FAVORS SAVANNAH FOR RACE.

Contest Committee of Automobile Club Acts Favorably on Application for Grand Prize.

New York, Oct. 10.—The contest committee of the Automobile Club of America today acted favorably upon the application of the Savannah Automobile club and the municipal authorities of that city to transfer the grand prize automobile race from Long Island to Savannah. Today's decision is subject to ratification by the board of governors of the Automobile Club of America. A meeting has been called of the latter body for tomorrow and it is expected that the action of the contest committee will be upheld. A tentative date of Nov. 12 has been set for the contest.

THE HUB
Henry C. Lytton PROP'S.

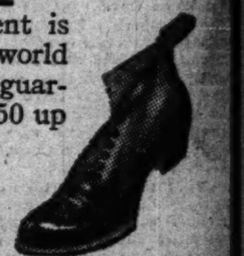

Clothing Supremacy

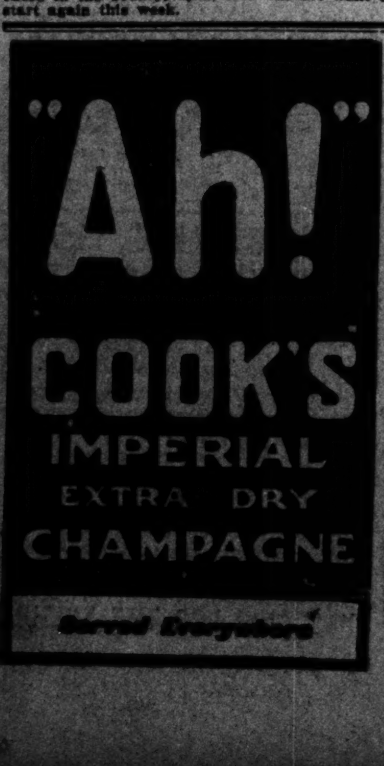

NOWHERE is there a store with stocks large enough to compete with The Hub; we stand alone, the biggest and best establishment in the world devoted exclusively to the dress requirements of the masculine contingent.

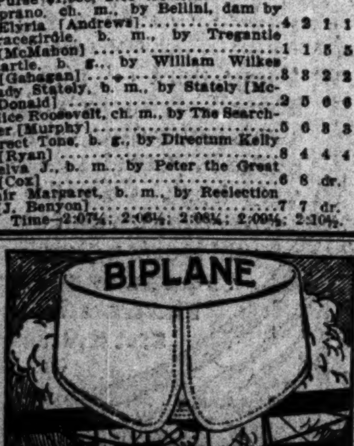

For the man who wishes to pay $20 for his fall suit we are showing tweeds in heather and Bannockburn weaves, cheviots and cassimeres, in a large variety of new weaves and colors, also fancy and silk mixed worsteds; every suit hand tailored throughout; most of the shops about town would ask at least one-quarter more than our price, $20

Dozens of the newest models brought out this season, shown in every new weave and pattern, in brown, tan and gray shades, made from both imported and domestic fabrics, priced at $25 and $30.

You know that our shoe department is the largest and most complete in the world retailing male footwear exclusively; guaranteed Goodyear welt shoes from $2.50 up to fine hand-made shoes at $8; your attention is called to a line of men's shoes in the newest lasts and the best leathers, priced at only $3
